Red China Rejects Talks on Viet Nam

More Favorable Reaction Not Expected From Moscow or Hanoi to Johnson Proposal

TOKYO (AP) — Red China rejected President Johnson's offer of peace talks on Viet Nam today, and North Viet Nam and the Soviet Union gave no indication that their response would be any more favorable.

Peking Radio said Johnson's speech Wednesday was "full of lies and deception." It called his offer of unconditional discussions "old stuff."

The Chinese broadcast said the object of the offer was to disarm the South Vietnamese people and force them to give up the fight against the Saigon government so the U.S. military could remain to run the country.

It said the President's proposal "clearly stated" that U.S. forces will not leave South Viet Nam and that Saigon's "puppet government must be assured of its rule."

Political Deal

Peking called Johnson's proposal to funnel $1 billion in aid into Southeast Asia "a political deal to weaken the South Vietnamese people's fight and dissolve the U.S. predicament (in Viet Nam)."

Hanoi Radio's midnight broadcast still made no mention of Johnson's offer but repeated a called for unity to defeat "U.S. aggression."

North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh said in an interview Monday with the Japanese Communist newspaper Akahata, published today, that his government stood by its demands for withdrawal of all U.S. troops from South Viet Nam and an end to U.S. bombing of the North as conditions for talks. These demands have already been rejected by the United States.

Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev accused the United States of "aggression" in Viet Nam but made no mention of Johnson's offer for talks.

CORE March In Bogalusa Ends Abruptly

Parade Split by Confusion Over Charge Man Hit

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — A Negro march on City Hall in this racially tense lumber mill town ended abruptly today in confusion and near hysteria at a downtown intersection about eight blocks after it began.

Whites clustered at the intersection said one of the official cars convoying the line of some 500 Negroes ran over a white man.

The uproar split the parade of Negroes, marching four abreast, about a third of the way down the line and stalled the march.

Asst. Police Chief L. C Terreil tried to get things moving again. When he failed, he ordered the march turned back.

It wasn't clear exactly what happened.

Whites Disputed

Terrell shouted that the car did not touch the man. This was angrily disputed by many whites in the crowd.

The man sprawled on the pavement until an ambulance took him away.

The marchers, mostly teenagers who skipped school, had started out for the City Hall to back demands for changes in the old pattern of racial segregation.

Their leaders included James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, which is assisting the Bogalusa Civil and Voters League in a registration drive.

Police Alert

City police were on extraordinary alert, backed up by state police and sheriff's deputies.

It was a steaming, summerlike morning as marchers set out.

The march started after an hour of speeches and freedom songs at a Negro union hall

The marchers had a permit from Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer.

Cutrer had appealed to a meeting of about 300 white persons to "avoid another Selma."

March Permit Is Granted at Camden

A permit for the march at Camden, Ala., was granted by the five-member Town Council and Mayor Reginald Albritton. The mayor said Thursday demonstrators hadn't asked for one before.

Knowles Declares State of Emergency

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Warren P. Knowles today declared a state of emergency in the La Crosse flood region.

An executive office spokesman said the action will empower the adjutant general's office to make available National Guard manpower and equipment when and if needed.

Three island areas on the Mississippi River near LaCrosse have been cleared of residents and the region was braced for a continued rise of the river.

Senate Okays Amendment on State Offices

Would Require Top Two Posts to Be of Same Party

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Senate has put its stamp of approval on a proposed constitutional amendment concerning the election of the two highest state officers.

In an unusual afternoon session Thursday, the Senate passed the proposal that would extend from two to four year the terms of governof and lieutenant governor and place candidates' names for the offices on the same ballot.

Similar resolutions have been introduced in the Assembly, but final action there is still pending. The Senate vote was 19-12.

The purpose of placing the names of candidates on the same ballot, as is done in voting for president and vice president, is to prevent members of opposing parties occupying the offices.

The resolutions must be approved by the Legislature in two consecutive sessions and by the voters in a statewide referendum before becoming effective.

Leo Mortensen of Elm Grove was confirmed by the Senate as a member of the State Savings and Loan Commission on a 20-11 vote.

During the morning session, Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, introduced a proposal to put the State Bureau of Engineering under control of the building commission instead of the Department of Administration.

Another new resolution, authored by Sen. Allen Busby, R-Milwaukee, would ask Congress to direct the return to the states of part of the federal income taxes collected. The funds would match state expenses for health, education and welfare programs.

Linda Darnell Hurt in Fire; Burns Serious

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP) — Actress Linda Darnell suffered extensive burns over her body today in a fire in the home of friends in Glenview, a Chicago suburb.

Miss Darnell was reported in serious condition in Skokie Valley Hospital with what fire officials described as burns over 90 per cent of her body.

Linda Darnell

Also injured was Patricia Curtiss, 16, daughter of the owner of the home in which the fire occurred; and a neighbor, David Mundhenk, 22. The girl's mother, Mrs. Richard Curtiss, 40, was treated for shock.

The daughter suffered burns on her arms Mundhenk was cut trying to aid in fighting the blaze.

Anti-Poverty Corps Sent To Menominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six members of the Domestic Anti-Poverty Corps will be assigned for a year to Wisconsin's Menominee County to develop community action programs, Sen William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Thursday.

Proxmire said the six would work with Menominee Enterprises, Inc., the business unit established to handle the tribe's lumber mill and timbering operations after the Menominees were released from federal control in 1961 and their former reservation became Wisconsin's 2nd county.

The senator noted that "one in six Menominee families have incomes of less than 1,000 per year and the average family income of $2,300 is about half the state average."

Budget Cut $1 Million

Finance Committee Battles Into Night

MADISON (AP)—Members of the Legislature's Joint Finance Committee battled and marked political lines Thursday, arguing themselves into the first night meeting of the session.

At the session, the 14-member committee, controlled by Democrats 8 to 6, boosted beyond the $1 million total the cuts made in the record $832 million budget proposed for 1965-67 by Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

The biggest cut was $600,000 in general funds trimmed from the Conservation Department spending allocation

State Parks

The committee eliminated $400,000 approved by the governor for the department for operation of state parks. The committee said an estimated $1.2 million to be raised by the department through the sale of park and forest stickers would be enough to pay maintenance bills.

Another $200,000 was cut from the governor's recommendation of $350,000 for recreational advertising. The committee said the $200,000 could be transfered to the department from segregated highway funds.

The committee also made two increases, giving the Historical Society an additional $25,000 and the State Radio Council $14,700 more. The Radio Council will use the funds to expand its five-day a week schedule to include four hours of Saturday broadcasts.

San Diego 'No Man's Land'

Robber Arms Self in Pawn Shop, Holds Off Police for Four Hours

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A wild gun battle between police and a robbery suspect barricaded in an arms-filled pawnshop turned a downtown San Diego street corner into a no-mans land of bullets, bombs and blood.

The police won. But one man was fatally shot and another dropped dead.

Hit by two shotgun blasts in a room above the pawnshop Thursday was Robert Page Anderson, 28, a convict on probation for possession of marijuana. He was in serious condition with extensive wounds in both arms and the abdomen.

800 Rounds

Police poured about 800 rounds of ammunition and numerous tear gas bombs into the pawnshop during the four-hour siege.

Two concussion grenades softened Anderson for the final police assault on his stronghold.

The battle began with a report to police of a robbery in the shop.

Theodore Sweinty, 63, a clerk in the pawnshop, said Anderson asked to see a rifle and ammunition. With both in his hands he threatened to kill the two clerks Sweinty ran upstairs where he hid under a bed during the entire fracas, he said.

But the other clerk, Louis Richards, 62, fell fatally wounded in the shop doorway.

Met By Barrage

When police arrived they were met by a barrage of gunfire from inside the store, where Anderson had armed himself with shotguns, rifles and pistols from the gun racsk.

Police called for reinforcements. Sixty-five officers surrounded the store and riddled it with rifle, shotgun and pistol fire.

Young Man Held In Train Death

FARNHAM, England (AP) — Patrick J. Jenner, 21, was charged in court today with fatally stabbing a 31-year-old married woman and throwing her from a moving train. The victim, Enid Wheeler, was found on the railroad tracks Wednesday.

Jenner, who described himself as an unemployed laborer, denied the slaying. The court ordered his return to jail pending further hearing next Thursday.

...but When a Man Bites a Dog, It's News

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — A mongrel dog was in critical condition today after being bitten by a man.

Police gave this account:

Haruichi Nishimura, 35, a newspaper vendor, was passing a yard after a few drinks when the dog barked at him.

Nishimura opened the gate, caught the dog and bit it.

The dog bit back.

Nishimura bit the dog again — and continued biting it.

The dog's owner, hearing the animal's howls, called police.

It took two police officers to pull man and dog apart.

Police reported the dog was bitten on its legs and back. The man was bitten on his face and ears.

Officials said that although the dog got the worst of the fight, they were keeping it under watch for any signs of rabies.

No charges were filed.

"We believe Nishimura already has been punished," said a police officer.

Appomattox Centennial to be Marked at Site of Signing

APPOMATTOX, Va. (AP) — The centennial of what is probably the most famous meeting of two military commanders in American history was to be commemorated here today.

At 1:30 p.m. one hundred years ago today Gen. Robert E. Lee met Gen. U.S Grant in a country parlor to surrender his Army of Northern Virginia.

Four years of bloody conflict divided the nation and killed 617,000 Americans — more than the combined deaths in all other wars the United States has fought.

The commemoration was scheduled in front of the recently constructed courthouse, a reproduction of the original structure that burned in 1892

The courthouse and the McLean house, where the surrender took place, are in the Appomattox Court House National Historical Park.

The McLean house is also a reproduction. The original was dismantled for a world's fair about 75 years ago, but was left in a pile of rubble About one brick in 13 is from the original house owned by Wilmer McLean.

Klan Started as Prank Of Restless Youth Back From Civil War Battle

PULASKI, Tenn. (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan, recalls the nephew of its first grand dragon, "all started as a prank by some fun-loving, restless young bachelors home from the war."

Joe Tom Kennedy, 78, a farmer who lives near this southern Tennessee community, said fear turned it into an instrument of terror: fear of domination by conquering Yankees and recently freed Negroes after the Civil War.

But nobody knows how his uncle, John Booker Kennedy, would feel if he saw the KKK today — and heard it denounced by President Johnson and accused in a slaying in Alabama and a shooting incident in Louisiana.

Never Talked

Uncle John, said Joe Tom, never talked about the Klan.

"I remember when it was uncomfortable for him to get out of bed, when he was near the end of the road," says Joe Tom "I suggested it might be time for him to tell me about the Reconstruction days.

"He looked at me a couple of minutes and said, 'If you think you're going to get that out of me, you better change your mind.' Those were the last words he said to me."

Uncle John and his young friends, released from the Confederate army 100 years ago today when Gen. Robert E Le surrendered at Appomattox to Gen Ulysses S Grant, founded the Klan in Pulaski on Christmas Eve, 1865

Secret Society

A television repair shop now occupies the building where the six sat before a roaring fire and decided to insure their lasting friendship with a secret society. Such names as "The Jolly Six" and "The Secret Circle" were rejected Kennedy, who had studied Greek, suggested "Ruklos" — the Greek word for circle.

"Klan" was added as a poetic substitute for club, and the combination was kicked around until it became the Ku Klux Klan.

Originally, the six dressed in white robes, galloped through the town on horseback, and laughed as they scared the daylights out of the populace

Among the most terrified were superstitious former slaves

Generals Leaders

By 1867, Confederate Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest became its leader — and six Confederate generals became Klansmen.

But things got out of hand, and by 1869, Forrst announced hte Klan "had served its purpose" and ordered Klansmen everywhere to burn their uniforms.

Reborn in Atlanta in 1915, the new KKK was directed during the 20s mostly against nonwhites, Jews, Roman Catholics and "foreigners."

During World War II, the organization virtually disappeared — and its current revival stems from the 1954 Supreme Court ruling against school segregation.

Labor Says Bills Attempt to Run State's Unions

MADISON (AP)—Labor union leaders have sharply criticized two pieces of what one spokesman called "punitive legislation" sponsored by Assemb man Nile Soik, R-Milwaukee.

Public hearings on the two bills were held Thursday before the Assembly Labor Committee.

John Heidenreich of Milwaukee, director of District 10 of the International Association of Machinists, said the proposals were "cleverly designed smokescreens for what is to come next in the bills."

"The rest is punitive legislation which is an attempt to run our unions," he said

The proposals would make it illegal to restrict union membership because of race, color, religion or national origin, to penalize members for exercising any civil right, or to use dues for political purposes other than lobbying

Soik said dues should not be used for "political purposes if individual members do not agree with union stands." Individuals should have the freedom to "allocate funds as they see fit," he said

KIMBERLY — A style show with a little bit of everything was presented at Kimberly High School Tuesday evening.

A Range of Styles

Coats, party dresses and sportswear was presented by members of the Vocational School classes for the Homemaker Club and Faculty Wives Club. Modeled were 36 sewing projects and 15 knitting projects.

A display of knitting and upholstery was also shown.

Instructors assisting with arrangements were Mrs. Ambrose Couillard, sewing; Mrs. Holly Stibs, knitting, and Mrs. Jack Verbeten, upholstery.

Preparing to Model their new outfits are Deborah Bogenschutz and Carol Stumpf.

SEAMS TO ME
By Patricia Scott

Beginners' Sewing

For those of you just learning sew, whether you're 10 or 60. re are a few basic details you ould master. They're things u come across day in and day and you should be able to them without any effort.

Scott

Mend Three-Cornered Tear: is is done with a small patch all fabrics except wool, which ust be darned. Trim the tear, tting off jagged raw edges and ipping a V about ¼ inch deep each corner (Fig. 2). Cut a tch the same shape; turn un- r the raw edges of tear slight- . a little past each corner and ease or press. Be careful not stretch the fabric. Slide a ece of fabric under the tear til the design and grain match rfectly. Trim this patch one ch larger all around than the tual tear. Baste the patch in ace. From the right side of e fabric, with very fine tches, securely hem the cor- rs. Let the stitches catch in e very edge of the crease. rn to wrong side; turn patch ges under ¼ inch and snip the corners to avoid lumps. ste and hem with stitches so y they can't be seen on the ht side (Fig. 3).

Sew-Through Buttons With 2 or Holes: Using heavy thread, e a stitch on right side of garment so knot in the thread is hidden under button. Bring needle through button and back into fabric. Place a pin on top of the button, sliding it under the stitch (see illustration). After you have taken 4 or 5 stitches hrough each hole, remove pin and wind thread tightly around the stitches to form a shank, as shown. This will keep fabric from puckering at the buttonhole. Fasten thread securely under button.

Snap Fasteners: Place socket part of snap on the underside of the closing and the ball part on the overlap. Sew over and over in each hole. As you move from one hole to the other, be sure to bring thread under the nap, not over and across. Fasten thread securely. Never let stitches show on right side of garment.

Hems: Always use blind-hemming on garments. Take a tiny stitch catching only one thread of the fabric just under the fold and bring needle through fold edge. Stitches should be slightly slanted (see blind-hemming diagram).

Seam Taped Hem: Stitch seam tape to hem ¼ inch from raw edge. Blind-hem tape to garment.

Plain Hem With Edge Turned Under: There are two ways to doing this. The first is to fold the raw edge under ¼ inch and press. Then turn up hem and blind-hem in place. The second is to turn raw edge under ¼ inch and edge-stitch by machine Then turn up hem and blind-hem in place. The last method is the best when not using seam tape, especially if the garment is washable.

Today's Etiquette

OFFICE FAMILIARITY

Dear Louise: Would you please comment in your column as to how one should address an employer and other superior bosses? I have begun to work as a secretary and a few of the women persist in referring to our boss and the others as close friends, all by their first names.

Miss Davis

This must be wrong and I know that the men dislike it. Socially, the executives in charge of various departments have nothing to do with us and that is as it should be. The wife of one boss refers to herself when she phones as "Mrs. So and So. May I please speak with Mr. So and So (her husband)?" the secretary who answers will say "Just a minute, Marie, and I'll get him." Afterwards, this secretary will remark, "Baloney, she's Marie to me." Yet we only know these wives by sight, sometimes waving at them. Maybe some of your comments will help to remedy some of these things.

Louise Davis Answers:

Any employee, whether man or woman, is very foolish and out of order to call the boss by his first name unless specifically asked by him to do so or unless they went up the executive ladder together as office comrades. When the boss' wife telephones and refers to herself as Mrs. So and So, she is telling the secretary that she is not Marie even if the employe has the erroneous idea that Mrs. So and So is 'uppity'. The girl shouldn't even need a clue or a cue but should automatically think of her as Mrs. Smith and the husband as Mr. Smith, not Marie and Jim. And that's no baloney.

The Ailing House

Nails Make Rust Spots In Siding

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I plan to repaint the house when the weather gets warm enough. There are some rust spots around some of the siding nails. Do these need any treatment before repainting?

A: Yes. Slightly countersink the nails. Then touch up the heads with a rust-inhibitive paint or shellac. Cover with putty, smoothing down to the siding. Then paint to match rest of house, when repainting.

Q: How can I remove several spots of tallow from candles on a mahogany top table?

A: With a dull knife blade, carefully scrape off as much of the solid deposit as possible. Then place a white blotter over the balance and run a warm iron over it, being careful not to allow the heat to remain too long. The heat will melt the residue and the blotter absorb it. Wipe off any stubborn residue with liquid spot remover.

Q: I have rubber tile floors in kitchen and bathroom. These have several water stains or spots. How can I remove these? What kind of wax should be used on rubber tile?

A: Clean entire floor surface with hot water and mild detergent or mild soap. Rinse thoroughly with clear water to remove all trace of the cleaning solution. Otherwise wax will become smeary and is more likely to water-spot or discolor. Use only water-base or self-polishing wax on rubber tile.

Q: On an enameled steel shower stall that has just been installed I have tried to remove the labels. I removed the outside coating, but can't remove the glue.

A: Try sponging it off by soaking with hot water Or use naphtha, being very careful of the fire hazard.

Q: During a recent rain and thaw, I had a considerable amount of water seeping through the walls of my basement. This generally occurred where the walls and floor meet, and on all four sides. The basement is poured concrete and is approximately 35 years old. How can I remedy this?

A: There may have been a change recently in the water table in the area around your house. This should be carefully checked. The water pressure may have increased. Applying an epoxy concrete sealer to the surfaces below grade, and to make a tighter wall-floor joint, would be the easiest remedy. Available masonry supplies and large hardware stores.

Q: Where can I obtain plans for construction of a dry well to drain water from the washing machine? I find that discharge from the washer interferes with normal performance of the cesspool.

A: Publication No. HH 1.18:5, "Septic Tank Soil Absorption Systems for Dwellings," is available for 25 cents (no stamps) from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. This contains a diagram and instructions of what you are looking for.

Q: How can I remove dull lamp marks from a shiny leathertop table?

A: Try wiping the marks with a cream, clean-up wax made by a nationally known manufacturer and available at supermarkets, housewares, hardware and variety stores. Sometimes buffing the affected area with a soft Turkish towel is successful in removing this type of mark. Or rub gently with finely powdered rottenstone and a light machine oil.

Sense of Humor Helps in Dealing With the Teen-Ager

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: Tell me what type of discipline is best for a 14-year-old boy. I usually take away his roller skating on Friday night. But he's a big problem to us. He's immature and thoughtless and when we try to get him to correct this, all we get is arguments and he says, "Don't yell at me," even when we're talking in an ordinary voice. What's the best way to get along with a teenager like this?

DEAR MRS. S.J.: Try to keep a sense of humor—teen-agers take themselves terribly seriously and it's easy to get caught up in their sense of importance even about trivial matters. Make certain you're truly talking at ordinary volume and not harping on the same subject. Then, if your son tells you to stop yelling, try to manage a smile and say, "Oh, stop being rude. You know perfectly well I'm not yelling. So stop being silly and stop trying to scare me. Instead, how about doing what you're supposed to be doing so we don't have to have any more argument about it."

Depriving him of fun on Fridays is no way to teach him to be responsible on the other days. That just makes him feel justified in hating and fighting you.

Instead, make certain he does what he's supposed to do before he relaxes for the evening and don't let him have much opportunity to get into trouble. You'll find it easier to deal with him if you remind yourself that you do love him and he isn't all bad. Disapproval can be felt and it won't inspire him to do his best, either.

DEAR DR. JONES: I want my 15-year-old son to respect womanhood and I teach him that he must treat all women the way he treats me and his younger sister. But my husband says boys have different standards and that I'll turn our son into a sissy this way. What else can I tell our son, though?

DEAR MRS. M.L.: Do you really think the old double standard should be perpetuated? Many of us think it's time men gave up such an adolescent viewpoint about sex and love being separate and sexy women being unworthy of love. If you agree, go right on teaching your son your views.

A Lovelier You

Bicycling for Health

A lovely writes: I am the mother of teen-agers. I haven't exercised for years. And I need to reduce. Biking, I thought, would be a fun way to do it. But my family says that I am too old to take up biking. My daughter thinks it wouldn't reduce me in any case. Please tell me what you think.

The Answer—and it's not mine but comes from the famed heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White, via this quote: "If I had my way, I'd put everybody on a bike—as a regular routine."

Naturally, when you are unaccustomed to exercise you must take it in moderation at the start and then gradually increase your stamina. In that respect, biking is ideal for it sets no speed or goal. No game to win, no finish line to cross!

Strictly from a reducer's viewpoint, the sport has distinct advantages. It slims the hips and legs. It limbers the whole body. It improves balance and co-ordination. And it can burn off up to 500 calories an hour. All of which add up to a more perfect figure.

There are still other benefits. Biking gets you out in the air and so starts your circulation to coursing and puts an end to the cobwebs of tension. "Thinking you are too old to ride a bike is ridiculous," says Dr. White. And that goes whether you are teen-age or no-telling. Besides, biking is fun!

Weep no more about excess weight! You can lose without hunger pangs, fatigue and flabby aftermaths. Just send for Lose Without Blues—a 16 page booklet that gives delicious menus, easy spot-reducing exercise, dieting tricks, your model weight and how to maintain it. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

It makes your house look bigger.

Cars are getting to be bigger, so houses are getting to look smaller.

But one little Volkswagen can put everything back in its proper perspective.

A VW parked in front does big things for your house. And your garage. To say nothing of small parking spots and narrow roads.

On the other hand, a VW does make some things smaller.

Gas bills, for instance. (At 32 mpg, they'll probably be half what you pay now.)

You'll probably never add oil between changes. You'll certainly never need anti-freeze. Tires go 40,000 miles. And even insurance costs less.

One thing you'd think might be smaller in a Volkswagen is the inside.

But there's as much legroom in front of a VW as in the biggest cars.

When you think about it, you really have only two choices:

You can buy a bigger house for who-knows-how-much.

Your Problems

Talk of Wills, Funerals Not Appropriate at Death-Bed

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope you will not consider this letter too morbid or indelicate for your column.

Is it true when a person dies his hearing is the last of his senses to go? And is it true that even though a person is in a deep comma, unable to move or talk, he can still hear everything that is being said?

Recently a relative passed away. It made me very uncomfortable to be at the bedside while the funeral arrangements were being made, along with the conversation relating to his finances and speculation about his will. It must be horrible for a dying person to hear such matters discussed by well-meaning folks who mistakenly believe he is too far gone to know anything. Will you print this please? — Respect Wanted For All

Dear All: It is not what a person hears, but what he comprehends that counts.

A patient may respond to light and touch and sound but these responses are automatic and do not indicate that the brain is translating anything.

If the doctor says the patient is in a coma, it is safe to assume there is no comprehension. Since patients do slip in and out of a comatose state, however, it is best not to discuss funerals, wills and other matters at the bedside.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I liked your response to the postman's wife whose husband was not appreciated by the people on his route when he performed the extra courtesies, such as paying the postage due out of his own pocket and collecting later — maybe.

We in Anchorage, Alaska, have expressed, both privately and publicly, our gratitude to our postal carriers and we'd like to share with you and your readers the story of their heroism and generosity.

In March of 1964 we had some terrifying earthquakes. Virtually all lines of communication were destroyed, but the mail went through. The first news our families received that we were alive reached them by mail. A special delivery letter arrived at our home two days after the earthquake. It was an invitation from relatives offering a place to live if we needed it.

Our road was gone and many houses on our block were destroyed, but the postman brought the mail. His home was damaged, too. He had no heat or water, but he was on the job.

We have let our postmen know how much we appreciate them, but it would be very generous of you to print a word or two under "confidential" in your column. Will you? — Alaskan Sourdough

Dear Al: I'd rather do more than that, so I'm printing your letter — every word of it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After exchanging Christmas gifts for several years I am very hurt because a friend accepted my gift, thanked me profusely and made no mention that she did not intend to reciprocate as usual. (Finances were not a factor here.)

I believe she should have told me several weeks before Christmas that she no longer wished to exchange gifts. I would not then have bought her a gift and could have spent a similar amount on an orphan or someone who might not receive much at Christmas time. Do you agree? — Post-Holiday Gripe

Dear Post: I doubt that you would have felt more kindly toward the woman had she telephoned and said she wished to put an end to the gift giving.

It's always difficult to terminate a practice which has become traditional. However, it sounds as if this friendship was dangling by a thread — gift or no gift.

What Woman, in Her Right Mind, would be without the season's latest style whim — the fashion stick? Designed by a man, it can be used for promenading down the avenue, beating angrily on closed bus doors, subduing muggers or winning space on a jammed dance floor. Hunt up grandpa's old bamboo cane and use as is or cover with either genuine or simulated leopard skin. Or you might use a fancy fabric to match a 'best loved outfit.'

Absurd, Costly, But Fun!

BY JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — They're absurd, expensive and, unless you're trying to maul a mugger, useless.

Even the man who dreamed them up breaks out in helpless laughter when he talks about them.

Naturally, then, the inexplicable world of fashion has taken them to its capacious bosom. Fashion sticks are well on their way to being the most chic accessories to make the summer scene.

They'll be the Hula hoop of fashion, a Fifth Avenue store buyer says enthusiastically, as show windows up and down the avenue sprout sticks.

Lunacy

The sticks are nothing but the old fashioned cane—in bamboo or covered in fantastic fabrics, suedes, animal or reptile skins. They start at a rock bottom $35 and the alligator number with sterling silver handles not out yet, will bring at least $200-$300.

Sheer lunacy,' chortles Thor Arngrim, their originator.

Arngrim, an actor and producer with a puckish imagination, says he got the idea at the beach one summer. He and his wife, actress Norma MacMillan, and their two children were intrigued by a gypsy-type girl who used to stalk the sands with a big walking stick. 'It was far out, but at the same time very chic," recalls Arngrim.

He got together with painter-muralist Bill Goldsmith who designed the sticks. An umbrella company saw the possibilities, and they were in business.

The buyers who crowd their showroom these days convulse Arngrim. "They say 'What do they do?' and I say 'Nothing' and they exclaim 'Oh, marvelous.' I suppose if the sticks opened up and did things the buyers would go away."

Designer Liked

Bill Blass, award winning designer, who showed the sticks with his summer collection, says: 'They go well with my summer suits. They're very attractive. The young like them, they're no longer associated with the elderly and feeble."

He adds with elegant restraint: They have a certain cachet.' They have a distinctive personality, all right. A polka dot walking stick held with insouciance while dancing at a discotheque, will not be overlooked.

With the feminine look in vogue this year, it's possible the well dressed woman will act lady-like, walk softly and carry a stick.

Friends Can Be Better Than Money

Today's college students learn that it's better to have friends than to have money in the bank. This isn't in any book, the students have to find it out for themselves when they play in Bridge Tournament.

West leads his high hearts, and South ruffs the second round. Then South goes down ingloriously if he worries about such things as high trumps — the bridge equivalent of money in the bank.

The overcautious South leads a trump to dummy's queen, cashes the ace of diamonds, and returns to his hand by ruffing another heart. Then he draws trumps, but has to run himself out of trumps in the process. When South gives up a diamond trick, he can never get back to his own hand. Down two.

Best Friend

The right sort of college student knows that diamonds are a feller's best friend. It's better to be loaded with diamonds than to have money in the bank (or high trumps).

After ruffing the second round of hearts, South must lead a diamond to dummy's ace and overtake the queen of spades with the king. South continues with the ace and jack of spades, setting up West's ten.

South then knocks out the king of diamonds. Declarer still has two trumps, so is not worried about any return. When East returns a heart, South ruffs and still has a trump to keep control. He leads out his good diamonds, and West can take the high trump whenever he likes. South will then take the rest, losing only one heart, one diamond, and one trump.

Voting Rights Main GOP Caucus Topic

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Voting rights, "exclusivity" of party membership and Gov. Warren Knowles' 1965-67 budget were main discussion topics here Thursday at the Eighth District Republican caucus which saw John Conway, Appleton, elected to his first full term as district party chairman.

During the session in the Hotel Northland, Mrs. R. A. Stearns, Sturgeon Bay, was named vice clairman, Stephen Bur, Green Bay, was named secretary, and Gus Zuehlke,

Conway

Zuehlke

Appleton, was elected treasurer.

A squabble on voting rights legislation developed because delegates disagreed on wording in a resolution. It took 30 minutes, but the resolution eventually was adopted

Routine Resolution

The resolution, routinely presented by Donald Neverman, Marinette, chairman of the resolutions committee which met in the afternoon, ran into difficulty because of references to "violence."

Fred Penrod, Green Bay, said the language on violence was difficult to understand and delegates should have had a printed copy. After a divided voice vote, the resolution was sent back to committee by a show of hands vote.

Leo O'Brien, former state senator from Green Bay, said the action fell within the recent criticism of the Republican Party by Leonard Hall, past national chairman.

O'Brien noted Hall said the reason Republicans lose elections is that their membership is "Anglo-Saxon and an exclusive club.

Ethnic Groups

"We have to broaden our base and appeal to ethnic groups. This resolution is too important to table and send back to the committee," he said.

"We certainly are going to look silly not passing a civil rights resolution," agreed an Outagamie County delegate,

Seek Recount In 15th Ward Alderman Vote

Richard Kohlbeck Was 2-Vote Loser in Four Way Contest

A recount was imminent today as the outcome of Tuesday's 15th Ward aldermanic race hung in the balance by two votes.

William F. Errington, 1807 E. Glendale Ave., was declared the victor in the four-way contest, defeating runnerup Richard Kohlbeck, 1400 E Byrd St.

Errington's margin of victory was 258 to 256 votes.

Petition Clerk

Kohlbeck, a finance manager, confirmed a report shortly after noon that he obtained the services of an attorney and would petition the city clerk for a recount.

City Clerk Elden Broehm was reportedly informed the petition would be forthcoming later in the day.

The two other candidates running for aldermen in the ward, Mrs Betty Milheiser and Joseph E Glasheen, received 89 and 19 votes respectively.

Broehm to Direct

Broehm, who under the statute is supervisor of elections, will direct the recount.

Included in the total vote cast in the 15th Ward were five absentee ballots, all of them for Errington.

The deadline for requesting a recount in any of the wards is 5 p m. Saturday. In three other common council races, the outcome was decided by margins ranging from 12 to 16 votes

Six new aldermen elected Tuesday will be formally seated on the council at the reorganization meeting April 21.

Aldermen are part-time and receive $1,200 a year

Democrats Hear Rights Aide on Legislation

Alan J. Dale Says Situation Still Not Ideal Despite Past State Enactments

"The first bill passed by the Wisconsin Legislature dealing with Civil Rights was in 1895," Alan J. Dale, administrative assistant to the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, told Outagamie County Democrats Thursday night.

"Because of the strength of that bill, the federal Civil Rights Bill passed last year had no appreciable effect on Wisconsin," he said

Despite the success of past legislation, the situation on Civil Rights is still not ideal in Wisconsin, he cautioned. "Currently, there is state-wide emphasis on fair housing and the policy of the state has to be stated" he said

Dale, a member of the Beloit chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, strongly endorsed the Senate Fair Housing Bill. The bill, requested by the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, would make it the policy of the state that all persons shall have an equal opportunity for housing, he said.

Against Policy

The practice of discrimination in housing because of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry would be declared to be against the public policy, if Senate Bill 310 were passed, he explained.

"Write to the governor, state senators and assemblymen", Dale urged the county Democrats, and send a carbon copy of the letters to the Wisconsin Coordinating Committee on Fair Housing.

"There is ample reason today to see the fallacy of denying some the right to rent, buy or earn what he wants," he stated "It is only an extension of the brutality of Selma if you deny a man a job to earn food for his family," Dale emphasized. In the matter of housing, he claimed that compelling a Negro to live in shanties or rat infested houses is no worse than to ride at them on horseback, as they did in Selma.

Luther League From 1st English Church To Visit in Gary

Advice From Alderman

Council Told to Tackle Air Pollution Problem

A southeast side alderman says the time has come for Appleton and other communities in the area to tackle air pollution problems.

As a result, Ald. John Ayers (12th) has introduced resolutions in the city council calling for:

—Preparation and adoption of an air pollution code or ordinance for the City of Appleton.

—Formation of a Fox Cities air pollution board which would enable the area to receive federal grants to get at the heart of the problem

Talk of Ordinance

"There has been talk of having an ordinance for Appleton over the years but none has never been drawn up," Ayers said today.

He said there has been an air pollution problem created by an industry in the 12th Ward south of the College Avenue bridge.

"However, the time has come now to do something about getting an ordinance," Ayers said.

Ayers said he talked to Mayor Clarence Mitchell about a proposed air pollution ordinance and the latter agreed the board of health should be the moving party "to get something going." Both serve on the board.

Portland Plan

Accompanying his resolution was the copy of a model air pollution ordinance adopted in Portland, Ore., and recognized nationally.

Ayers explained that in preparing any ordinance, or forming a board, representatives of industry would be asked to participate. "We definitely will need their views and assistance because this would be a cooperative venture," Ayers declared.

He recalled that Green Bay, picked this week as an All-American city, was lauded for the work it has done in the past few years in combatting air pollution.

English Architect Keynoter

Lawrence Symposium On Community Plans To Feature Experts

The Lawrence University Symposium on community planning, Saturday, will feature two speakers both experts in university and city planning.

The keynote speaker is Benjamin Polk of New York City Polk has an unusual architectural background. After holding positions in various California architecture firms, he spent two years, from 1950 to 1952, doing research in town and regional planning in England and on the continent of Europe.

In 1952 he took a position in architectural and planning practice as principal of a firm which serves India, Burma, Pakistan, and Nepal, later forming his own firm of Chatterjee and Polk and becoming the partner in charge of architectural design.

King's Palace

Some of his designs have included Utkal University, Orissa, the Times of India Office and Press Building, New Delhi, a town plan for the new town of Tensa, Orissa, a theatre for dance and music, Calcutta, and the Government House and Palace for the King of Nepal.

Polk returned to the United States in 1963 and is now in private practice in New York. His articles include "Town Planning and Architecture," and "The Shape of the Year 2000." He has written a book, "Architecture and the Spirit of the Place," published in 1959.

Polk's work is "designed in the belief that functional utility and fine appearance are united; that matters of climactic adaptation, of safety, and of efficient organization turn out also to be matters of beauty and structural logic. Architecture then can be founded solidly on the magnificant development of engineering structure evolving from the spiritual requirements of modern man."

Town Planning

Polk is a member of the American Institute of Architects and an associate member of the Town Planning Institute, England.

The other guest speaker, Thomas Van Housen of St. Paul, is a former Appleton resident and an alumnus of Lawrence University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Van Housen, 1401 W. Reed Drive, Appleton. His major interests are site and urban planning and master site planning and research. He has provided the central business district study for downtown St. Paul, the master site plan for Notre Dame University, and is the supervisor of all construction for Macalaster College, St. Paul.

He is a member of the firm of Progressive Design Associates, St. Paul, and will speak to the first of the afternoon seminars on problems of college and university planning.

The symposium will open with the keynote speech at 10:40 a.m. in the University Chapel, move to Youngchild Hall of Science, room 161, for two seminars at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. on university and city planning, and conclude with a short panel discussion and question period at 7 p.m.

Robert Hall Store Planned For W. College Retail Area

Two Acre Plot Picked From 15 Fox Cities Sites; Outlet Fourth in State

Plans have been finalized for construction of a new retail store—Robert Hall Clothes, Inc. —on the rapidly growing commercial strip along West College Avenue in the Town of Grand Chute.

Confirmation was obtained today from a representative of the parent organization, United Merchants and Manufacturers, Inc., of New York.

Robert Hall Clothes has stores in major cities throughout the United States and abroad. The firm is one of 14 divisions of United Merchants and Manufacturers.

Clothing Lines

In Wisconsin, Robert Hall Clothes stores—carrying lines of clothing for men, women and children—already are located in Milwaukee, Madison and Green Bay.

The location of the store here will be on a two-acre site on the south side of College Avenue between the viaduct and U.S. 41 where extensive commercial building projects are underway.

The new store will serve the Fox Cities and other communities within a 30 to 40-mile radius. Company officials indicated they were enthusastic about the retail trade potential in the region.

Prange Store

Across the street from where the new store is to be located, construction is now underway by the H. C. Prange Co. on a budget discount store. Also adding to the retail complex to the west is Treasure Island.

The Garvey Agency of Appleton handled the real estate transaction for the Robert Hall development which will be located on a 200 by 400 foot tract. Land negotiations were consummated earlier in the week.

A building permit has been issued the firm's general contractor by Robert Van Handel, Town of Grand Chute building inspector.

15 Sites

Representing Robert Hall Clothes, Inc., which considered 15 different sites in the Fox Cities, were Attys. William J. Steckler and John Marcin of New York.

The area on W. College Avenue was staked out Thursday and excavation is underway. A company spokesman said it was hoped to have the store finished and in operation by fall. He said the firm would have a complete announcement on its new Fox Cities store sometime next week.

Robert Hall Clothes, Inc., nationally have an estimated 400 stores.

Lion, Rotary Club Bowling Match Set

KAUKAUNA — The annual Rotary-Lions Club kegling match will be held at 9 p.m. tonight at the Bowling Bar, with losing service club to entertain the winners.

Plans call for each club to have three teams, although additional bowlers may join depending on the number indicating interest. The clubs meet annually for a bowling and golfing match.

Residents of 7th Ward Will Ask for Hearing

Request for More Railway Trackage Draws Opposition

A group of 7th Ward residents plans to petition the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) for a hearing on whether the Chicago North Western Railway Co. should be granted additional trackage at the southwestern edge of the city.

Earlier in the week the council gave approval for two additional tracks across Perkins Street, providing state statute and PSC rules are complied with by the railroad.

The North Western also intends to add six other track lines in the area leading to Appleton Junction for a switching and car storage yard.

Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th) arranged a meeting Thursday night of ward residents and L G Tieman, Green Bay, district engineer for the North Western. In addition to 25 residents, Ald.-Elect John Mac Donald also attended

Tieman explained the railroad's plans to expand along its own right-of-way and indicated there was no alternate plan possible.

Seventh Ward residents are concerned with the railroad's plans because the proposed new trackage abuts residential areas and they fear a sharp increase in noise and traffic because of switching activities.

Mrs. Stillings said today she was having the petition prepared for the ward residents.

New Appleton Aldermen Told

City Council Faces Major Decisions

The year 1965 will be one of major decision for the Appleton City Council.

With six new aldermen taking office April 21, the council during the coming months will be faced with:

—A decision as to whether Appleton will go to Lake Michigan or Lake Winnebago for a long-range, quality water supply.

—Okaying the design of the proposed new College Avenue and giving the project the go-ahead.

—Constructing a new municipal garage.

—Assisting some local industries with expansion and relocation plans.

—Working out a satisfactory municipal personnel program, including an updated pay plan.

—Major and orderly annexations.

—Financing major school construction which could cost from $4 to $5 million.

While not identifying the projects, four members of the council who will be retiring from their positions later this month indicated the groundwork has been laid for the decisions to be made.

Alds Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th), E. V. Krueger (11th), Kenneth Loos (3rd) and Al C. Fischer (15th) told their colleagues that serving on the council had been a rewarding experience.

Krueger, chairman of the personnel committee and a school commissioner before he became an alderman, said he was grateful to have had the opportunity to serve the community in an official capacity.

"I cannot overemphasize to the new council the urgescy for hiring a personnel director for Appleton as soon as possible," Krueger declared.

Krueger said it was more than apparent that Appleton needed a personnel expert to deal directly with problems and duties involved with more than 400 employes on the municipal payroll.

"The old council has accomplished many things and I am confident the new will do the same," Krueger said.

Loos, who served as council president the past year, welcomed the six new aldermen to the council and said he had no doubt their effort would be sincere

"Much has been accomplished in the past through the cooperation of the mayor, council, department heads and others in the community," Loos declared. "I am sure this atmosphere will continue."

Loos singled out Mayor Clarence Mitchell as "one of Appleton's outstanding mayors — an outstanding coach." He urged a continued all-out effort to keep Appleton the No. 1 city in the Fox Valley.

Employes Praised

He also had praise for municipal employes, declaring, "I want the people of Appleton to know that we do have capable people serving in their government."

Mrs Stillings thanked fellow aldermen for their cooperative efforts over the years. She said her 13 years on the council had been a "very rewarding experience," and that Appleton's municipal government accomplished a great deal

The many good things accomplished by this council are particularly of personal reward," Mrs. Stillings said "However, there is still much to be done."

Fischer, a controversial figure during his two-year stint on the council, said while he stood alone on many issues, he had strong feelings on them.

"Serving on the council has been rewarding," Fischer said, "and I can say that I was not a rubber stamp."

Fischer said he submitted several resolutions which were not processed yet by committees and hoped that some good would eventually come out of them.

Population Explosion

Professor Queries Existence of Problem

Considerable doubt about the existence of a population explosion problem was expressed by Dr. Harold K. Schneider, speaker at Thursday's "Great Decisions" luncheon meeting at Lawrence University.

Schneider, associate professor and chairman of the Lawrence anthropology department, spoke to 30 persons at the last of the eight weekly discussion meetings on "The Population Boom — Can It Be Controlled?"

Schneider took issue with the Foreign Policy Association's title for the population topic, saying that it presupposed that a real crisis exists.

He said "there is some doubt about whether there is a problem," and asserted that the often-cited figure of 2 per cent world growth per year "can hardly be called explosive."

Mitigating Factors

He suggested that this figure was subject to a number of mitigating factors such as prevailing cultural attitudes and available resources. These have historically acted as controls upon population, and would presumably continue to do so, he said.

Moreover, he believed that interpretations of population figures and trends were often misleading.

He said the picture we

Post 10 More County Trunks Effective Today

The spring breakup has caused the posting of weight restrictions on 10 county trunk highways in addition to those listed earlier, Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County Highway commissioner, announced today. Restrictions effective immediately limit loads to six tons per axle. 10 tons on any two axles less than 8 feet apart. Other roads may be posted later if weather conditions or traffic warrant.

Included in today's list are all of County Trunks FF, MM, T, VV and Y. In addition, also posted are F from State 76 to State 187, J from County E to County S, G from State 47 to County Y, S from County A to State 76 to X from County G to the Shawano County line.

Seek Federal Funds To Buy Park Land

Bubolz Says at Weyauwega That Recreation Sites May be Lost

WEYAUWEGA — Urgently needed and desirable scenic, open space, exceptional topographic features and water-oriented recreation sites located in many of the communities and urban areas of our state will be lost unless local governments are given the opportunity to share in federal land and water conservation funds on a matching basis, Gordon A Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, stated at a joint meeting of the Weyauwega and Fremont Chambers of Commerce Monday at Hotel Weyauwega.

Bubolz said many of the more urban counties as well as those having a smaller population have contributed very substantially through federal taxation and cigarette tax monies and have received little or no direct benefits from such funds for natural resource preservation. "A number of urban counties have paid in as much as $350,000 in a four-year period on the one-cent cigarette tax but have received little or no financial help for the procurement of critical areas," he commented. "Their requests have been consistently ignored or set aside." Because of this, Bubolz stated, the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission proposed Joint Resolution 29-S which, if adopted by the Legislature, "will establish state policy to give strong emphasis in the allocation of funds to the communities having desirable scenic and recreation sites."

Opposition Seen

At a public hearing, the conservation department, in essence, opposed the adoption of Joint Resolution 29-S, which Bubolz feels is evidence of a continuation of its policy to favor the acquisition and development of the larger tracts in the more remote areas, disregarding the local community needs as well as the sentiment of the public.

At a conference to consider this problem with department representatives last Monday, Bubolz said it was evident that a conflict exists with regard to the allocation of federal land and water monies. On the one hand, he said, the conservation department has authority to administer the federal land and water funds; on the other, it is competing with the local units of government for these same funds.

Bubolz said the conservation department has proposed an ad hoc committee selected by them to formulate a state recreation policy. The committee proposed by the department will be comprised dominantly of organizations and individuals which in the past have favored big state projects and have indicated little concern for smaller, highly desirable tracts in the localities, Bubolz said.

This matter must be resolved and determined by the legislature, and certainly the League of Municipalities and other grass roots organizations representing the broad cross-section interests of the public should be included on any such policy making committee, he emphasized.

Fox Valley Youngsters will have the chance to see a play written just for them when the Milwaukee Pick-a-Pack Players present "The Three Bears" at Stansbury Theater Saturday. There will be two performances of the Charlotte Chorpenning play, at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. in the Lawrence Music-Drama Center Theater.

Plans Listed For Student Council Session

District 11 Meeting To be Saturday at Neenah High School

NEENAH — Final preparations for the District II student council conference Saturday at Neenah High School are being made by committees from Horace Mann Junior High School Student Council and Neenah High School Student Council members.

Les Vallow is chairman of general arrangements: Rick Suechting and JoAnn Arpin are committeemen. Steve Hetzel heads a committee on table decorations, and Ralph Bunke and Vicky Peterson work with him. Table decorations are being planned by Keith Rudolf's committee assisted by the Eighth Grade Art Club under the direction of Miss Donna Stark, advisor. These student council members are from the Horace Mann Junior High School.

NHS Committees

Members of the NHS conference committees, include Mike Boyd chairman of the program committee; Rex Loker, entertainment; Wendy Whitlinger, Packet; Pete Kuehl, luncheon; Kathy Jones, John Quay, Jan Cook and John Lautenschlager, registration.

George Walter, dean of the school of education, Lawrence University, will be the keynote speaker at the conference which will be attended by council delegates from high schools in a 14-county wide area.

There will be 12 discussion topics for senior high school delegates and two topics for junior high school council delegates. Five problem clinics will be conducted under adult leadership.

AAL Donates $1,250 To UW for Science Program, Fellowships

A gift of $1,250 from the Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton, was among the $4,434,948.84 in gifts and grants accepted by the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents at its Milwaukee meeting Friday.

The gift is to be used during 1964-5 to improve the university's educational program in risk, insurance and actuarial science and to include graduate fellowships, undergraduate scholarships, research, additions to the School of Commerce Insurance Library, lectureships, faculty travel, field trips, printing, postage, and similar items.

At least 80 per cent of the gift will be allocated to graduate fellowships and up to 20 per cent will be used for the purpose of research, support, and similar items.

Wind Ensemble Presentation

Xavier's Vocal, Instrumental Program Polished, Versatile

BY MRS. PAUL HOLLINGER

A varied program performed by two instrumental and three vocal groups was presented Thursday evening at Lawrence Memorial Chapel. "Music for Worship and Culture" was highlighted by the Xavier High School wind ensemble, a 79-member organization which will play in Philadelphia later this month, for the National Catholic Music Educators Association.

The wind ensemble, a polished and versatile group, demonstrated ability and ease in a wide range of compositions. Outstanding were the "Festive Overture" by Alfred Reed, the most representative contemporary number of the evening, and "Psyche and Eros" by Franck.

Director Francis Scholtz and his musicians were convincing in both the rhythmic and tonal contrasts of the former, and the difficult shadings and long lyrical melodic lines of the latter typically romantic composition. The group also proved its accompanying ability in furnishing a brilliant background to the equally captivating piano solo performed by Brother L. Peter, F.S.C. His playing of the Gershwin "Rhapsody in Blue" excerpt was a highlight of the evening for the audience.

Special Credit

Although every member of this organization has a part in its excellence, special mention must be made of the trumpet section, percussion section, and woodwind choir for their special contributions to the evening's music.

The St. Joseph's Honor Band, which opened the program, gives promise of more fine Xavier bands in future years.

The St. Joseph's Men's and Boys' Choir performed a group of four compositions representing the music of the church. All were presented in flawless style, and the balance between men's and boys' voices was excellent tonally and dynamically.

Austin Boncher directed the Xavier mixed chorus in three varied compositions which showed the group's versatility.

Brother Peter appeared also as a director of the 20-member Xavier Parents' Chorus. Though a small group, they achieved a fine blend and tone color, and finely shaded effects.

It is seldom that one hears student and amateur groups produce music so uniformly superior in tone quality, as that heard Thursday. Never was there distortion or straining in either vocal or instrumental tone. Possibly it is this element of awaremenss to tone quality, even in the big crescendos demanded by the composers, which has helped the wind ensemble win first place in competition by tape recording, with other similar groups across the country.

It is a credit both to the director and to the young people who are under his guidance, that they are willing to work for the extra in achievement, year after year.

Rally Starts On Market

Heavy Trading Is Resumed as Shares Make Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its rally in heavy trading early this afternoon.

Many key stocks made moderate gains. A few advanced a point or more.

The market was taking off from Thursday's sharp spurt. Analysts said sentiment was helped considerably by the fact that this is the last day to sell stocks "regular way"—four-day delivery—to use the cash for paying income taxes due April 15.

The tone was generally higher among steels, rails, motors, airlines, electrical equipments, aerospace issues, chemicals, nonferrous metals and utilities.

Cigarette stocks tended to ease and electronics were mixed. Many leading issues were unchanged.

Lickin' Makes for Stickin' Kissin'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wilmer Struebing, a member of the State Legislature, testifying Thursday at a committee hearing on his bill to ban trading stamps, said "The time will stamps, said "The time will come when you won't be able to kiss your wife goodbye, because you'll stick to her."

Sentenced at Waupaca

Church Looter Gets Jail Term

WAUPACA — An Illinois man, believed to have stolen more than $15,000 from churches throughout the United States and Mexico, has been sentenced to serve one year in Waupaca County Jail.

Lawrence L. Vieau, 33, Chicago Heights, was found guilty of two counts of petty theft when he appeared Wednesday in Municipal Justice Court.

After Vieau was convicted of stealing money from Catholic churches in Clintonville and Marion, Dist. Atty. Richard E. Johnson asked that he be given the maximum sentence.

Consecutive Sentences

Accepting the recommendation, Municipal Justice George Whalen fined Vieau $200 and costs on each of the charges. When he was unable to pay the fine, Justice Whalen sentenced him to six months in the county jail on each of the charges and ordered that the sentences be served consecutively.

Vieau had pleaded innocent of the charges when he was arraigned last week. At his trial Wednesday, where he elected to defend himself, he was found guilty after an 18-year-old Michigan woman testified she had been with Vieau when he took money from the two Waupaca County churches.

At St. Rose Church, Clintonville, $4 was taken from a candle money box and at St. Mary Church, Marion, $1 in cash was taken along with a pair of binoculars and a camera. The thefts occurred Oct. 14, 1964.

Other Sentences

Vieau, along with two woman companions, later was apprehended in Wisconsin Rapids where thefts also were committed. Before Vieau was brought to trial in Waupaca, he served 60 days in jail for petty theft in Wood County and another 60 days in Lincoln County.

The Michigan woman, Mrs. Gale Holbrook, Carp Lake, Mich., also served a 60-day sentence in Wood County. She testified Wednesday that Vieau kept a detailed record of his thefts so he would not take more than $100 in any one county and, therefore, could not be charged with anything other than petty theft.

Upon entering a church, she said, they would drop a coin in the candle box and, if it struck other coins, Vieau would force open the lock and take the money when no one was looking.

When Vieau is released from the Waupaca County Jail he will be turned over to authorities in Marinette County where he will be charged with 10 counts of petty theft.

Voting Rights, Budget Topics of GOP Caucus

who offered the resolution to the committee in the afternoon.

Penrod protested that his action was not aimed at preventing adoption of a resolution.

"I say if we take a stand on this, let's take a thoughtful stand. Now, we have to do it in 10 minutes," he said.

The caucus then instructed the committee to meet with the objectors and re-write the resolution.

The new resolution said the Republican Party should "support whatever constitutionally lawful action as may be necessary to protect the right of any individual to vote or enjoy his constitutional privileges so long as he is qualified under the Constitution."

Opposed to Violence

It said the caucus was "firmly opposed to the use of violence, subversion, or duress in the support or opposition to these objectives."

The original resolution said the Republican Party would have no allegiance with individuals or groups practicing violence to obtain or prevent the obtaining of voting rights.

Knowles warned the party faithful that results of the 1966 election "Depend on the record we make, and let's not forget that

Continuing his use of district caucuses to appeal for party help in getting public acceptance of his proposed budget, the governor said to the 300 delegates that he needed their support

Reminding delegates that much budget criticism is coming from within party ranks, Knowles said, "I reduced the budget (requests) by $63 million, and still many people feel this budget is high and out of line."

Plant Expansion

He said 53 new or expanded plants have been started in the state since he took office, an indication Republicans are making progress to a long-range objective of increasing the tax base. He said this is a result of Republicans convincing industry that state government intends to provide leadership and cooperation

Knowles noted Wisconsin is faced with the fact that 75 per cent of the population growth during the past decade came in the under 21 and over 65 age groups as he concentrated on the education portion of the budget

The state will have 63,000 high school graduates this year, half of whom will want to go to college, he said

"We are going to have to build facilities equal to the university campus in Madison These 30,000 deserve an education and are going to be given that opportunity under the budget I have presented," he said

The fact that only 25 per cent of those who start college will finish provides "our greatest single challenge in Wisconsin," Knowles said.

This is why he is emphasizing "a kind of middle education" in the vocational field so these persons can be trained for jobs and become productive taxpayers, he said.

Other Resolutions

The caucus also adopted resolutions praising Talbot Peterson, Appleton, retiring state chairman, for his work "culminating in the election of a Republican governor;" endorsing former Lt. Gov. Jack Olson as a candidate for "high elected public office in Wisconsin in 1966;" endorsing the Knowles budget and asking Republicans to work for its adoption; backing four-year terms for state officers and a single ticket for governor and lieutenant governor; and endorsing "reasonable conservation and anti-pollution standards" by industry.

Peterson and James Plier, Oconto, were named district delegates on the state convention resolutions committee, Sen. Robert Warren, Green Bay, and Mrs. Gertrude Jerabek, Kewaunee, were named to the rules committee, and Marcel Dempsey, Manitowoc, and Mrs. Arnold Peterson, Sturgeon Bay, were named to the credentials committee.

The district will have 383 delegates at the convention, 120 from Brown County, 99 from Outagamie, 24 from Door, 20 from Kewaunee, 63 from Manitowoc, 32 from Marinette, and 25 from Oconto.

Doubts Voiced On Population Explosion

conjure up of dirty, forlorn, starving peoples are often exaggerated, and that they appeal "to the fears of middle-class American people like ourselves." Actually, he said, it is probable that many of the world's so-called overcrowding problems are not this extreme, and that many peoples are reasonably content in what we consider to be desperate conditions

A basic fallacy with our view is the assumption that the rest of the world may desire the same living standard that we do, he said There is also the interesting aspect that we accuse others of having the problem and not ourselves, when it is a fact that overcrowding and starvation exist in this country, too, he added

Schneider said that "perhaps having children is a symptom, rather than a cause of population expansion" He observed that population growth follows lines of prosperity, and that when and where situations demand control of population, control usually occurs.

He added that birth control is a far more widely known practice than we recognize "There is no society where it is unknown," he said

The discussion after Schneider's talk centered on humanitarian aspects of population growth. Many of the speakers took a stand opposite Schneider's, expressing concern over the population situation.

Kaukauna Man Denies Worthless Check Count

OSHKOSH — Robert Ludwig, route 1, Kaukauna, pleaded innocent to a charge of issuing a worthless check for $808 25 on Sept. 1, 1964, before Judge James Sitter in Winnebago County Court today.

Further proceedings were adjourned until April 12.

Solons Squelch Saloon Statute

MADISON — A bill to lift Wisconsin's ban on the use of the word "saloon" finally met defeat in the Assembly Thursday.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Harold Froehlich of Appleton, and suggested by Sunday Post-Crescent columnist Tom Richards, was defeated 62-30 at 6:30 p.m

Influential lobbies had opposed the bill.

Judge James Sitter Assesses $175 Fines In Winnebago Court

OSHKOSH — Jay S. Merrill, 63, 129 N. Lake St., Neenah, was fined $175 and costs by Judge James Sitter in Winnebago County Court today after pleading no contest to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages

He also loses his driver's license for one year. His alternative was 45 days in the county jail.

He was arrested by Menasha police Thursday on Third Street

Also fined $175 and costs with the same jail alternative on a charge of driving while intoxicated was Thomas P. Gross, 21, 1421 W. Fourth Ave., Oshkosh. Gross also pleaded no contest.

He had been arrested Thursday on the U. S. 41 northbound ramp road at State 21. He told Judge Sitter he had been looking at a blond driving a car, which had just passed him at the time of the accident which brought about the charge. He tested .19 on the Breathalizer test A 15 reading is considered evidence of intoxication.

Marathon Engineer Taking UW Masters Degree Sunday

MENASHA — An engineer from the Marathon Products Group of the American Can Co., Clement Kalupa, has enrolled in a new University of Wisconsin experimental master's degree program in mechanical engineering this semester.

Kalupa will begin work toward a master's degree under this experimental program sponsored by the UW's new Articulated Instructional Media (AIM) Program.

Under the AIM Program, students earn college credits while they live at home and continue their present jobs. AIM students come to the Madison campus to enroll in the courses, plan their programs and meet with faculty advisors

Students in the program take mid-semester and final examinations with students on the Madison campus who are enrolled in the same courses and attending regular classes. Students in the AIM Program also supplement their regular study with laboratory work on the Madison campus during examination periods.

Kalupa is a senior electrical engineer and lives at 955 Bridgewood Drive, Neenah, with his wife and 12-year old daughter He holds a B S. degree in electrical engineering.

Display Flag on Bicycle With This Handy Project

BY CAPPY DICK

A flag flying from the antenna of an automobile adds a surprisingly effective touch of beauty to any car The same will be true of a flag displayed on a bicycle In the case of a bike a flag staff is not easily attached as to the car antenna However today's fun-project provides a solution

Get a section of thin rubber tube a quarter inch in diameter and four inches long

Plug one end of this tube with chewing gum or a very short piece of quater-inch dowel

Use mending tape to attach the tube to the front of your bike's handlebars as in Figure 1

To display the flag, simply drop the staff into the tube

From time to time you can vary the decoration by removing the flag and in its place dropping the stem of an artificial flower into the tube (Figure 1)

Almost any other objects can be displayed, if they are attached to a staff that will fit into the tube

Yanks Tee Off On Milwaukee Relievers, 6-1

Cloninger Sharp in 5-Inning Stint, but O'Dell, Olivo Blitzed

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves marched into Atlanta today but their stay is only temporary — long enough for a three-game weekend exhibition series with the Detroit Tigers in the city's brand new $18 million stadium.

The Braves, who drew a capacity crowd of 34,357 for their first National League game in Milwaukee in 1953, said sales for tonight's series opener had passed the 20,000 mark. The stadium seats 51,000 for baseball.

The Braves, who will switch permanently to Atlanta next year, said the weekend turnout might reach 80,000 if the weather is good.

The Braves arrived here from Jacksonville, Fla., where they were beaten 6-1 Thursday night by the New York Yankees who made the conquest easy with three-run home runs by Joe Pepitone and Johnny Blanchard.

Evened At 13-13

Each club had four hits as the Braves' spring record was evened at 13-13 and the American League champion Yanks boosted their slate to 11-16.

Tony Cloninger, preparing for his opening day assignment against the Reds in Cincinnati on Monday, held the New Yorkers to one hit in five innings, walking two and fanning four.

While Cloninger was holding the Yankees at bay, the Braves took a 1-0 lead in the third when they collected three of their hits. Sandy Alomar singled with one away and scored on another single by Lee Maye. Ty Cline

Gary Player Opens With 65, Tops Hot Band of Masters' Shooters

Nicklaus 2 Shots Back; 33 Rip Par

BY MURRAY ROSE

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A putting tip from American Ed Furgol has helped move South Africa's Gary Player in front of the hottest band of shooters in the history of the prestige-laden Masters Golf Tournament today.

The 5-foot-7, 153-pound muscle man fired a seven-under-par 32-33—65 at a course he called "The Monster" and still wound up only two strokes in front of a formidable American quartet of favored Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, Dan Sikes and Tommy Aaron.

Even with that 65 — one stroke behind the course and Masters record of 64 set in the opening round by second place finisher Lloyd Mangrum in 1940 — the chipper South African had a tremendous task ahead of him if he hoped to duplicate his 1961 Masters victory.

The elite field of 91 of the world's best pro and amateur golfers relentlessly hammered the proud par 36-36—72, 6,980-yard course of the Augusta National Golf Course from the opening first round shots in the morning until Player came roaring home around 6 p.m. on a hot and perfect day for golf.

May Become Faster

Thirty-three players were under par and 44 were par or better as the stars treated the layout as if it was a short public links course. The lush, slow greens, which may become faster and trickier before the 72-hole winds up on Sunday, and virtually no wind, helped make the course easier.

In all, 11 players shot 69s or better, nine had 70s, including defending champion and four-times winner Arnold Palmer, 13, had 71s and 11 matched par 72.

The previous record smashing assault on this magnificent course with its wide fairways and rolling greens was in 1958 when 17 bettered par and 31 at least tied it.

Frank Beard of Louisville, one of the best of the young set, was all alone in fifth place at 68.

The 69 group included Doug Sanders, only winner of two tournaments on the winter circuit, Ray Floyd, a cocky, 22-year-old bomber from Fayetteville, N.C., who says, "I can win it," Wes Ellis Jr., long-hitting George Bayer and fiery Tommy Bolt.

Right From Start

Player, a 29-year-old farmer who lifts weights to build up his strength and add yardage to his drives, unloaded his big guns right from the start. He fired

Houston Stadium Perfect at Night but Not During Day

Players Can't Follow Ball Under Dome

BY JOE REICHLER

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's new Astrodome Stadium is a $31.6 million beauty; an air-conditioned, steel-domed glittering palace; a wonder of wonders.

It's also a place in which a baseball game could be called on account of daylight.

And that's no joke.

The luxurious Astrodome is perfect for night ball.

You probably can play there in the daytime, too, but only when it is raining. But when the sun is shining: Forget it. Not unless you're unconcerned about a player getting skulled by a fly ball.

It almost happened Wednesday during a seven-inning game between the Astros and their farmhands. The players couldn't find fly balls against the lights and shadows of the dome. It was only luck that nobody was hit by a soft fly ball.

Came As Shock

The development came as a shock to all who had come to get their first view of this colossal stadium that rises above the ground like some giants misplaced saucer. The grand opening is tonight.

Houston General Manager Paul Richards may have been the most shocked of all. He made no attempt to conceal his disappointment.

"I've seen fly balls dropped before but this is ridiculous."

What Richards termed "ridiculous" was the spectacle of routine fly balls dropping all around the players, with none coming close to being caught. In one inning, all three outfielders took turns allowing fly balls to drop anywhere from 10 to 30 feet from where they were stationed, without making an attempt to catch them. They simply couldn't see the ball.

All outfielders, and all infielders with the exception of the first baseman, wore their batting helmets in the field.

"I was able to catch two of the 12 balls hit in my direction," said Ron Davis, a fine defensive center fielder. "The left fielder (Jim Wynn) caught one or two. I don't know how many he missed. One of the balls I caught was by accident. I never saw the ball."

The trouble stemmed from

Viking Netters Open Season With 2 Meets

Meet Knox and Monmouth Teams Here Saturday

The Lawrence University tennis team opens the 1965 campaign with a double dose of dual competition on the Vikings' courts.

Knox College invades the Lawrence domain at 8 a.m. Saturday with Monmouth scheduled to appear at 1 p.m.

Coach Ron Roberts has three lettermen from the 1964 team at his disposal. The Vikings of '64 rolled to an 8-1 dual record, including a 5-4 win over Midwest Conference champion Ripon. Lawrence was third, behind Ripon and Carleton, in the MC test.

The returning lettermen are Dave Cooper, No. 3 man last season, Menasha's John Bertram, No. 4 and Nick Vogel, No. 7. Cooper and Bertram will open in the Nos. 1 and 2 singles spots with Vogel as fifth man.

Sophomores George (Tom) Thomas and Bob Bletzinger are slated to play in the 3 and 4 spots, respectively, with Doug Opel at No. 6.

Cooper-Bertram is the No. 1 doubles combine, followed by Thomas-Bletzinger and Vogel-Opel.

Others seeking berths among the top six are junior Melvin Ho and sophomores John Grandin and John Whipple.

Jets' Owner Might Limit Season Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — Five months before the pro football season is due to start, Sonny Werblin, head of the New York Jets, is thinking about cutting off season ticket sales at 50,000.

The advance sale already has passed the 28,000 mark and not all the orders received have been processed.

"I'd like to keep it this side of 50,000," Werblin said. "I'd want to keep 20 per cent for game-to-game sales. The people who have only $4 to $6 to shell out must be considered."

Last year the American Football League club had sold only 8,303 season tickets up to April 3. Shea Stadium seats 64,000 for football.

Phil Ortega Standout As Washington Hands Baltimore 8-3 Defeat

Cards Trade Hurler To Cubs for Pair Of Minor Leaguers

BY MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Care package Los Angeles shipped to Washington appears to be waging an effective war on the Senators' poverty.

Currently spearheading the attack is Phil Ortega, a 25-year-old Arizonan of Mexican-Indian descent.

Ortega, part of the Care package from the Dodgers, helped spark the Senators to an 8-3 victory over Baltimore and the top of the American League's exhibition baseball standings Thursday.

The right-hander was one of five players the Dodgers gave the Senators for pitcher Claude Osteen and infielder John Kennedy last December.

Emigrating from the West Coast to the nation's capital with Ortega were infielder Ken McMullen, first baseman Dick Nen, outfielder Frank Howard and pitcher Pete Richert.

Busiest Hurler

In 35 innings of spring pitching, the Senators' busiest hurler has compiled a 1.91 earned run average, best on the time. He has permitted only two runs and seven hits in the last 18 innings.

In his final tuneup for the season's opener against Boston next Monday, Ortega blanked the Orioles for five innings before Nick Willhite, another ex-Dodger, completed the six-hitter by allowing all three Oriole runs.

McMullen collected four hit in the victory that boosted Washington's record to 11-10.

In another development Thursday, St. Louis traded pitcher Bob Humphreys to the Chicago Cubs for two minor leaguers, infielder Bobby Pfeil and pitcher Harold Gibson.

The Cardinals whipped the New York Mets 6-1 as Curt Flood rapped three singles and a double and Ken Boyer two doubles and a single.

76ers Fall, 112-94; Jones, Havlicek Add 24 Markers Apiece

BY BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Bill Russell has succefully made a surprise raid on Wilt Chamberlain's domain — scoring.

As a result, the Celtics beat Philadelphia 112-94 in the Eastern Division playoff finals Thursday night. They lead the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series 2-1 moving into game No. 4 on the 76ers' court tonight.

"Russeel really beat us with those tap-ins and he did a great job on the offensive boards," said Chamberlain. "Heck, yes, he surprised me the way he scored early in the game. But I don't know what I could do about it."

Russell, blaming his sub-par performance for the second game defeat, scored 12 of his 19 points as Boston jumped off to a 34-27 first quarter lead Thursday night. He held the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain without a field goal until there were eight seconds left in the first half.

By intermission Russell had outscored Wilt 15-8 and there

Foxes, Fans Will Be Feted Aug. 24

"Player and Fan Appreciation Night" has been set for Aug. 24 at Goodland Field, according to the Fox Cities Foxes.

A night is set aside to honor Foxes' players with a number of trophies, including that for "Most Valuable Player".

This year, fans will also be honored in the ceremonies.

Vike Track Team Launches Season

Invades Knox Saturday; Nine Lettermen Form Squad Nucleus

Underclassmen hold the key to the hopes for the Lawrence University track team this spring.

The 28-man squad currently working out with Coach Gene Davis includes only eight seniors. Davis has nine lettermen. The Vikings are scheduled to open the season Saturday when they invade Knox College at Galesburg, Ill.

Davis is looking for improvement on the cinder squad this season although the general problem will probably be a lack of depth. Last season, the Vikes won three dual meets and finished last in the Midwest Conference meet.

Heading the list of lettermen are co-captains Bob Bonewitz and Bob Pepper. Bonewitz competes in the middle-distance running events and Pepper is the conference-record-holding pole vaulter.

Other lettermen include Roger Bjornstad, discus; Dick Eng-

Ness, Tepper Honored by AHS Cagers

Bob Ness has been named the most valuable player of the 1964-5 Appleton High School basketball team, which won the Fox River Valley Conference title and qualified for the state tournament.

Mark Tepper was named honorary captain, in another vote of cage squad members.

The announcements of these and other awards were made Thursday night during the AHS basketball, gymnastics and wrestling banquet held at Sabre Lanes.

Dick Plant was named captain of the Terror gymnastics team.

AHS wrestlers elected Jeff Huttenberg as 1965-6 captain and selected Larry McCoy as "most valuable" for the 1964-5 campaign.

Appleton High School honored its basketball players, gymnasts and wrestlers at a banquet Thursday night. Oregon Team Has Lead as WIBC Tourney Begins

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A team of Molalla, Ore., housewives went home in first place after the first day of bowling Thursday in the 48th annual Woman's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

The five keglers recorded 2,316 as the opening night of action was confined to Division II, teams with an average of 750 and under.

In second place was the Greater Portland Woman Bowling Association No. 18 with 2,260.

The tournament, which drew 4,068 teams for the fifth largest entry in its history, continues through May 19 with the bowlers competing for a prize fund of $203,360.

the skylight structure of the dome composed of 4 596 plastic windows and steel grey girders each about 18 inches wide The dome measures 710 feet in diameter Once the ball rises up against the jigsaw background of light and dark, it becomes virtually impossible to follow

In sharp contrast the players had no difficulty following the ball at night

The background was perfect said Davis

Unfortunately of the club s 81 home games this season 21 are scheduled at daytime This does not include two exhibition games Saturday against Baltimore and Sunday against the Yankees The first regular season daylight game is scheduled April 25 against Pittsburgh

What to do about it?

'Well, said Richards, "we contacted an expert on sun glasses and we hope to arrive at some solution We re going to try amber glasses Saturday The regular sun glasses are useless here They re too dark

If thi does not work we've got two alternatives The first would be to cover the dome, at least up to the second rung, with a huge tarpaulin extending from home plate halfway to first and third base

Switch On Lights

Or we may have to paint the entire inside of the dome the plastic windows as well as the girders a dark green and switch on the lights '

Manager Lum Harris said 'My outfielders were embarrassed Actually they re good fielders They hadn t dropped a fly ball all spring before today

Harris saw a ray of sunshine however The pleasant kind that is

We play our opener Monday at night he said 'Then we go on the road for two weeks By the time we come back, I m sure a solution will have been found I've got faith in Judge (Roy) Hofheinz Anyone who can build a stadium such as this certainly will find a way to correct one defect three straight birdies and wound up with seven in all and no bogeys

He required only 30 putts, using a putter he bought for $50 in Tokyo Garish Ginza, and a stance suggested by Furgol, the former U S Open champion from Export, Pa , only last weekend

'I was playing well but putting poorly in the Greenboro open last week," said Player at a press conference after his brilliant round 'Ed Furgol came by and said, Why not try this?"

'He suggested several things My blade was not facing the hole He made me change my grip and told me to hold the club firmer with my left hand

Asked if he thought the Masters' record of 274 set by Ben Hogan in 1953 would fall, Player said

Records in any sport will be broken The weather has a lot to do with it To break 274 you must have perfect weather conditions to do it as Hogan did '

He named Nicklaus as the most likely candidate to eclipse the record

Tremondous Touch

"Nicklaus is so strong, and he has a tremendous touch, ' said Player

How about Gary Player?

I don t like to make statements like that, ' he replied

Nicklaus off his 32-35, which easily could have been trimmed by two or three strokes with any breaks still was rated the choice to win

He is a notoriously poor starter His 67 was the best opening round he s ever unfurled in the Masters He had a 71 last year when he finished in a tie for second with 282, six strokes behind Palmer

Best Fishing 2 Weeks Off

It's Ice-Out Time, But Anglers Are Told to Use Caution This Weekend

BY JIM HARP
Post Crescent Outdoor Editor

It's ice-out time along the Wolf River, but eager spring fishermen had best use caution if they plan to venture forth this weekend

The ice went out at Fremont Thursday morning and a general breakup continued along the Wolf during the night and today Although there are many areas of open water, large chunks of floating ice are making fishing and boat travel hazardous

In the early part of the week, walleye fishing picked up in earnest on the Fox River between Omro and Eureka Many limit catches were brought off the river last Monday and Tuesday but by Wednesday the success had tailed off again

Getting Walleyes

A check at Eureka Wednesday indicated that some fishermen were getting walleyes but the majority were coming back empty handed This writer came across two anglers who had their limit Fritz Hammerling and Art Leu Sr both of Ripon brought 10 beautiful walleyes to the landing including four that went over the 4-pound mark

Hammerling revealed that they had spent nearly three hours fishing near the Eureka dam without getting so much as a nibble They decided to quit fishing and then changed their mind while motoring downriver They agreed to fish for a half hour at a bend in the river farther downstream and proceeded to land their limit within a little more than an hour Hammerling and Leu used shiner minnows for bait and fished with single shank hooks

About 25 anglers were fishing from the bank at Eureka and not one reported success The most activity from the bank in the morning found there was fishermen involved trying to get nothing to do but wait until lines loose from snags which another angler returned or fish constantly proved troublesome from the bank and took a good many river rigs

Boats were at a premium in the Omro and Eureka area Those anglers who did not have their own boat and arrived late

Quickest Route

Fox Cities anglers can get to Eureka in about 30 to 45 minutes The quickest route is to take Highway 41 to Oshkosh and then swing off to Highway 21 The cut-off is about one-quarter mile after you cross the Butte des Morts bridge Highway 21 will take you to Omro and 116 and county trunk E will put you in Eureka It s only about five miles between Omro and Eureka

Action proved slow at Winneconne Wednesday There were six anglers on the bridge and no boats in the river Shortly after this writer arrived one of the fishermen pulled in a chunky walleye and admitted it was the first bite he had in four hours of fishing No one else had a fish and none had lost a minnow

Veteran river anglers predict that the best fishing is about two weeks off but activity is expected to be in full swing by next weekend

Plan Changes in Bill to Allow County-Owned Team

MADISON (AP)—A bill that would permit Milwaukee County to own and operate a major or minor league baseball team has been sent back to a Senate committee at the request of Sen Jerris Leonard, R Milwaukee, one of its sponsors

As he asked Thursday that the bill be sent back to committee for changes Leonard also urged his fellow senators to attend the Braves home opener next week to help show that Milwaukee is a big league town

The Braves plan to shift their ty club National League franchise to Atlanta next year, leaving Milwaukee without a major league team

Leonard said he did not think it was practical for the county to operate a baseball team and he wanted an opportunity to amend his original proposal which would permit the county to organize a non-profit corporation to obtain a baseball franchise

Leonard indicated he planned to change the proposal to allow a private agency to run a coun

Hull Stars as Hawks Score 2-1 Playoff Win

Canadiens Also Even Series With Toronto On 4-2 Decision

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Toronto Maple Leafs are back in the thick of contention for their fourth straight championship in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs

They turned boos to cheers with a three-goal outburst in the last period for a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night That squared the best-of-7 semifinal series at two games apiece with the fifth game scheduled at Montreal Saturday night

The Chicago Black Hawks also drew even at 2 2 with Detroit in the other semifinal by beating the Red Wings 2-1 Bobby Hull broke a 1-1 tie with a blazing slap shot from a foot inside the blue line at 9 12 of the third period

Most in the Toronto crowd of 14 572 hooted and booed the Leafs when Montreal took an early 2-0 lead on goals by Bobby Rousseau and Henri Richard. Only some great saves by 40-year-old Johnny Bower in the Toronto net kept the Canadiens from piling up the score in the second period

Late in the second period the Leafs' Red Kelly tipped in Tim Horton's slap shot, but the goal didn't seem to mean anything the way the Canadiens were skating.

About Face

The Leafs executed an about-face in the third period No longer were they caught off balance and disorganized Rookie Ron Ellis slapped home the tying goal at 5 16 on a pass from rookie Pete Stemkowski

Just 40 seconds later, at 5 56, Captain George Armstrong banged in the winning goal on assists by Dave Keon and Dickie Moore Kelly scored again for the Leafs with 28 seconds left, this time into an empty net

Hull who seems to have regained the touch he lost because of injuries in the losing games of the regular season, drew an ovation from a Chicago turnout of 16,666 for his winning goal against the Red Wings It was his sixth goal in the series

Chico Maki s goal had given Chicago a 1-0 lead at 7 57 in the first period but Detroit tied it within 90 seconds Gordie Howe scored for the Wings on a power play

The fifth game of the series will be played in Detroit Sunday night

Gary Eyes Nicklaus Despite 2-Stroke Edge

BY KELSO STURGEON

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player stacks up as one of the biggest 5-foot-7 men ever to pick up a golf club, but he says he doesn't know if he can handle the likes of heavyweight Jack Nicklaus when the going gets rough in the Masters Golf Tournament.

But Player, who fired a blazing 65 to take the first round lead in the Masters, says he's working out like a circus strong man to build up his strength and has added a few incentives to winning the possible $25,000 first prize in the tournament

"If we have four perfect days of weather, Nicklaus can break the tournament record," Player said. "There's no such thing as a par 5 hole when Nicklaus is around."

The tournament's 72-hole record of 274 was set by Ben Hogan in 1953.

Even as Player said he felt Nicklaus was the logical Masters choice, the South African served warning that he will be a tough man to catch.

"Game Never Better"

"I've never felt so well in all my life," he said."I've been doing a lot of exercises and I've never felt so strong. My game was never any better than it was out there today."

Player said his weight lifting program had been so successful that within two years he expected to add 25 yards to his drives

The added incentive Player spoke of was his growing family and a desire to buy two more farms in South Africa. He already owns an 800-acre timber farm and wants to make enough money playing golf to purchase game and cattle farms.

Player and most of the other leaders in the tournament feel someone will break Hogan's record if the beautiful, sunny spring weather holds up.

Nicklaus, who was tied for second with three others at 67, said the course was easy Thursday, "But believe me it will be tougher tomorrow with the heat drying out everything more."

Nicklaus, a 6-foot, 210 pounder who's built like a bear, said the 67 was his best opening round in the Masters and that he could have done better if his putting game had been more consistent

"I drove the ball as well as I can and I actually didn't putt too badly," he said "But I didn't play my short putts as good as I should have "

Nicklaus said he didn't know what kind of a score it would take to win the Masters, but noted, "If conditions remain the same, it should be well below 280 "

U. S. Track Team Scores Wins Over England, Germany

BERLIN, Germany (AP) — America's all-conquering track team, with victories over English and German teams ,and three world marks to its credit, prepared to return to the United States today.

Mike Larrabee, a schoolteacher from Fillmore, Calif., was the latest claimant to a world indoor mark with a 46.8 mark in the 400 meters Thursday night, almost a full second under the listed record of 47 7.

Larrabee, who won the 400-meter gold medal in the Tokyo Olympics, added his record to those set earlier by Ted Nelson, Canoga Park, Calif., and Janell Smith, Fredonia, Kan., in the two-day meet.

Special Trophy

Nelson clipped off a 1 47.4 time for the 800 meters and was awarded a special trophy by West Berlin Mayor Willi Brandt, then ran on a victorious U S. relay team Miss Smith won the women's 400 meters in 54 flat, an improvement of 1 6 seconds on the listed record

Those performances helped the United States to a whopping 101-56 victory for the men, while the American girls won their two-day match 61-52

Both had beaten English teams earlier on the European jaunt

The Germans also had a record-breaker in Antje Gliechfelld, who took the women's 800 meters in 2 07 1.

Hunt May Miss Mets' First Game

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Ron Hunt's injured finger is not responding to treatment and the New York Mets' All-Star second baseman undoubtedly will miss the opening of the baseball season next Monday.

The club announced Wednesday that Hunt is flying to New York to have his injury examined by Dr. Peter La Motte, team physician

Hunt first jammed the knuckle of the middle finger of his right hand playing handball in January. Originally, the injury was diagnosed as not serious, but later X-rays showed a severe sprain and bone bruise.

Appleton Swimmers Set Four State YMCA Meet Records

Appleton swimmers set four records in the recent state YMCA girls meet held in Beaver Dam.

Germaine Herrbold swam to 15-17 age group records in the 50-yard freestyle (:27.8) and 100-yard free (1:03.3). Candy Neuman set a record in the 15-17 group 100-yard breaststroke (1:14.6). The Appleton 200-yard free relay team (Miss Neuman, Miss Herrbold, Alice Feit and Carol Behnke, set a record of 1:59.3.

In addition, Appleton swimmers set two records in the preliminaries which were subsequently broken in the finals Miss Neuman swam the 100-yard butterfly in 1:12 1; and Maud Hardacker (8 and under group, swam the 25-yard butterfly in :18.5.

Appleton's Barb Pawlowski took first place in the 9-10 age group 25-yard breaststroke, with a time of :20.1.

Other Appleton representatives who placed among the top three were Jody Mendelsohn, third in the 25-yard breaststroke for 8 and under; Amie Savage, third in the 25-yard backstroke for 9-10; Chris Patterson third in both the 60 and 100-yard free for 13-14; Sue Ripple, third in the 100 butterfly for 13-14; the 100-yard medley relay team (Claudia Jayne, Jody Mendelsohn, Maud Hardacker and Joan Orbison) for 8 and under; and the 100-yard medley team (Amie Savage, Barb Pawlowski, Patricia Patterson and Barb Makowski) for 9-10.

Appleton won the age-group trophy for the 15 to 17 class.

Hammen and Van Vreede Win Awards

LITTLE CHUTE — Pat McCabe was elected president of the St John Athletic Association at a meeting Wednesday night at the grade school social room.

Other new officers include Bob Diedrick, vice-president; and Richard Vander Wyst, secretary-treasurer. Ted Hutting and Bob Peerenboom were elected to the board of directors.

The Roger Vander Wyst Award, for the "most valuable player" on the high school varsity basketball team last season, was presented by Vander Wyst to Bruce Hammen.

Dave Van Vreede was awarded a trophy for being the team's top rebounder and compiling the best field goal shooting percentage, 53.5 per cent. Hammen and Van Vreede also were presented their all-conference awards by Coach Bill Fitzpatrick.

NHL President Suffers Attack of Peptic Ulcers

TORONTO (AP) — Clarence Campbell, 60-year-old president of the National Hockey League, was resting comfortably in a hospital today after suffering an attack from peptic ulcers Thursday He will remain there about a week.

Dr Hugh Smythe, club physician of the Toronto Maple Leafs, said Campbell had not been well all day Thursay so he sent him to Sunnybrook Hospital for examination and tests.

Elaine Krueger Slams 583 Series

Lorna Pekarske Fires 578 Set; Grace Hansel Tops Navy Loop

Elaine Krueger bombed a 236 game and 583 series to set the pace in the Hahn's Women's League Thursday night.

Lorna Pekarske also had a hot night in the Women's circuit as she rattled games of 200 and 202 on her way to a 578 series.

Carol Arnold and Grace Hansel shared honors in the Hahn's Navy League last night as Carol smacked a 203 game and Grace had a 542 series. Carol finished with a 5512 series.

Julie Hidde rapped a 535 series for the lone honor score in the Bent Sabre League at Sabre Lanes Thursday night.

Hahn's Women's

Pat Lutz, 522; Ruth Sullivan, 522; Helen Twiton, 195 and 512; Hilda Neumann, 195; Elaine Zempel, 195 and 524.

Hahn's Navy

Judy Turkow, 192 and 529; Joan Reitzner, 531.

Russell Leads Celtics to 2-1 Playoff Margin

was speculation as to when The Defender had topped The Scorer at his own game in this war of the pivotmen.

Chamberlain Ahead

Chamberlain finished ahead 24-19 in the game and 37-26 in rebounds but the damage had been one. Russell had the better shooting average, a 9-7 edge in field goals, 8-1 bulge in assists, and was ahead 3-1 in steals.

"Boston really put us in the hole early the way Russell was getting those offensive rebounds, going to the board and tapping in the ball," said Philadelphia Coach Dolph Schayes.

"Yes, I'd say its my best game of the series," said Russell. That reminds me of the guy Tueday night who asked me if I thought Wilt outplayed me I asked him, 'where were you?"

John Havlicek and Sam Jones scored 24 points each for Boston.

The Western Division playoff finals resume tonight at Baltimore with the Los Angeles Lakers meeting the Bullets in the fourth game of their best-of-7 series. The Lakers hold a 2-1 lead.

Dairyland Loop Adds 2 Umpires To 1965 Staff

The Dairyland Baseball League, after much revision, approved the 1965 schedule at a meeting in Landstad Tuesday, according to loop president H. J. (Kelly) Weller.

Two umpires, Green Bay's William Sell and Shawano's Ira Peterman, were added to the league staff. Other umpires are Don Gauthier, Menasha; Richard Mayefski, Zachow; Norman Carpenter, Green Bay; Dave Bahr, Cecil and Orv Wonser, Menasha

The next meeting will be held in Black Creek. Complete player rosters will be submitted at this gathering.

The league launches its slate May 2.

Freedom Athletic Group to Meet

FREEDOM — Election of officers and discussion of plans for the 1965 baseball season will be the main order of business at the meeting of the Freedom Athletic Association at 8 p.m. Monday at the VFW hall.

The status of the teams for both the Fox Valley League and the Dairyland League will be discussed.

Trading Stamp Bill Is Called Discriminatory

Manitowoc Assemblyman Raps Measure Which Would Ban Use of Sales Gimick

MADISON (P) — Assemblyman Eugene Kaufman of Manitowoc has labeled as 'discriminatory" two bills that would abolish the use of trading stamps.

Kaufman, a Democrat, is chairman of the Assembly Commerce and Manufacturers Committee that aired the two proposals Thursday at a crowded public hearing Kaufman said he expected the Democratic-controlled committee to recommend the bills be killed

Several hundred persons packed the Assembly chamber to attend the hearing, but service station operators were the most vociferous group appearing for the bills

Assemblyman Byron Wackett, R-Watertown, operator of a gasoline station, said the trading stamp industry has a "complete stranglehold" on the stations Wackett is a co-author of one of the bills that would specifically prohibit the use of the stamps with the sale of motor fuel

Led Proponents

He led off for the proponents of the bills Mrs Hubert mekciz Sr , the wife of a Waukesha service station operator, appeared in overalls and agreed with Wackett by saying that trading stamp firms practically threaten you into buying their product '

Assemblyman Wilmer Struebing R-Brillion said the stamp industry produces $300 billion stamps a year more than twice the number made by the federal government

Other service station operators who appeared in favor of the bill included Ray Pritzl of Sheboygan Elmer Rouse of Racine C J Laux of New London and Carl Betz of Milwaukee

Displayed Blankets

Mrs Howard E Hodgson of Sun Prairie displayed blankets drinking glasses and silverware to the committee as merchandise obtained through premiums

This is not a matter of trading stamps " Mrs Hodgson said The state many discriminating law limit the privileges of its

Are we going llow them to foist another law on us to restrict our privileges?" she asked

Charles Ziemer of Manitowoc vice president of the Mirro Aluminum Co said trading stamps are needed for economic vitality ' Ziemer said his company which employs 3 000 persons sells its products for premiums

Most People Will Benefit If Law Passes

you don't use all the hospital time, you can extend the nursing home time After you pay the first $40, the plan takes over No doctor bills are paid under this basic plan

But if you want protection against doctor bills and some other health expenses, you can sign up for a national medical insurance plan It will cost you $3 a month, which will be deducted from your Social Security check if you get one Otherwise you can remit direct. Under this plan, you pay the first $50 of expenses in any year and then the insurance takes care of 80 per cent of the remainder.

Say you have an operation that involves a $300 hospital-nursing home bill and $250 doctor bills That s a $550 total

If you had both plans you would pay $40 plus $50 plus 20 per cent of 200 which is $40, or a total of $130 out of the $550

If you are drawing Social Security old age payments you get a 7 per cent raise with a guarantee the raise will be not less than $4 a month

Good News

Moreover, the increase is retroactive to Jan 1, 1965

If you are now or soon will be 72 and are a former worker, or the widow of one, who had some Social Security coverage but not enough to qualify for payments under the former law, the bill may be especially good news Depending on age and the length of time worked in covered employment, you may be eligible for a monthly check

But suppose you are not 65 and retired but younger and working and in a job covered by Social Security Then you pay

Most of the $6 billion cost of the new social legislation package comes from a stepup in the pay roll tax paid by workers and their employers

The first increase comes next Jan 1 and there are more over the years

However as you approach retirement the higher retirement pay awaiting you goes up

But so does the tax

Family Protection

Meanwhile if you have a family you have better family protection

Under the old law benefits for a deceased worker s child stopped at 18 Now if the child is still in school or college the benefits would continue until age 22

The additional tax that will be withheld from your paychecks next year, if you make as much as $5,600 will be $69 90

There is much more in the big bill but it s pretty special

Are you a member of the old order Amish who object on religious grounds to Social Security? You can exempt yourself from the self-employment tax

Are you a waitress or another kind of employe largely dependent on tips? The tips now count for Social Security tax and benefits

Are you a self-employed doctor? You re in the Social Security system

Knowles Announces Retraining Program

MADISON (AP) — Gov Warren P Knowles announced today approval of a $15 800 program to retrain 20 unemployed persons in the La Crosse County area as arc welders

The State Board of Vocational and Adult Education submitted the program to Knowles The funds were made available under the Federal Area Redevelopment Administration retraining program

The trainees will undertake a 16 week training course at the La Crosse school of vocational, technical and adult education

The Body of Frank Cardinale Jr., 32, lies in the street in East Roakaway, Long Island, where it fell under police bullets Thursday In background is his car, and in front seat, Mrs Ona DeDomenico widowed mother of two, critically wounded Police said Cardinale, attempting reconciliation with her, forced her into the car, shot her when police gave chase, and tried to flee on foot. Question Forethought Over Viet Nam War

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration s switch to a softer line on how to start peace talks in Viet Nam raises a question about how thoroughly the problem was thought through in the first place

The switch President Johnson made this week in his nationwide talk leaves the door open to an impression some of the U S policy is being made up as it goes along except for the basic original determination

That part of the policy has always been clear to save South Viet Nam from a Communist takeover

But Johnson started out with a hard-nosed policy when, immediately after the Red guerrillas attacked an American air base on Feb 7 he ordered Communist North Viet Nam bombed

"Clear Indication"

And the White House explained what was wanted was a "clear indication" from the Reds that they were ready to stop attacking the South Later Johnson said he wanted peace talks conducted 'under conditions that would be productive " And so on

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Dean Rusk was echoing this line almost to the point of banality, even though the repeated American bombing of North Viet Nam put no visible dent in the guerrillas They kept on fighting

As time passed the administration s tactics and position, as Johnson outlined it, were being criticized at home and abroad, by friends neutrals Russia and Red China

It s understandable that in the beginning the administration must have felt the hard line on peace talks was necessary to convince the Reds that American policy and bombings were not just gestures to save face

Two months of bombings brought no cries for peace from the Communists And the criticism increased Then Wednesday night Johnson abandoned the policy of laying down conditions before discussions could start

(Johnson, however, said plainly the American bombings wouldn t stop and the United States wouldn t pull out under the cloak of a meaningless agreement ")

But the switch on the peace talks, slight as it was, brought praise at home and abroad Johnson also got criticism, not only from the Red Chinese who called his talk 'lies and deception,' but from Republicans, too

It's hard to believe this new policy couldn't have been the policy from the beginning since the continued bombings in the past as in the future would if anything could convince the Reds of American determination

Also a Switch

The very fact that Johnson finally made his broadcast explanation was also, in effect, a switch He had been under pressure for weeks to make such a talk But he and Rusk relied on cryptic repetitious statements

It s possible that by eliminating preconditions to a peace discussion Johnson now has put the burden on the Communist world to start negotiations But that s probably sheer optimism

The Chinese not only quickly repudiated Johnson's talk but the North Vietnamese, as usual, have said nothing What s lacking is a knowledge of what s going on in the Communists' heads

They may still feel, if they stick it out, they can gobble all South Viet Nam where half the population is not supporting either side

This indifference of the South Vietnamese is good evidence that the United States, although it has been helping South Viet Nam for years, has done a miserably poor job of trying to convince the majority of the people they should be anti-Communist

Perhaps the answer is that the United States for all these years put too much time, effort and money into worrying about whoever was running the government at the moment and not worrying enough about the people

Substitute Bill On Health Care Killed in House

Senate will pass the bill with few changes and by at least a 3-1 margin Gore, a long-time advocate of such legislation, said the bill the House passed Thursday was a surprisingly good one

Major Elements

The major elements of the 297 page bill include

A hospital plan for all those 65 and older, with the patient paying the first $40

An optional insurance plan to cover doctor bills and some other medical expenses This would cost $3 a month, with the government matching the sum, and cover 80 per cent of expenses after the first $50 in any year

—The existing system of state-federal medical aid for the near-indigent would be enlarged

—A general 7 per cent increase in Social Security old age payments with other liberalizing changes in the system

An extra $69 90 to be withheld next year from workers making at least $5 600 yearly

The American Medical Association renewed its opposition to the bill, calling on the Senate to hold public hearings An AMA statement said that because the House held no such hearings on the final version of the bill Americans were denied the opportunity to learn just how this legislation would affect their lives '

AMA Position

The AMA renewed its advocacy of a state-administered system and its opposition to pay roll tax-financed hospitalization, saying, we are opposed to centralizing control over hospitals and doctors under a federal bureaucracy '

The pay roll tax increase to finance the hospital plan and the increased old age benefits would amount to $69 90 next year on workers earning at least $5,600 and their employers Other increases would come later

Hanson Calls Gov. Knowles 'One-Timer'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—J Louis Hanson, state Democratic chairman says many Republicans were bitterly critical of GOP Gov Warren P Knowles on his budget and tax programs

'He looks like a one term governor Hanson told a Democratic luncheon in what became half of a two-part attack on Knowles in Milwaukee Thursday

Democratic Lt Gov Patrick J Lucey told a labor union meeting that Knowles has a revenue gap because he decided to spend $180 million more than did Democratic former Gov John W Reynolds who was defeated by Knowles last fall

Lucey said that had Knowles kept to his campaign promise to hold the line on spending he would have inherited a $63 3 million surplus from the Reynolds administration Lucey said attempts to blame the Reynolds administration for Knowles record $832 million budget ' does not square with the fiscal facts

Hanson predicted that the Democrats could have a major primary race for governor next year and said we have able men who could lead us into victory forecast upward by about two feet

The record crest of 15 3 feet was reached in 1952

High water also continued in other parts of the state

The State Highway Department reported today that the rising Kickapoo River has required the closing of a longer portion of Highway 131 in Vernon County

Earlier a stretch of a few miles between Readstown and Viola had been closed but rising water made it necessary to close a 28 mile portion from Readstown to Ontario

These other sections of main roads remained closed because of high water 164 south of Sussex in Waukesha County 57 north of 33 in Ozaukee County, 156 west of Nichols in Outagamie County, and 54 south of Chetek in Barron County

Bridge Reopened

The Highway 37 bridge over the Buffalo River at Mondovi in Buffalo County was reopened to traffic Thursday afternoon after a bridge approach washout had been repaired

A 12-year-old boy standing near a tree was struck and killed by lightning during a hail storm at Middletown in southwestern Ohio

Rivers rose in many areas, causing the U S Weather Bureau to predict one of the worst flood seasons in many years

Floods have driven more than 4,000 persons from their homes in Minnesota More than 2,000 persons have been evacuated in Iowa

A portion of the Flandreau Dam on the Cottonwood River near New Ulm, in southern Minnesota burst Thursday night, permitting a heavier flow of water downstream toward Mankato

2,000 Evacuated

The Red Cross estimated that about 2,000 more persons would be evacuated within the next two days in the Mankato area, which is expected to get six inches more of water because of the broken dam

The Minnesota River was expected to crest at 30 feet Saturday at Mankato breaking the record 29 9 foot crest in 1881 The river was at 27 6 feet Thursday night

Residents of Chaska were constructing a 31-foot dike after the Weather Bureau forecast a 32-foot crest next week Utility companies disconnected heating units

Gov Karl Rolvaag inspected the flooded area in a helicopter

At least 20 Minnesota highways have been closed

Skies were clear in most of the flood-stricken areas in the Midwest but more rain fell in scattered sections in the Northeast and in the western third of the nation In the West snow fell in mountain areas The Weather Bureau reported today was the 12th consecutive day of measurable rain in California

Temperatures were below normal in most of the western states but summer-like weather prevailed across the Southland Readings were near normal in most other parts of the nation Early morning marks ranged from 27 at Duluth, Minn , to 79 at Laredo, Tex

Your Money's Worth

20 Million Persons Own American Stocks

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The number of Americans owning the stocks of our nation's public corporations has now reached the awesome milestone of 20 million.

This is more than triple the total of stockholders in the U.S. as recently as 1952, compares with 17 million shareholders as recently as 1962.

This stockholder population dwarfs that of any other country in the world. This one statistic dramatizes how strong has become the tie between stability in Wall Street and stability in our economy, how close has become the connection between Wall Street and Main Street.

And in addition:

Around 120 million to 130 million of you have nesteggs in financial institutions which invest part of your savings in stocks, and thus you have an indirect — but very real — stake in the stock market's well-being. Another 2 million of you hold shares in our country's privately-owned corporations. Another 35 million — at a minimum — of you are planning to buy stocks when you are financially able to do so, are on the "threshold" of investing.

Share Census

The New York Stock Exchange is now completing its fifth census of share ownership in the U.S.—a year-long study which has covered 6,700 corporations with 9,400 issues outstanding. The results won't be published until June, the final figures aren't yet in.

But today "The Exchange," magazine of the NYSE, released the first preview of the 1965 census: a list of the 50 NYSE companies with the largest number of common stockholders While the Exchange warns, "Don't try to use these figures to project the total 1965 share-owning population from the 1962 total of 17 million; it's not that easy" — I do dare to submit the above educated estimates. There is enough data already available and there are enough hints in the list of the top 50 to permit the projections right now.

Stock ownership is being propelled ever upward by the soaring number of families in the middle to higher income brackets—families with sufficient income to invest in stocks. The average shareholder has an annual household income of $10,000 or over today.

Stock Plans

It is being spurred by the climbing number of individuals entering the market through employe stock purchase plans Its employe stock purchase plan is a key reason American Telephone shows a net increase of 625,000 stockholders since 1962—largest of all increases

Stock ownership also is being stimulated by the spreading popularity of stock gifts to children. This way of investing for a child's future is being embraced by parents from coast to coast.

Unquestionably the rate of rise in stock ownership slowed after the stock market crack-up of mid-1962—but the fundamental forces behind an expanding shareholder population have remained dominant. Had the pre-1962 rate of growth continued, my projection of 20 million shareholders would be far too low

The total number holding stocks of the top 50 NYSE companies in 1965 is 12,326,000, up 19 per cent from 1962's top 50. Here are the ownership totals for the top 10 of these companies.

Company	1965	Rank	1964	Rank
American Telephone	2,674,000	1st	2,049,000	1st
General Motors	1,139,000	2nd	842,000	2nd

Kennedy Chill Gone

Katzenbach, Hoover Are Best of Friends

BY JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since Nicholas Katzenbach became head of the Justice Department, an air of friendship spans the long marble corridor which separates the offices of the attorney general and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The chill that arose between Hoover and the attorney general's office when it was headed by Katzenbach's predcessor, Robert F. Kennedy, has vanished.

The FBI is a branch of the Justice Department

One day recently Katzenbach, 43, wanted to discuss some aspect of the Bobby Baker case with Hoover He donned his coat and marched down the hall to the 70-year-old Hoover's office Asked why he hadn't summoned Hoover instead, he shrugged in some surprise and said, "I'm rather younger than Mr. Hoover."

Social Events

On two recent occasions, the FBI chief showed up in Katzenbach's office for minor social events — the swearing-in of one assistant deputy attorney general and the farewell party for another

Kennedy, now a New York senator, appeared at each gathering, too. From the fringe of a crowd that overflowed the big office for the swearing-in, he spotted Hoover and whispered wryly, "Times sure have changed." After Hoover had left the farewell party, Kennedy paid jocular tribute to Katzenbach for having made peace with the FBI chief

Not only did Hoover ignore similar gatherings when Kennedy was attorney general he didn't even appear at a farewell party for Kennedy in the Justice Department courtyard five floors below or a more formal going-away dinner given by the rest of Kennedy's top aides

Long Letter

When President Johnson nominated Katzenbach to be attorney general in January, Hoover sent a lengthy congratulatory letter, expressing gratitude for Katzenbach's having defended the FBI's often criticized handling of civil rights cases.

Johnson and Hoover retain their close friendship of two decades. But Hoover is carefully observing the proper channels through Katzenbach for official business.

When Kennedy was running the Justice Department, an FBI assistant director was in and out of his office daily, acting as a sort of liaison between the two men.

In an interview with The Association Press last week, Katzenbach was asked about his relationship with Hoover and the FBI

"I have long had the highest regard and esteem for him and for the remarkable agency that, really, is his creation," Katzenbach said. "The FBI has always done everything that I have asked it to do and done it well"

The two men from time to time have shared Katzenbach's limousine for the ride to the White House — for lunch, for discussions of crime legislation, or to flank Johnson as he announced the FBI's arrest of some suspects in a civil rights slaying and his war on the Ku Klux Klan

Together, the two men would return to the Justice Department and ride to the fifth floor in Katzenbach's private elevator.

CLEAN, BRIGHT, MODERN, EFFICIENT. All of these adjectives apply to the Dan Luebke Cities Service station located at the intersection of County Trunk P and Midway Road. This location makes it much easier to get to and from for it is away from congested downtown traffic.

Since 1939, the name of Dan Luebke has meant the very best in automotive services to Fox Cities motorists. Several generations of new drivers have learned to rely upon his skills to keep the ever-more-complex automobiles we drive in tip-top operating condition.

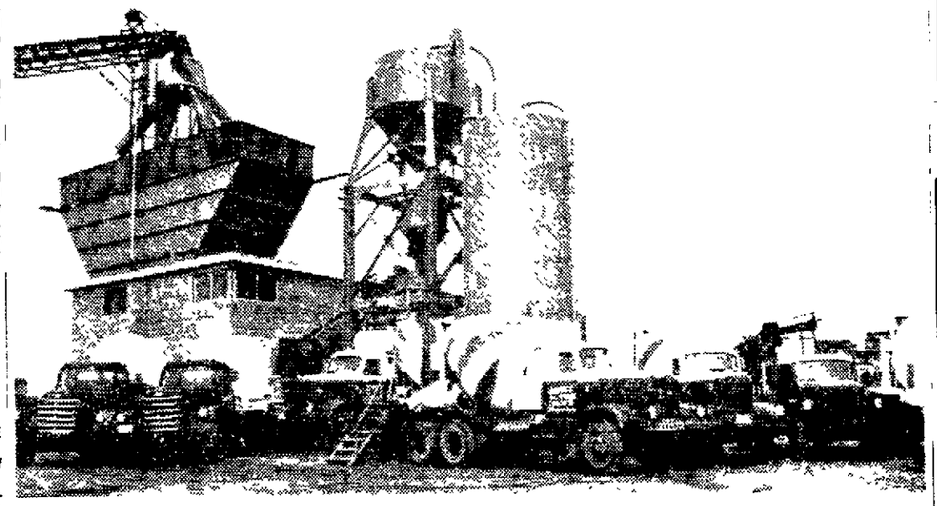
And now, to meet increasing demands for his efforts, and to give him and his expert staff the opportunity to do an even better job in larger and more modern surroundings, Dan Luebke's Cities Service is now open in a brand-new location. His renowned skills as an expert mechanic are now located in the spanking-new station at the corner of County Trunk P and Midway Road. From this centrally-located position, which is extremely easy to get in and out of, the brand of service and products that Dan has so long been associated with can be more readily delivered.

The changeable weather we've been experiencing has probably put an addd strain on your family's car. If it's running "ragged" or seems to have lost some of its pep, chances are you should let Dan look it over and discover the causes of the trouble.

Dan Luebke's Cities Service will check all the vital parts of your automobile . . . and make it just as safe as the driver is. Brakes and the steering apparatus in perfect working order; lubrication and oil at proper operating levels for peak efficiency. Indeed, all possible trouble spots will be carefully inspected and returned to top driving condition.

So, whether you are driving to or from work, or to the Coast to see your relatives you should have your car checked as soon as possible. For your convenience, Dan has pick-up and delivery service for all his busy customers. A quick phone call to 2-2947 will mean that you'll be able to drive carefree the rest of the winter.

If you can't stop in soon, toot your horn and wave as you go past That's Dan Luebke's Cities Service, now in operation at their new location at the intersection of County Trunk P and Midway Road, between Appleton and Menasha.



WE'VE GROWN BIGGER TO SERVE YOU BETTER. The new Schulz Concrete Plant shown above is now in full operation and is ready to serve you promptly and efficiently. Their large fleet of trucks will deliver any amount of concrete. All mixing of aggregates is fully electronically controlled. You are invited to stop in and look over the plant soon. It is located at 3019 Prospect, Appleton.

Signs of the Fox Cities vitality and growth are everywhere. New business firms, bank and savings and loan facilities, and office buildings are either completed or in some stage of construction. Throughout the area, new homes of every style, size and design are going up, while elsewhere in the country, home-building lags. Aiding in this construction boom, and also reflecting it, is the Schulz Ready Mix Concrete plant of Appleton

The firm has been serving the building needs of area construction firms for over 45 years. Sand and gravel aggregates and state inspected and approved Waylite and concrete blocks have been the "cornerstone" of many an important construction project during this period.

Now, again reflecting the growing demand for their finer products, the firm is operating from the new Schulz Ready Mix Concrete Plant to better serve the Fox Cities and surrounding rural areas. Any amount of concrete, large or small, for whatever project is at hand is now readily available for delivery from the plant Its central location at 3019 Prospect Ave., just east of Butte des Morts Golf Course, means that delivery is fast and on time to meet your schedule.

To insure that only quality ready mix concrete is produced, the firm has installed an electronically controlled panel for weighing aggregates. This is the latest panel of its kind in the state It will weigh and blend up to 6 different aggregates for use in one or any number of yards of concrete.

Growing with our Fox Cities. Helping the Fox Cities Grow. That's the Schulz Company. For any of the following, call on Schulz for the finest Ready Mix Concrete, Sand & Gravel and Waylite and Concrete Blocks. A call to RE 4-7733 will do it.

World Trade Policy Needed

State Chief Outagamie Fete Speaker

GREENVILLE — Evidence of considerable foreign government support for export programs and dairy product promotions was found in a recent tour of world trade centers by Percy Hardiman, president of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau.

Speaking to the Outagamie County chapter, Hardiman noted that in England the British National Milk Board spends $95 million for promoting dairy products in England and Wales. This compares to $8 million spent in the United States last year.

The job it has done is indicated, he said, by comparing the 22-pound annual per capita butter consumption there to eight pounds here. He observed that they had perfected a system of packaging sterilized concentrated milk in paper cartons.

English Holsteins

English Holstein cattle are not as large as those in the U.S., he said, and produce less because less quality feed is available for them. Hardiman said he was impressed with the large amount of dairy products used in the British Isles. They produce only 11 per cent of what they consume, he said.

Britain also is a good market for beef not used here such as hearts, lungs, kidneys and tongues. One importer was willing to place an order for 14,000 tons of beef tongue, he said.

The American Farm Bureau operates a trade center at Rotterdam, Holland, largest port in the world. Hardiman said its refrigeration and storage facilities were "fantastic." Eight years ago the organization opened the center to distribute American farm food surpluses. It remains the only U.S. farm organization with such a center, he said.

Changes Needed

Technical changes may be necessary to allow the U.S. to capitalize on the butter market of continental Europe which prefers an unsalted and uncolored product, two main identifying marks of the Wisconsin product. No importer met by the tour group showed any objection to paying a little more for the superior U.S. product, he said.

Due to unstable governments, oil rich Arab shieks have invested their funds in Lebanon,

Fremont Farm Family Will Play Host to German Agriculturist

A Fremont farm family will play host to one of 10 young German men who will be studying U. S. Agricultural practices for the next year in Wisconsin.

Herbert Muller will be staying at the Phillip Neuschafer farm at Fremont. They arrived at the University of Wisconsin in Madison Saturday.

The German trainees will spend the spring and summer working with farm families where they will learn new farming techniques by actually doing them.

This on the farm training is coupled with formal classroom training at the University Farm Short Course which opens in the fall.

Fourth Year

The on-farm training program, now in its fourth year, has proven beneficial for both the trainee and the host family, Wilkinson says. The program is sponsored by the Carl Duisberg Society in Germany and the University Farm Short Course.

Other German students and host families taking part in the program include: Gunther Andert, who will live with the Don Zittlow family of West DePere; Otto Bergmann, staying with the Leonard Peck family of Chippewa Falls; Detlev Desler, who will live with the Peter Senn family of Campbellsport; George Hasenkamp, staying with the Karl Kappelman family, Manitowoc; George Hutzler, who will stay on the Edward McFarland farm in Watertown; Sven Andreas Jarolimek, who will live with the Charles Ling family in Kenosha; Hans-Werner Koeppel, who will work on the Vernon Walters farm in Grand Ridge, Ill.; Joachim Werner, who will work on the Clifford Spees farm in Wautoma and Berno Zimmer, who will live with the Walter Siemers family in Cleveland.

Livestock Show Changed

Entries Limited, No Carcass Test At Calumet Fair

CHILTON — Making the show more educational was the major emphasis of the planning committee for the 1965 Junior Livestock Show. More attention will be given to what the champion animals look like in the meat counter.

Members will be allowed two entries in two species of animals; beef, sheep and swine—no carcass contest will be held. Instead the top 15 per cent of the animals in each class will be slaughtered and put on display the following Saturday for judges, teachers, parents and the exhibitors to see.

Show dates are Sept. 13-15, and the Sept. 18 for viewing the dressed out carcasses. Entries will not be taken in until noon, Sept. 13. All animals are due on the grounds by 5 p.m.

One other change was to have entries in earlier for the show so that catalogs can be sent to the buyers before the show.

The 1965 premium schedule for the county fair also will be given. Training meetings will be outlined and members without project leaders may be able to attend the project lesson with a nearby club. Edwin Koehler of the Chilton Tip Top will serve as judging coach.

11 Delegates Named at Wittenberg District For Badger Meeting

WITTENBERG — Eleven delegates were nominated to attend the annual meeting of Consolidated Badger Cooperative at Shawano May 1 during a district meeting at the high school here.

Named were Anton Morein, Richard Laska, Ray Schoepke, Ervin Kreisel, Arthur Kreisel, Walter Speith, Peter Speith, Lester Alft, Arthur Fenske, hester Groshek, Richard Seefeldt.

Alternates are Daniel Demask, Olin Hagen, Walter Selle and Bernard Christianson. Arthur Fenske was named to the resolutions committee.

Milk Legislation Opposed by Farm Bureau, Farmers Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau and the National Farmers Union opposed today legislation to amend the act authorizing federal milk marketing orders in populated areas.

Percy Hardiman of Madison, Wis., a member of the Farm Bureau board of directors, told a House Agriculture subcommittee the proposed plan could reverse the trend toward higher dairy farm income.

Reuben L. Johnson, representing the Farmers Union, said the legislation is inadequate to answer the problem of low income to dairy farmers. He urged amendments to include producers of manufacturing milk.

Small Step

Charles S. Murphy, under secretary of agriculture, in a letter to the subcommittee has said the proposal if amended properly would represent a small step toward an improved dairy program.

The section of the milk marketing act sought to be amended deals with base - excess plans used in some federal milk marketing orders. This section aims at eliminating seasonal fluctuations in the milk supply and permits adjustments in payments to producers on the basis of their production.

Under the legislation before committee, if a producer with a base were to increase or decrease his marketings, such increase or decrease would be at the surplus price rather than the higher blend price.

Hardiman Testifies

Hardiman said present laws are adequate to permit a gradual improvement in the supply-demand situation for the dairy industry.

In opposing the proposed legislation, Hardimans said it is designed to preserve local markets for those farmers shipping milk during some historical period.

The National Milk Producers Federation, however, supported the similar bills before the committee by Reps. W. R. Poage,

Kraft to Quit Buying Grade A Wittenberg Milk

WITTENBERG — The Kraft Foods Co. has decided to discontinue purchasing Grade A milk, according to a notice sent to its patrons by local Manager Noyce Bullis.

The Kraft market for bulk manufacturing milk is expected to offer more security and dependability to the patrons than a Grade A market would, he explained.

Bullis and fieldmen will be calling on patrons during the next few weeks to personnally discuss Krafts' manufacturing milk program. No Grade A milk will be purchased after April 30.

Lake to Lake Tells Why Order Change Backed

Manager Says Failure to Accept Revised Chicago Rule Would Have Led to Price War

MANITOWOC — Truman Torgerson, general manager of Lake-to-Lake Dairy Cooperative, reported at the annual meeting here Saturday the reasons why the operating cooperatives on the Chicago market voted to accept the ammended milk order.

Torgerson explained that the alternative would have seriously degressed farm incomes because of the inevitable price wars which would result if the Chicago order was thrown out.

Torgerson also hailed the recent shift in policy of the American Dairy Association to use enabling legislation for the collection of ADA funds. Lake-to-Lake has favored in past years a move to use state enabling legislation for the collection of promotional funds so that all dairymen would contribute toward building and maintaining markets for Wisconsin dairy products.

Re-elected to the co-ops board of directors were Lawrence Reinhard, Fish Creek; Cletus Vanderperran, Green Bay; Russell Gasch, Chilton, and James Mertens, Kiel. The delegates also made past board members A. C. Murphy and Myron Schink honorary board members for life.

Lake to Lake had a record year in 1964 with net proceeds of $824,000 from sales of $24 million. Torgerson reported that members had a return of 14.2 per cent on their investment in 1964.

President Albert Mueller, Mishicot, pointed out the importance of developing new products and new markets. He said a cooperative needs good management and loyal and informed members.

Okays Proposals

Delegates approved resolution which: — urged strengthening of the state dairy plant security law to include frequent financial reports, careful inspection and auditing of financial reports and strenthening of bonding requirements.

— Requested more stringent enforcement of dairy plant weighing and testing practices.

— Urged that state legislators pass legislation which would provide that one house of the state legislature would be apportioned other than by population.

— Opposed legislation which would permit the sale of oleomargine in semblance of butter.

Dr. Butz, Dean of Agriculture at Purdue, pointed out that "we in America should be thankful we have a proficient agriculture." With two thirds of the people in the world having a food shortage the American people are praying for more courage to stick to their diets. Butz said it takes 85 per cent of the population in India and 45 per cent of the Russians to feed their people. In the United States we produce in abundance with only 7 per cent of the population farming.

Russ Says:

Raspberries Should be Pruned In Spring to Control Disease

Raspberries should be pruned in the spring before they begin to grow. Proper pruning is the key to improving yields and controlling fungus disease.

All raspberry canes are biennial. They grow the first year, bear fruit the second year and then die.

To prune red raspberries, remove all growth at the ground level except four or five of the largest one-year old canes per hill or foot of row.

The cane tips should be cut off when the canes start to grow in the spring. By waiting until spring you will be able to tell how much winter killing has taken place on the tips of the canes.

If you would like a spray schedule for raspberries, write or call the County Extension Office.

The Wisconsin all-milk price for March is expected to average about $3.40 per hundred weight. This would be 10 cents below the preliminary price for February but slightly above the $3.36 of March 1964.

The value of farm assets on Jan. 1, 1964, was $223.3 billion, up $7.5 billion from a year earlier. Owners equities in these assets totaled $188.4 billion, $4.4 billion more than in 1963.

The three control steps are advocated by the Dutch Elm Disease Advisory Committee to the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture. They are basic sanitation in the removal of diseased and dead elm wood, dormant spraying in either fall or spring and the use of a soil fumigant to prevent the spread of the disease through root grafts.

Hardiman Calls for End Of Hit, Miss Exporting

BY PAT DUFFY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREENVILLE — "The present hit and miss program has got to cease", said Percy Hardiman, State Farm Bureau president, as he told the Outagamie members of results from his recent market hunting sojourn to European and Asian trade centers.

"We've got to know six or eight months in advance what it is going to be so we can get contracts," the featured speaker at the groups annual banquet added.

Hardiman cited the lack of a program as a major stumbling block preventing the United States from tapping the world trade market. Hardiman particularly surveyed prospects for Wisconsin dairy products.

Vast Potential

"There is a vast potential for dairy products in the world markets," he said, "if we go after it."

Another drawback on the market is the program conducted by the Commodity Credit Corporation, the national agency which purchases U. S. farm surplus for distribution abroad.

Both in Rotterdam and Tokyo foreign trade personnel told him they could purchase U.S. made dried skim milk from a CCC warehouse there for six cents a pound, less than half the price offered by the trade mission, he said.

Hardiman expressed the view that if the government would "develop a long range dairy export program it would help alleviate the commodity storage costs and improve the nation's dwindling gold supply."

He warned that the U.S. would become "stagnant" if it did not go after the world market.

Hardiman noted that a number of major farm programs will be expiring this year.

Butter Fight

"For the past 33 years we have had this present program and it has not solved the problem (of overproduction). It is time to get together and create a new program," he asserted.

Commenting on the state butter fight, Hardiman said it would be "better to get rid of stored products through trade rather than pay continual storage costs. All other countries are securing their share of the world dairy market," he said.

The state president called for a halt in federal welfare legislation such as Medicare and federal aid to education on the grounds that it suppressed the individual initiative. "If we don't halt our government will go the way of many before it. The individual has been the prime motivating force in making the U.S. what it is," he concluded.

D-Tex., and Lynn E. Stalbaum, D-Wis.

E. M. Norton, secretary of the Federation, said the base rating plan would be subject to approval by producers in a federal order market and would not affect the level of prices to consumers.

Larue Sears, Belmont, N.Y., chairman of the New York State Grange Dairy Committee, said the organization wants legislation to permit the dairymen to vote on a Class I base surplus plan for selling milk, a standardization law to permit sale of low fat milk, and a law to help prevent disastrous price wars.

Joe Brune, representing the Producers Creamery Company of Springfield, Mo., supported the legislation as did John Schreiber, director of Shawangunk Dairy Co-op, of Accord, N.Y.

Maine's Irish Potato Is King for First Time In 13 Years; Big Crop

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine (AP) — In Maine's Aroostook County, where the Irish potato is king, things are looking up for the first time in 13 years.

The reasons: A larger than usual crop last fall, a poor year in competing potato-growing areas and a good market.

Last fall's crop totaled nearly 40 million hundredweight, an increase of 2.2 million over 1963. The current bulk price to growers is around $6 a barrel—$3.75 more than it costs the farmer to produce a barrel.

Over 65 Join Outagamie Farm Bureau

Members Honored At Yearly Banquet; Hardiman Speaks

GREENVILLE—Over 65 new members joined the Outagamie County Farm Bureau Sunday night at its annual banquet here honoring them

They were welcomed into the organization by Outagamie President Gerald Van Asten, route 2, Kaukauna and Percy Hardiman state Farm Bureau president

Hardiman told the new members they belonged to the largest general farm organization in the state and nation He said members number 23,000 in the state and 1 676 000 nationwide

All Have Place

While admitting all farm organizations had their place in the total agriculture picture, Hardiman contended that the American Farm Bureau more closely resembled thinking of individual farmers

He urged them to be active in the county organization since its programs depended on member participation

"We believe in the freedom and dignity of the individual and less regulations in agriculture," he explained "Let farmers make an organization who best know how to make it one concluded

U. S. Pilots In Dogfights With MIGs

More Marines, Planes to Land In S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy Phantom jets flying top cover for the most massive air strike yet staged against North Viet Nam battled Communist MIGs over the sea 25 miles from Red China's Hainan Island today.

One of the Soviet-built jet fighters possibly was shot down. It was seen disappearing into clouds in flames.

The nationality of the MIGs was not determined, but they were presumed to be North Vietnamese. There was no announcement of any American losses in the air battle.

American authorities announced that two more battalions of U.S. Marines and a squadron of Marine jet fighters will land shortly in Viet Nam, further reinforcing security at Da Nang and at the city of Hue.

A five-man Vietnamese military tribunal sentenced to death the driver of the getaway motorbike in the U.S. Embassy bombing of March 30 despite the Viet Cong's threat to execute a captive U.S. aid mission official, Gustav C. Hertz of Leesburg, Va., in reprisal.

The condemned terrorist is Nguyen Van Hai, 27. There is no appeal from the tribunal's sentence, but Chief of State Phan Kac Suu could commute it.

About 220 U.S Air Force and Navy planes raided North Vietnamese bridges in this 20th such operation against military targets of the Hanoi regime since Feb. 7 The greatest number previously involved on a single day was about 160 on March 2.

U.S. authorities announced ground fire felled one plane, a Navy A4D Skyhawk, but said the pilot was rescued. Radio Peking declared eight of the raiders were shot down.

With the report on the Skyhawk, American announcements show a loss of 27 planes — U.S. and South Vietnamese — during the 20 strikes north of the border. The Communists now claim their gunners have downed 165.

Johnson Health Care Bill Passed By House

Most People Will Benefit If Law Passes

Inclusion Is Automatic if Person Over 65

WASHINGTON (AP) — What would be in it for you if the new Social Security-health bill passed Thursday night by the House is approved also by the Senate and signed into law by President Johnson?

Something, now or later, unless you're a very exceptional case. If you are 65 or older there can be a great deal. If you are still working, probably more taxes to pay next year.

All this, of course, is based on the assumption that the Senate passes the bill and that its final form is not much different from its present shape.

If you are 65 or older, you come in automatically under a new hospitalization plan. It doesn't matter whether you are drawing Social Security or ever have, or even whether you are working If you are not a recently arrived alien or a retired federal employe eligible for similar benefits, you are covered.

Hospital Plan

The hospital plan would take effect July 1, 1966 It provides up to 60 days in a hospital and up to 20 days recuperation in a nursing home for each illness. If

Substitute Rejected by Big Margin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's $6-billion health care-Social Security bill has swept through the House by a margin of almost 3 to 1 and Senate approval is expected within eight weeks. The House passed the historic measure — the greatest revision and expansion of the Social Security system in its three decades of existence — by a 313-115 vote Thursday night after rejecting a Republican substitute by a much closer vote, 236 to 191.

Republicans argued the plan to provide comprehensive health services for older Americans and to boost retirement benefits should be financed primarily by the general Treasury. Democrats contended the bill's way is best — boosting the pay roll tax on employers and employes. The House is overwhelmingly Democratic and the Democrats won.

Wide Margin

The GOP leadership then freed individual Republicans from the restraint of a party position. So, even though GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan voted against the Democratic administration's bill, it carried by the wide margin of almost 3 to 1.

The two key votes went this way: On substituting the Republican bill, 128 Republicans and 63 Democrats were on the losing side, bowing to 226 Democrats and 10 Republicans.

On final passage of the administration bill, 248 Democrats and 65 Republicans triumphed over 42 Democrats and 73 Republicans.

Johnson said the House action "demonstrates once again the vitality of our democratic system in responding to the needs and will of the people."

First Step

The first step on the Senate side is a round of hearings before the Finance Committee. The chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said it will not be able to take up the measure until after the Easter recess, scheduled for April 15-21.

Preliminary plans, Byrd said, are for the committee to have two or three days general briefing sessions with officials of the departments concerned immediately after the recess and begin public hearings probably the following week.

A committee member, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said the Record Crest Expected

La Crosse Bracing For Continued Rise In Mississippi River

LA CROSSE (AP) — With three island areas already cleared of residents, this Mississippi River city of about 50,000 was braced for a continued rise that was expected to send the river over the 12-foot flood stage today and on to a record crest

The more than 100 families living on Pettibone, Green and French islands completed Thursday an exodus that began Wednesday afternoon. A few were assisted to high ground and quarters with relatives by Army Reserve units under the direction of the Red Cross

Island Residents

The Red Cross thanked island residents for averting possible emergency situations by leaving ahead of the rising water. The spring departure is old hat to islanders who are forced to high ground nearly every year.

The La Crosse County sheriff's department said Pettibone Island was entirely under water Thursday night And as the water lapped over an island park, La Crosse State University fraternity members joined in beefing up a sand bag wall to keep the water out of a nearby motel.

Record Crest

Gov Warren P Knowles on Thursday asked State Adjutant Gen Ralph Olson to keep him informed of the situation at La Crosse because the National Guard would not be able to participate in any operations until the governor had declared a state of emergency.

The governor made the request as the river climbed to 11 9 feet, and the local U.S. Weather Bureau forecast that it would hit 12 feet, or flood stage today. The forecast said the river would reach 12.4 feet on Saturday and 12 7 on Sunday.

The U S Corps of Engineers said Thursday that La Crosse could expeect an all-time high crest of about 17.3 feet "or a little more" by about April 22. The warning revised an earlier

Minnesota Flood Worst in History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst Minnesota flood in history drove 5,000 more residents of the Mankato area from their homes today.

The mass flight today occurred as the Minnesota river raged 10 feet above flood stage and officials feared it might burst through sandbag dikes

Rivers swollen by rapid snowmelt in fair and mild weather churned through streets, homes and fields in other sections of Minnesota and Iowa.

The Red Cross estimated more than 9,000 persons have been forced from their homes by flooding in Minnesota—7,500 in the Mankato area. Flood refugees in Iowa were estimated at 2,000.

More than 100 families have been removed from island homes as the Mississippi River rose menacingly at La Crosse Wis

The U.S. weather bureau predicted one of the worst flood seasons in many years.

Denmark Observes Invasion Anniversary

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Flags flew at half-staff across the nation and thousands of Danes observed two minutes of silence today to mark the 25th anniversary of the German invasion of Denmark.

Accused Spy to Fly to Virginia

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Accused spy James Allen Mintkenbaugh will be flown to Richmond, Va., Saturday to face charges he sold U.S. defense secrets to the Soviet Union.

Mintkenbaugh, 46, was indicted in an alleged plot along with his former Army buddy, Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, 43, at Richmond by a federal grand jury.

Both men were arrested last Monday, Mintkenbaugh in California, Johnson in Virginia.

Two American Ministers

Castro Government Holding 60 Baptists for Espionage

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro government is holding 47 Baptist preachers — including two Americans — and 13 laymen as spies for the United States.

A spokesman for the Western Cuba Baptist Convention said two-thirds of the Baptist ministers in western Cuba are in jail.

Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer, who handles U.S. interests in Cuba, has not been permitted to see the arrested men.

Americans Identified

The Americans are the Rev. Herbert Caudill, 61, head of the convention and a missionary here the past 35 years; and his son-in-law; the Rev. James David Fite, 31, of Waynesboro, Ga.

Their wives and relatives of the other men were notified they would be able to visit the prisoners next Tuesday.

Mrs. Caudill refused Thursday night to comment on her husband's arrest except to remark that they had "not faced any trouble before in Cuba and were dedicated to teaching and preaching."

Seven Arrested

Cuban authorities picked up seven ministers in outlying provinces some days ago. Thursday at dawn, raiding parties searched homes and churches in the Havana area, rresting 40 preachers and the 13 laymen.

Caudill was arrested at the Baptist Seminary in Havana, where he lived and taught.

Cuba's government radio charged that Caudill and the other churchmen, "working under the cloak of religion, organized a counterrevolutionary group for missions of espionage and subversion."

Cardinal Meyer Dies After Long Illness at 62

CHICAGO (AP)—Albert Cardinal Meyer, 62, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, died today. He had undergone cancer surgery Feb. 25.

The prelate, head of the largest Catholic community in the United States, began sinking last week after showing some signs of improvement from the operation in which a malignant tumor the size of a large walnut was removed from his brain.

Earlier he had been taken off intravenous feeding and fed by tube. For a day or two he was unable to take soft nourishment normally.

28 Miners Die In Japan Mine

TOKYO (AP) — Twenty-eight miners perished in a coal mine explosion and cave-in today on a small island near Nagasaki. Rescue workers dug without much hope for two missing men.

One hundred and seventy-seven miners were working in the mine when the explosion occurred.

Rabbits Help Cuban Shortage of Meat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Fidel Castro government is reported turning to rabbits to help offset a meat shortage.

The Cuban Economists Association in Exile said rabbits on a farm established in eastern Cuba had multiplied from 150 to 615 in four months.

The government was so heartened it started three new bunny ranches, the report added.

Tension Had Eased

Communists Close Autobahn Again

BERLIN (AP) — The Berlin autobahn was closed again tonight just when Communist pressures on the isolated city appeared to be easing.

The Communists had left the highway open in the morning.

This was the first time that traffic was stopped since Thursday night on the 110-mile lifeline connecting the city with the West.

East German army officers showed up in several trucks and jeeps a few yards from the Western checkpoint outside Berlin. They unloaded a temporary barrier and promptly at 6 p.m. It was placed across the four-lane highway.

At Helmstedt the western end of the autobahn East German border guards lowered the barriers at the same time.

A U.S military convoy of four vehicles and nine men was cleared for West Berlin without trouble. Civilian traffic moved in both directions.

No Explanations

The Communists offered no explanation for the change in procedure. For the past four days they have closed down the autobahn every morning at 9 a.m. for three or four hours.

There was still a possibility, however, that the Communists would close the autobahn later in the day. A Soviet officer told newsmen Thursday night in Helmstedt that the daily shutdowns would continue until Soviet-East German military maneuvers end on Sunday.

There was a marked slowdown on traffic entering the West German end of the 110-mile superhighway. Trucks were backed up for 7 miles at the Helmstedt checkpoint and were waiting 27 to 28 hours before going through the Communist controls.

100 Vehicles

About 100 cars were lined up at Helmstedt. The waiting period for them was three to four hours.

The intermittent blockade of Berlin traffic that began Monday posed a challenge to the United States, Britain and France to take counter measures which could create a new East-West crisis but so far the Western Allies confined themselves to protests.

"The longer the harassment goes on, the more serious the situation created by the harassment will be," a State Department spokesman said in Washington.

Basic Steel Pact Talks Deadlocked

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Crucial basic steel contract talks are deadlocked with the industry blaming the impasse on union internal troubles. The United Steelworkers denies this publicly, but privately some of its top men say it is so.

There could be a nationwide steel strike May 1.

I. W. Abel, union secretary-treasurer, reportedly has defeated incumbent President David J. McDonald by several thousand votes in a power struggle rare for a major union.

McDonald, 62, has been president for 12 years. He says he gave up a promising Hollywood career to join the labor movement back in the 1930s. Abel is 56, earthy, forceful, a product of Ohio steel mills and the rough-and-tumble days of early organizing.

The union's international tellers must report a winner by May 1.

No Court Tests

Amendment to School Bill Killed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today turned back an amendment to the $1 3-billion school bill to permit suits testing the constitutionality of aid for religious schools.

The amendment, feared by the bill's sponsors as the roughest obstacle in their drive to pass it without change, was defeated 53 to 32

Top Priority

The vote apparently cleared the way for passage of the top-priority bill later in the day without change, as President Johnson has been urging.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chief sponsor of the amendment, argued that there was serious question whether the aid for private schools in the bill violated the First Amendment to the Constitution.

But, he said, without his amendment it was likely the federal courts would hold that an individual taxpayer had no standing to sustain a suit rising the constitutional question.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., floor manager for the bill, pleaded for defeat of Ervin's proposal.

Indefinite Delay

He declared "it could tie this bill up in litigation for five to seven years and delay indefinitely the aid for five million deprived children that is so badly needed."

Morse declared that court tests of the sort sought by Ervin already were in the making. For one thing, a Maryland case challenging constitutionality of aid to sectarian colleges is now on its way to the Supreme Court, he said.

Morse announced that he would sponsor separate legislation to authorize federal court tests of all U.S. aid programs affecting private schools.

Silver Supplies Critical

Uranium in Every Coin?

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you take the silver out of dimes, quarters, halves and cartwheels, what do you use instead?

It's a question that must soon be answered, because silver supplies are reaching a crisis stage. And it's a question that gets different answers from mining men, vending machine interests and economists. Such silver substitutes as nickel, stainless steel, and the metal columbium have been suggested.

But the prize for the most original suggestion of all has to go to Rep. Craig Hosmer, Calif.

Hosmer proposes a dab of uranium in each coin — depleted uranium, of course, so the money wouldn't burn a hole in anyone's pocket.

Hosmer reasoned this way in an interview: One of the main dangers in lowering the hoarders would instantly put eliminating it entirely, is that hoarders would instantly put every silver dime, quarter and half dollar in the country in an old sock under the mattress on the theory that the old coins are worth more.

This would be following that old economic saw called Gresham's Law — bad money drives out good money. It could cause monetary chaos.

But, Hosmer said, the Treasury could artificially peg the price of depleted uranium at exactly the price of silver, so that each of the new coins would be worth exactly as much as the old ones, and no one would be tempted to hoard silver coins or melt them down.

Radioactive? Not so, said Hosmer, who is a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. The depleted uranium, or U238, would have no more radioactivity than the family television set, he said.

And the beautiful part, according to Hosmer, is that the United States has a big supply of depleted uranium, a byproduct of the manufacture of nuclear weapons. And since other countries don't make the stuff, they can't throw the U.S. monetary standard out of kilter by selling a lot of it.

"You could really stop counterfeiters too," Hosmer said. "You could keep the same size coins, and also the same electrical characteristics upon which coin rejection devices are based."

Frost Reported Six Feet Down

MADISON (AP) — The deepest frost of the winter in Wisconsin — 72 inches — was reported at Fall Creek in Eau Claire County, the State U.S. Snow-Frost Depth Summary noted today.

Six other areas had 60 inches. They were Spooner, Antigo, Baldwin, Almond, Amherst and Marshfield.

Low temperatures in recent weeks have resulted in only moderate changes in frost penetrations in all areas of the state, the report said.

Chilton Council Considers Reassessment of Property

Move Would Get Rid of Inequities

CHILTON — A proposal to reassess the city's real and personal property took on new significance Wednesday night when Herman Helz, state supervisor of assessments discussed the procedure with the council. He explained that many surrounding communities have reassessed recently to get rid of inequities between old and newer properties Often it hapens, he said that newer properties are evaluated at 100 per cent, while older properties fall short, or that older properties devaluate and, therefore, are assessed at more than their actual value.

Helz said the state would give the city any help it needed in its reapportionment effort

Regularly Reapportion

Some communities, he continued, have a standing policy of regular reapportionment

Benefits to the community usually are far greater than the expense, Helz said He also said that the higher a community's assessment, the higher the credit rating for bond issues becomes.

A study has shown that approximately 95 per cent of all reassessments originate within the governing body of the municipalities and that very few are initiated by complaints from individual property owners

Also present at the meeting was James R. Laird, Appleton, speaking on behalf of his appraisal company.

Laird cited examples from other communities which showed that after a reassessment most properties increase only slightly if at all. Some actually go down due to depreciation and some increase according to their market value.

Refer Bids

Bids from Laird's and three other companies were referred to the finance committee who will make its recommendation at the next meeting.

Walter Muehl, director of public works, reported that the second test well being drilled on the Howard Koehler property on County Trunk Y east of Gravesville in the Town of Charlestown seems favorable. Drillers have gone down 150 feet and expect

Church Looter Gets Jail Term

WAUPACA — An Illinois man, believed to have stolen more than $15,000 from churches throughout the United States and Mexico, has been sentenced to serve one year in Waupaca County Jail.

Lawrence L. Vieau, 33, Chicago Heights, was found guilty of two counts of petty theft when he appeared Wednesday in Municipal Justice Court

Consecutive Sentences

Accepting the recommendation, Municipal Justice George Whalen fined Vieau $200 and costs on each of the charges. When he was unable to pay the fine Justice Whalen sentenced him to six months in the county jail on each of the charges and ordered that the sentences be served consecutively.

Vieau had pleaded innocent of the charges when he was arraigned last week. At his trial Wednesday, where he elected to defend himself, he was found guilty after an 18-year-old Michigan woman testified she had been with Vieau when he took money from the two Waupaca County churches.

At St. Rose Church, Clintonville, $4 was taken from a candle money box and at St. Mary Church, Marion, $1 in cash was taken along with a pair of binoculars and a camera. The thefts occurred Oct. 14, 1964.

Other Sentences

Vieau, along with two woman companions, later was apprehended in Wisconsin Rapids where thefts also were committed. Before Vieau was brought to trial in Waupaca, he served 60 days in jail for petty theft in Wood County and another 60 days in Lincoln County.

The Michigan woman, Mrs Gale Holbrook, Carp Lake, Mich., also served a 60-day sentence in Wood County She testified Wednesday that Vieau kept a detailed record of his thefts so he would not take more than $100 in any one county and, therefore, could not be charged with anything other than petty theft.

Upon entering a church, she said, they would drop a coin in the candle box and, if it struck other coins, Vieau would force open the lock and take the money when no one was looking.

When Vieau is released from the Waupaca County Jail he will be turned over to authorities in Marinette County where he will be charged with 10 counts of petty theft.

Appleton Council Begins Annexation Of Old Airport

Action Taken After Petition Is Sent by Outagamie Board

Annexation of the old Outagamie County Airport was started by the Appleton City Council Wednesday night.

Aldermen were unanimous in instructing the city attorney to draft the necessary ordinance to bring the 182 acres into the city

The council took action after receiving a petition for annexation from the Outagamie County Board recently

It had been submitted at the urging of local and regional planning officials who felt the old airport property should be properly zoned before being sold.

Hopes to Sell

The county board hopes to sell the property and apply the proceeds to the cost of the new airport in Greenville

In following the normal annexation process, it will take several weeks before the old port becomes a part of the city

The land is located east of Ballard Road and south of Northland Avenue.

The council also:

—Gave final approval to purchasing 12 acres of land for a school site from Dr. E. F. Mielke, providing annexation proceedings are started by him to attach all his property in the Town of Harrison to Appleton and pay all special assessments for improvements.

—Authorized payment of $4,860 to Warzyn Engineering Co., Madison, for a recent study of the soil and foundation of the vocational school building which indicated there was nothing structurally defective.

Concession Stand Okayed

—Approved construction of a concession stand at Meade Park pool for $2,731, awarding the contract to Al Utschig and Son —Purchased a street paint striping machine for the police department at a cost of $1,091.

—Voted to continue its present "soft policy" on truckers loading and unloading in the downtown area until the public safety committee and truckers work out a solution to College Avenue freight handling problems

—Referred back to committee a recommendation that a radio communications system be purchased from Motorola, Inc for the department of public works at a cost of $8,789

—Granted the Chicago North Western Railway Co. permission to construct two additional tracks across Perkins Street, providing state statute and public service commission rules are met.

Unopposed were Albert Sether, chairman Marshall Zaug, supervisor, and W. F. Polk, clerk.

A zoning ordinance was adopted as recommended by a committee headed by Gordon Zietlow

Dupont Township

Carl Mehlberg edged Gordon Gruenstern 30-28 for the Town of Dupont justice of peace post vacated by incumbent Lester Schoenick. It was the only town contest.

Unopposed were Chariman Lester Bork, Clerk Manfred Schaatschneider, Assessor Julius Marquardt, Supervisor Victor Knaack, Supervisor Emil Bork, Treasurer Carlyle Piehl and Constable John Wilde

Grant Township

Incumbent supervisors easily turned back opposition in the Town of Grant Rein Maluegg beat Al Ankerson 106-48 and Ben Pockat trimmed Milton Maluegg 80-46 It was the only town contest.

Unopposed incumbents were Chairman Martin Radtke, Clerk Jim Brunner, Treasurer Clarence Olson, Assessor Earl Miller and Constable Ed Westphal.

Plan Commission, Council Approve Waupaca City Map

$4,000 Fund Will Finance Survey Work

WAUPACA — An official city map, which is part of the planning program now underway in Waupaca, was approved Wednesday during meetings of the planning commission and city council

The council approved a $4,000 appropriation to finance survey and plan work on Churchill and W. Fulton streets.

The official map outlines future streets, roadways and parks. A public hearing on the map is set for May 4.

The improvement of Churchill and Fulton streets is part of an urban development program which the city applied for in 1962. Through the use of state and federal funds, the city will have to pay only $29,000 for $170,000 worth of construction work.

Planning, Survey Costs

Funds approved Wednesday are for planning and survey work being paid for by the city. The city will pay 15 per cent and the state 85 per cent of the construction work. The two improved streets will connect with exits from the new U S 10 belt line now under construction.

Churchill Street will be reconstructed from Royalton Street to Evans Street and will cost an estimated $110,000 Cost to the city, including the $4,000 for survey and planning, will be $20,800 and the state share will be $95,200

One of the provisions of the agreements with the state is that the city must install all trunk line sewers before construction starts and assumes the cost of private entrance reconstruction and sidewalk alterations.

The Fulton Street project will run from Morton Street to the west city limits and calls for curb and gutter and full width pavement. Right-of-way will have to be purchased to install the new street. Costs of purchasing the added footage will be shared on 50-50 basis. Right-of-way costs have been estimated at $1,000 and the total cost at $54,000. Waupaca's share will be $8,450 and the state willl pay $45,550.

Proposal Withdrawn

Mayor Lloyd Matheson informed the council he conferred with Police Chief Fred Rasmussen and reached a decision to withdraw the proposal to Waupaca County to have city police headquarters in the new jail when it is built

Matheson said if the city police moved it would mean that someone would be needed to man the fire phone from 4 p.m to midnight.

"Nothing would be gained in the move," he said, "except the police would have new walls to look at."

The mayor appeared before the jail committee earlier in the day and informed members that the city was no longer interested in having police offices in the new jail, even if it was built downtown

Armory Available

"Within the next couple of years the Armory may be available for city offices" Matheson said, "and at that time all of the departments will be moved"

The mayor added that when jail discussions were first started, the joint city-county building proposal would have been a good idea, but the county will only allow the city space for police.

Both the police and fire departments should be together, he said.

Motorist Nabbed At Roadblock Forfeits $100

CHILTON—A Chilton motorist halted at a police roadblock after a high-speed chase forfeited $100 bond to New Holstein Municipal Justice Court on a reckless driving charge.

Charles Mader, 26, 448 Reed St., was arrested at 12.30 a.m. March 30 on S. Madison Street here after being pursued by police from New Holstein.

A New Holstein policeman said he attempted to stop Mader at the intersection of State 57 and Wisconsin Avenue in New Holstein. Mader later told the authorities he did not see the flashing red light on the New Holstein police vehicle.

Solons Squelch Saloon Statute

MADISON — A bill to lift Wisconsin's ban on the use of the word "saloon" finally met defeat in the Assembly Thursday.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Harold Froehlich of Appleton, and suggested by Sunday Post-Crescent columnist Tom Richards, was defeated 62-30 at 6:30 p.m

Influential lobbies had opposed the bill.

Continuing 'Saloon' Battle

Strange Liquor Laws Not Confined to One State

BY S. A. LOON
Post-Crescent Special Correspondent

MADISON — The Tavern League of Wisconsin, in its battle to block passage of a bill which would allow saloons in the state to be called "saloons," is circulated a list of strange liquor laws in other states.

The league is distributing the list apparently to show that if other states have silly laws so should Wisconsin, veteran statehouse observers said.

In Appleton, Tom Richards, Sunday Post-Crescent columnist who inspired the bill, said, "Maybe the Tavern League has something there. Wisconsin can have laws just as foolish as those anywhere else."

Among laws the league cites are these:

In Current, Neb., if there is a spot on the bartender's coat, the owner is subject to a fine.

Can't Climb Tree

In Council Bluffs, Iowa, it is illegal for an intoxicated person to climb a tree or play baseball.

In Kentucky, it is illegal to drink on any unlicensed premise, and therefore in one's own home.

In Suasalito, Calif., it is against the law to get drunk without the permission of the board of supervisors

California also prohibits advertising liquor in letters more than six inches high

San Francisco law prohibits riding a horse into a saloon.

In Coolidge, Ariz., it is illegal to drink from a bottle.

In St. Louis, it is illegal to sit on a curb drinking beer from a bucket

Nebraska saloon owners cannot sell beer unless they have a pot of soup on the stove.

Cushing, Okla , prohibits drinking in one's underwear

Dupont, Penn., has a statute ruling that intoxicated persons must drink a sizable dose of castor oil

In Chicago, it is illegal to give a dog a drink, and in Natchez, Miss , it is illegal to give a drink to an elephant.

Gloucester, Mass., forbids bartenders from serving anyone not fully clothed.

In Tallahassee, Fla., as long as a drunk conducts himself like a gentleman, he is immune from arrest.

In North Carolina, one cannot buy a drink within two miles of a place where public speaking is taking place.

This list of laws elsewhere had been distributed to each member of the Wisconsin Legislature.

New London OKs Transfer of Funds To National Bank

One Dissenting Vote in Disputed Shift of $156,804 in City Money

NEW LONDON — The city council Wednesday approved by a 9-1 vote the transfer of $156,804.45 in funds from the First State Bank to the New London National Bank. Only Ald. Matt Burton (5th) dissented.

Funds transferred represented regular savings and certificates of deposit.

Much of the meeting was occupied by W. A. Bender, New London National Bank, Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce representative who said he was not satisfied with the way the council had handled the appropriation of city funds. He said it would be difficult for the bank to pay the interest on the money because it was a time deposit.

Ald. Jerome Zaug (1st), finance committee chairman, said his committee had been treated like a football in the entire dealings on apportioning funds to bonds.

Bender also asked the council to provide $750 to sponsor the cost of fireworks for the July 4 celebration. He said the Jaycees had been conducting the display on their own, but because of the expense, would be unable to continue.

The fireworks display this year will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber, he said. Mayor Wilmer Schlafer referred the request to the park committee for study and recommendation to the council.

Road Markers

A request that the city replace stop signs, paint posts and repair other road markers was turned over to the traffic and safety committee for a recommendation at the April 2[illegible] council meeting.

Bender said the Chamber of Commerce was sponsoring a cleanup campaign May 1 to 5 and would like to have the city participate. The city has held a similar project annually.

It has recently been discovered that the sewage disposal plant being operated under the direction of the board of health is in conflict with a 1954 ordinance. The plant falls under the jurisdiction of the board of public works in the ordinance.

The apparent reason for the sewage treatment plant being handled by the board of health is the state bookkeeping system lists the expenses under the health heading.

Contact League

City Clerk Melva Rickaby was instructed to ask the League of Municipalities for a ruling. Mayor Schlafer appointed Alds. Grace Stern (3rd), chairman of board of health Gilbert Kroll (1st), chairman of board of public works: Works Director Ray Pelishek, Mrs. Rickaby and City Attorney Sigurd W. Krostue to study the problem and recommend a solution.

Land acquisition along Liberty Road from Frank M. Daniels for $1,200 was approved. The money will be taken from the industrial promotions fund. Plans are to use the land for a rubbish dumping area.

The board of public works recommendation regarding a request from residents along Werner-Allen Road for curb and gutter or the specifications so they could do the work will be made at the next council meeting.

The council voted to pay the expenses of city personnel to attend the building and fire inspectors forum in Rhinelander, April 21-23.

Federals Win At Waupaca

High School Sets Delegation for Government Day

WAUPACA — In a high school general election Tuesday to pick officials for the County Government Day, the Federalist party swept over the Nationalists.

Federalist officials named were Ed Bonnell, sheriff; Linda Wacek, clerk; Janis Behm, treasurer; Jay Diley, district attorney; David Holmes, register of deeds; Jon Anderson, coroner, and Rick Riddle, judge.

They will take part in the county government day at the Waupaca courthouse April 26. The program, which is designed to acquaint high school students with county government, is sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary. Schools from Waupaca, Clintonville, Manawa, New London, Iola-Scandinavia, Marion and Weyauwega will participate.

This is the first year county supervisors have been elected at the schools. In Waupaca, Robert Roe, with 130 votes, and Jim Nicewander, with 90 votes, were the top two in a field of seven candidates.

Affects on Calumet County

Reapportionment Bill Discussed at Potter

POTTER — Louis Huibregtse, Brillion, chairman of the Calumet County Board of Supervisors, led a panel discussion on the new reapportionment bill and how it will affect this county when the Calumet County Federation of Republican Women met in Potter this week.

Huibregtse, who has served nine years as chairman of the board and 21 years as supervisor, told how this new "one man-vote" program will equalize the population a supervisor serves. Calumet County will fall into the smallest size of the four categories with its 22,000 population. It will require 21 supervisors (there are now 24) unless the county grows to 25,000 residents by 1970. If so, 31 supervisors will be needed.

"A big job lies ahead for Wisconsin counties which are passing legislation to enable them to do their own reapportioning," he said. The 1960 census figures will be used and the newly set up areas cannot cross any town, village or county line.

Program chairman, Mrs. Daniel Butler, Appleton, explained the makeup of county government and its various offices in her topic, "Functions of County Government."

The Calumet County Federation of Republican Women will be allowed nine delegates and alternates at the April 30 and May 1 state convention in Kenosha, it was announced. A $9 fee for reservations must be paid by April 25. Members who are interested in attending can contact Mrs. Mark Everix or Mrs. Delores Spykerman at Chilton.

Mrs. Spykerman was named to the credentials committee for the Sixth District Convention which was held in Sheboygan Falls Wednesday, April 8. She and Mrs. Everix attended the executive board meeting there and will give a report at the next Women's Federation meeting May 4 in Altona, New Holstein. A 12:30 p.m. luncheon will precede the business meeting. Members who will attend must make reservations with their area chairman one week in advance.

Either Appleton or Harrison will be the site of the June meeting.

Track Squad at Bonduel Has 11 Lettermen

Defending CWC Champs Paced by Joe Rueckert

BONDUEL — Forty-two boys have reported for varsity track practice at Bonduel High School, according to Rush Niles, Athletic Director.

Niles, also track coach, has 11 lettermen returning this year. They are Joe Ruecker, pole vault, high jump and broad jump; Tom Luepke and Joe Roloff, hurdlers; Terry Van Vuren and Myron Page, milers; Arnie Pitt, 440-yard dash; Ron Heinz and Larry Mehlberg, dashes and relays; John Brodhagen, half-mile; and Duane Kroening and John Wengryzn, high jump.

Rueckert, most valuable player and leading point-getter for the Bears last year with 104 points is a three-event man. His best efforts in those events last year were 11 feet, 6 inches in the pole vault, 20 feet, 11 inches in the broad jump, and 5 feet 9 inches in the high jump.

The Bear track squad, winners of the Central Wisconsin Conference title last year and champion eight of the last 12 years in the league, will open their season at home in a dual meet with Pulaski Tuesday. Bonduel will be competing in the Northeastern Conference this year.

People Want Lotteries

The overwhelming approval of a change in Wisconsin's constitutional prohibition on legislation authorizing "any lottery" is a strong indication that a lot of Wisconsin citizens may see some hypocrisy in our anti-gambling status.

There is still some confusion over exactly what should be done now to make the obvious intent of the majority of voters into reality. The Wisconsin constitution simply states that the legislature shall not authorize any lottery. The referendum asked whether the section of the constitution should "be amended so that Wisconsin citizens can participate, unless the legislature provides otherwise, in any lottery in which the only consideration tendered by the participant consists of listening to or watching a television or radio program, filling out a coupon or entry blank with or without proof of purchase, or visiting a mercantile establishment or other place without being required to make a purchase or pay an admittance fee." Presumably this means that the particular section will be changed in simply defining what is not to be considered a lottery.

The opposition to the change in what has amounted to almost an absolute prohibition against gambling stressed the dangers of opening the doors to racketeers and vice ridden machines which follow gambling like vultures. The authorized change would not appear to create any danger of doing this. There hardly seems to be much opportunity for large scale graft or payoffs in the authorized contests. It is unlikely that racketeers or vice rings are going to be lured by them.

But the change will serve once again to emphasize the problem always involved in legislation to regulate morals. Presumably, in an effort to avoid gangster involvement, Wisconsin's constitutional prohibition is aimed at protecting us from gangster elements rather than from ourselves. But this immediately will bring up again the struggle for bingo and other such contests with a monetary consideration when operated by church or fraternal organizations with little chance of control by crime syndicates. And the approved referendum, by authorizing participation "with or without proof of purchase" would appear to open doors to future monetary considerations. These would need other approval by legislatures and through referendum.

But it just may be that if enough housewives find a lot of enjoyment out of the Illinois state line bingo games, there will be renewed pressure upon the legislature to put a wider change up to the voters.

Rothwell's Victory

In all probability we should applaud the rather easy victory of Superintendent of Public Instruction Angus Rothwell over his opponent But actually we are really considerably concerned that more than a hundred thousand people actually cast their votes for the opponent who was so clearly unqualified for the office.

Part of the vote against Rothwell, it must be suspected, is due to something that he is obviously not responsible for. In the Chilton area, for instance, the vote was almost even for both Rothwell and Wollenberg. We must suspect that a lot of residents were upset by the ruling that buses owned by the public school district could not haul parochial school pupils. But this ruling is not Rothwell's fault. It is the result of the interpretation of the Wisconsin constitutional requirement of separation of church and state made by the Wisconsin Supreme Court. And it also reflects the decision some years ago by the majority of Wisconsin voters not to ease the constitutional provision.

We may well hope that a future referendum, after the required approved votes by two sessions of the legislature, will change the constitution since this newspaper has always held that school bus transportation should be considered an aid to the child and not to the church. But we are concerned that through ignorance or religious prejudice, a number of Wisconsin voters indicated a real lack of concern about the operation of the extremely important department of public instruction.

Salute to Retiring Aldermen

Call it human nature or what you will, but too often residents of a community are inclined to take for granted the many years of service some public officials put in to make their home town a better place in which to live.

Because there is a tendency to forget their contributions and recall the controversial matters, it seems fitting that a few commendable adjectives be devoted to the conscientious efforts of retiring Alds Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th), Robert Stumpf (9th), Kenneth Loos (3rd) and E. V Krueger (11th).

Mrs Stillings and Loos were defeated in their bids for reelection while Stumpf and Krueger did not seek reelection

During her 13 years on the council, Mrs Stillings without a doubt was one of the city's hardest working aldermen. She served on all major committees and did not hesitate to speak her piece on matters of importance As a result she at times found herself in the center of controversy.

However while there were disagreements on some issues over the years, Mrs. Stillings was a consistent advocate of good, efficient government and sound planning to meet the present and future growth problems of Appleton As a member of the Personnel and Welfare - Ordinance Committees and the Plan Commission, Mrs. Stillings played a major role in having the municipal pay plan updated, outmoded ordinances recodified and sound planning practices adopted.

It was not an easy task to be the only woman to serve on the Common Council but when all the pluses and minuses are added up, the record will show that Dorothy Stillings contributed considerable time, talent and intelligence in her role as a public servant.

Before becoming an alderman, Krueger served as a member of the Board of Education. For five years, Stumpf was chairman of the all-important public safety committee which tackled many major problems And as chairman of the Street-Sanitation Committee and Council President, Ald. Loos had a key role in the reconstruction of the city's inadequate underground sewer system and adoption of an improved trash collection program during the past year

All deserve recognition for their years of public service while on the firing line of public opinion.

Profits in Russian Cattle

There must be a catch to Izvestia's report that Russian farmers and others in rural areas can buy cows and calves on credit

The move was made in an effort to end shortages in dairy and meat products. Within its scope, it appears to be a return to the capitalistic system The Soviet tax system does not call for confiscatory levies on income to the same degree as the revenues of this country, but leans more to sales taxes So unless there's some undisclosed fine print in the change, private traders in Russian cattle stand to gain proportionately more than their American counterparts

If the plan works in Russia it appears almost certain to be extended to more and more produce and products. It has always worked well here.

Charges City Council Violated State Anti-Secrecy Law Feb. 17

Editor, Post-Crescent:

With reference to your editorial on March 30, 1965 entitled "Improving the State Anti-Secrecy Law," it would appear that you are either oblivious of the actions of our city government, or intentionally gave the Appleton city government a coat of "white wash"

Your editorial said in part . . ."The State Legislature is considering an important amendment to the state's anti-secrecy law. . .The present law provides that legislative bodies such as city councils. . can meet in purivate executive session to consider certain specific subjects outlined in the law. . .but, in some areas of the state, government bodies have been taking advantage of this loophole to discuss other business in private and on some occasions to take formal action. . .The amendment to the law provides that before a body can go into executive session there must be a public announcement of the business to be discussed. . The Post-Crescent was asked by the Wisconsin Daily Newpaper League to cite instances in this area where the present anti-secrecy law had been abused. The material was to be presented at a public hearing on the bill today. We are happy to report that we could not dig up one single recent instance in this area where public bodies have violated the intent on the open meeting law."

I call your attention to the common council meeting on the night of February 17, 1965 (which I attended in its entirety). The common council resolved into an executive session to discuss personnel matters and the resignation of the director of finance (supposedly). The executive session reported out and recommended the following:

1. The resignation of the finance director be accepted and the Mayor be authorized to fill the vacancy.

2. The city clerk, city treasurer, city attorney and city assessor be made appointive and the welfare and ordinances committee be instructed to prepare the charter ordinances by the March 3rd, 1965 council meeting for publication.

3 The report of the executive session be adopted and made part of the official record.

The Wisconsin State Statutes (Laws) under Section 14 90, paragraph 2, states in part, and I quote, "No formal action of any kind shall be introduced, deliberated upon, or adopted at any closed executive session or closed meeting of any such body" Paragraph 3 of the Section 14 90 defines six (6) exceptions under which governmental bodies can hold closed meetings or executive sessions and explicitly states what subject matter can be discussed

Not one of the exceptions under Section 14.90, paragraph 3 could have been construed by this executive session to legally have allowed it to introduce, deliberate upon, adopt and recommend that a charter ordinance be prepared to take away from the people of this community their right to vote for city clerk, city attorney, city treasurer and city assessor, and make the offices appointive

It is my further understanding that the drafting of this resolution by the executive session was no spontaneous idea that occurred during the session, but rather a premeditated scheme as evidenced by the presents of "type-written" examples of resolutions and-or ordinances in the executive session

In my humble opinion, the above actions by our city government would constitute a most flagrant violation of the anti-secrecy law (Section 14.90) which happened recently. . .and in this area.

Psychologist Relates Fact Newspapermen Knew for Long Time

The were even more anxious, he said, than navy frogmen, pilots in training, and business executives.

Fan of Memories Offers Them Hand

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I would like to pass my opinion on the band called the Memories.

I am a big fan of their's and I think all five members need a big hand. They are terrific as far as I am concerned and I think a lot of people who heard them play will agree with me.

I think the staff at Appleton High School should think twice before they start kicking them out of school because of their hair It is not fair to make them get their hair cut. After all school is a place to study, not a place to find out what kind of hair to have and what kind of clothes to wear If a teacher wanted to wear his hair long nothing would be said I don't see any teacher offering to pay to have a student's hair cut

These boys have put a lot of hours into this band and try very hard I know because they have practiced at my home. I just hope in years to come one of my children take after either Bob (Fuzzy), George, Denny, or Chuck. I sure would be proud of them.

Boy's I am with you all the way and so are my parents Keep up the good work and the best of luck to all of you.

Legislature Moves To Plug Loopholes In Right to Know Law

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The 1959 act of the State Legislature prohibiting secrecy in state government affairs, or more particularly, to protest public information about governmental affairs, is under review in the Legislature by way of amendments to make it more secure against the adroitness of those occasional public officials who would ignore or evade it.

Wyngaard

Specifically, Assemblyman Barland of Eau Claire has written amendments that would make it more difficult to use the limited provisions for the use of private sessions as loopholes for the dilution of the general purposes of the act. There is no reason to doubt that the Legislature will fail to act favorably.

There was not a hint of criticism or opposition at the hearing and there was some respectable testimony in favor of the tightening of the original and pioneering law.

An observer, indeed, may wonder whether the preponderance of testimony on such occasions from representatives of the press does not tend to obscure the purposes and the principles represented in the legislation. To the extent that the press is immediately engaged in reporting public affairs, it has an obvious stake in such laws. But the impression should not be permitted to stand that this is a "newspaperman's bill," or that its motivation was the convenience or even the protection of the professional purveyors of news.

PUBLIC RIGHTS

The real meaning of the law is the protection of PUBLIC rights The newspaperman typically functions as the agent of the public, if he performs his job of reporting on governmental developments accurately and fairly and intelligently. But he has no more right than the neighbor across the street in this context, and he has no less If this correspondent should decide to retire to the farm tomorrow, he would assume a right to attend public meetings of public bodies, nevertheless, and the law would embrace him then even as it did while he was working as a reporter

There will always remain some resistance to such protective laws, or at least as long as fallible men and women occupy public places. Sometimes the resistance to open meetings relates to ignorance. Occasionally it derives from a stubborn or angry feeling of proprietorship in any agency, especially the small and obscure ones not accustomed to being watched closely. Once in a great while the citizen on the outside may be justified in concluding that there is a desire to hide something. But that does not happen often, at least in this reporter's experience which is primarily related to state government legislation and administration.

More particularly, the resentment and discomfort and alarm felt by some public officials about the presence of outsiders, and especially reporters, relate to self-consciousness, sometimes to the degree of stage-fright. The common complaint is that the official doesn't feel free to speak as he wants to speak—for fear of being reported to the public. The answer must be that the public official pays a price for his rank and responsibility, and a part of it is a liability for publicity and public information about what he says and does.

A fair account must include the fact that the public man sometimes faces the hazard of careless and inaccurate, and even biased reporting A hundred times in this reporter's life politicians have complained about such circumstances, often with justification There are inadequate men engaged in journalism as in politics There are no guarantees that only philosophers and saints will be sent to report the county board or the city council, or the courts, or the Legislature

But this also is a part of the price of the democratic system, which nobody is likely to claim is an absolutely perfect way of running the public's affairs Moreover, there are remedies for poor reporting, if the politician wants to use them. No editor worth his salt wants an inaccurate reporter The underlying conviction of the anti-secrecy act is that it is better to err in the direction of public information, however difficult, than to avoid political embarrassment through suppression.

Strictly Personal

Thousands of New Words in Language

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A high-school student in Arizona has written to ask me if I could tell him who originated the phrase "cold war" By a charming coincidence, I received a letter on the very same day from Bernard Baruch, who first used the phrase in a speech at Columbia, S C., in 1947.

Harris

It is rare for us to know, however, exactly who originated new words and phrases, many of which seem to rise spontaneously in the public mind. Thousands of new words (known in the trade as "neologisms") have come into use since the end of World War II; war and technological advances have been responsible for most of them.

Only a handful of these new words can be ascribed to particular persons. Winston Churchill generally gets the credit for "iron curtain," which has run second in popularity only to "cold war," but his authorship is disputed by other contenders, such as Goebbels, the Nazi propaganda chief, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, and Von Krosyg, Hitler's minister of Finance.

"Gobbledygood" was coined by Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas, to describe the language of bureaucrats who don't want to be pinned down to a clear and simple explanation of what they are doing, and why

"Goon" was the creation of E C Segar, the cartoonist, and is a port-manteau word made up of "gorilla" and "baboon" combined Donald Gordon is credited with being the first man to use "whodunit" as a term for a mystery book Gelett Burgess invented "blurb," which was a happy inspiration; and "squib" is attributed to Don Herold, in the sense of a small paragraph or capsule comment

In the 19th Century, a number of new words came from the pens of famous men, and were promptly accepted into the permanent language. Thomas Huxley invented "agnostic" to describe a person who neither affirms nor denies the existence of God.

Auguste Comte gave us "altruism" as the opposite of egotism, and Coleridge took "psychology," which was then a rare technical word and made up the adjective "psychological," which has become the most overused word of our time. "Scientist" was coined by Whatley; before then, they were known merely as "men of science."

But most neologisms have an anonymous background. Nobody knows who is responsible for motel, smog, jukebox, gimmick, audition, doodle, air-conditioning, stooge, booby-trap, rat-race, ghost writer, zero hour, fringe benefits, and hundreds of other terms. My own candidate for verbal immortality is the unsung Milton who invented the laconically descriptive "falsies."

Voting Rights Main GOP Caucus Topic

Post Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Voting rights, "exclusivity" of party membership and Gov Warren Knowles' 1965-67 budget were main discussion topics here Thursday at the Eighth District Republican caucus which saw John Conway, Appleton, elected to his first full term as district party chairman.

During the session in the Hotel Northland, Mrs. R. A. Stearns, Sturgeon Bay, was named vice clairman; Stephen

Conway

Zuehlke

Bur, Green Bay, was named secretary, and Gus Zuehlke, Appleton, was elected treasurer.

A squabble on voting rights legislation developed because delegates disagreed on wording in a resolution It took 30 minutes, but the resolution eventually was adopted

Routine Resolution

The resolution, routinely presented by Donald Neverman, Marinette, chairman of the

Knowles

resolutions committee which met in the afternoon, ran into difficulty because of references to "violence."

Fred Penrod, Green Bay, said the language on violence was difficult to understand and delegates should have had a printed copy After a divided voice vote the resolution was sent back to committee by a show of hands vote

Leo O'Brien former state senator from Green Bay said the action fell within the recent criticism of the Republican Party by Leonard Hall, past national chairman.

O'Brien noted Hall said the reason Republicans lose elections is that their membership is "Anglo-Saxon and an exclusive club

Ethnic Groups

"We have to broaden our base and appeal to ethnic groups. This resolution is too important to table and send back to the committee," he said

"We certainly are going to look silly not passing a civil rights resolution," agreed an Outagamie County delegate, who offered the resolution to the committee in the afternoon.

Penrod protested that his action was not aimed at preventing adoption of a resolution.

"I say if we take a stand on this, let's take a thoughtful stand. Now, we have to do it in 10 minutes," he said.

The caucus then instructed the committee to meet with the objectors and re-write the resolution.

The new resolution said the Republican Party should "support whatever constitutionally lawful action as may be necessary to protect the right of any individual to vote or enjoy his constitutional privileges so long as he is qualified under the Constitution."

Opposed to Violence

It said the caucus was "firmly opposed to the use of violence, subversion, or duress in the support or opposition to these objectives."

The original resolution said the Republican Party would have no allegiance with individuals or groups practicing violence to obtain or prevent the obtaining of voting rights.

Knowles warned the party faithful that results of the 1966 election "Depend on the record we make, and let's not forget that

Continuing his use of district caucuses to appeal for party help in getting public acceptance of his proposed budget, the governor said to the 300 delegates that he needed their support.

Reminding delegates that much budget criticism is coming from within party ranks, Knowles said, "I reduced the budget (requests) by $63 million, and still many people feel this budget is high and out of line."

Plant Expansion

He said 53 new or expanded plants have been started in the state since he took office, an indication Republicans are making progress to a long-range objective of increasing the tax base He said this is a result of Republicans convincing industry that state government intends to provide leadership and cooperation

Knowles noted Wisconsin is faced with the fact that 75 per cent of the population growth during the past decade came in the under 21 and over 65 age groups as he concentrated on the education portion of the budget

The state will have 63,000 high school graduates this year, half of whom will want to go to college, he said.

"We are going to have to build facilities equal to the university campus in Madison. These 30,000 deserve an education and are going to be given that opportunity under the budget I have presented," he said

The fact that only 25 per cent of those who start college will finish provides "our greatest single challenge in Wisconsin," Knowles said

This is why he is emphasizing "a kind of middle education" in the vocational field so these persons can be trained for jobs and become productive taxpayers, he said.

Other Resolutions

The caucus also adopted resolutions praising Talbot Peterson, Appleton, retiring state chairman, for his work "culminating in the election of a Republican governor;" endorsing former Lt. Gov. Jack Olson as a candidate for "high elected public office in Wisconsin in 1966," endorsing the Knowles budget and asking Republicans to work for its adoption; backing four-year terms for state officers and a single ticket for governor and lieutenant governor; and endorsing "reasonable conservation and anti-pollution standards" by industry.

Peterson and James Plier, Oconto, were named district delegates on the state convention resolutions committee, Sen. Robert Warren, Green Bay, and Mrs. Gertrude Jerabek, Kewaunee, were named to the rules committee, and Marcel Dempsey, Manitowoc, and Mrs. Arnold Peterson, Sturgeon Bay, were named to the credentials committee.

The district will have 383 delegates at the convention, 120 from Brown County, 99 from Outagamie, 24 from Door, 20 from Kewaunee, 63 from Manitowoc, 32 from Marinette, and 25 from Oconto.

to reach shale at 300 feet when the well will be test pumped, he said.

Last week Muehl reported that preliminary pumping of the first test well indicated a good supply, 400 to 500 gallons a minute, might be obtained using only a 6-inch pipe. Muehl estimated that it might be possible to obtain 1,000 gallons a minute from the well, although they can not know this until the final well is drilled. The operation began in early March when the council decided to seek a water source outside the city.

Supply Needed

The city's five working wells together pump only 650 gallons a minute and two wells are drawing water from the same source.

The city will call for bids on April 23. The successful firm will have 30 days from the time the contract is signed to develop the first test well and 45 days to lay the pipe line.

Although the type of pump needed cannot be determined until after the well is drilled, the contractor will furnish a test pump to enable the city to use the well while the pumphouse and regular pump are being constructed.

Aldermen were told that 11,800 feet of pipeline will be laid from the new well to the No. 5 pumping station. Town of Charlestown has given permission to install the line along County Trunk Y through the town.

The Wisconsin Public Service Corp. submitted a contract agreeing to extend electric power lines to the new well if guaranteed a rate of $57.21 per month for the next four years.

This is subject to approval of the city attorney. The General Telephone Co. has also agreed to extend lines for operation of the remote control equipment.

Edward Liska reported that Fire Chief Norbert Sturm recommended renewal of fire contracts with the townships of Chilton, Charlestown and Brothertown at the same rate as last year since they then were raised.

The fee includes $1,000 for the alarm system, $1,000 for services plus labor costs in case of a fire. The city attorney will prepare the contracts.

The annual report of the city library was received showing a total of 18,526 books had been circulated last year.

The city clerk reported that a fire and building inspectors' institute will be held April 21, 22 and 23 in Rhinelander.

IOLA — Howard Bestul is the Iola Lions Club's new president, while Richard Spangler, Gifford Solem, and Robert Crase were nominated first, second and third vice president, respectively.

Clem Kluge was re-elected secretary, while Oliver Reierson will retain his post as treasurer. Richard G. Anderson was named Lion Tamer; Leonard Haroldson, Tail Twister; Lau Knudsen and James Olson, directors.

Holdover directors are Ben Krause and LaVern Hoffman. Election of officers will be formally completed at the next meeting.

In other business, the club approved action of the board of directors to spend up to $500 for new equipment in the hospital and donate $100 to the American Field Service Chapter for the sponsorship of a foreign exchange student.

It was reported that the "Iola Welcome" sign was completed and would be placed south of the village soon. The large 20 by 12-foot sign was built by members of the Iola-Scandinavia Future Farmers Chapter. Materials were furnished by the Lions Club. It was noted that there was sufficient materials for two more signs left over which would be made by club members.

Signing at Appomattox Took Place 100 Years Ago Today

Surrender Cured Ills Of Gen. Grant

EDITORS NOTE — A century ago today four years of war between Union and Confederate forces came to a quiet end in an Appomattox County, Va., farmhouse. Gen. U.S. Grant started the final day with a blinding headache but word of the Southern willingness to surrender brought a speedy cure. Gen. Robert E. Lee started the day with discomfort, too, but his was the pain of a lost cause.

BY JERRY BUCK

APPOMATTOX, Va. (AP) — For Lt. Gen. U.S. Grant the last night of the Civil War was a miserable one He spent it tossing fitfully in a farmhouse bed and trying to ease the pain throbbing in his head.

He tried soaking his feet in a hot mustard bath. He applied mustard plasters to the back of his neck and wrists.

Nothing seemed to ease the ache, so as a rooster announced dawn on April 9, 1865, he rolled out of bed. He was pulling on his boots when a courier rode up with word from Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Grant's chief of staff read aloud

"As far as your proposal may affect the C.S forces under my command and tend to the restoration of peace, I shall be pleased to meet you at 10 a m tomorrow on the old stage road to Richmond between the picket lines of the two armies "

Lee had written it the day before, in answer to a note from Grant asking that he surrender.

Headache Gone

Grant, commander of the Union forces, put on his drab blue tunic and said, "I'll meet Lee as he asks and we'll settle the whole business in an hour." His headache was gone.

Lee's last night as commander of the army of northern Virginia had not been much better. He slept on the cold ground with his saddle for a pillow and thoughts of defeat for a companion. He'd said he'd "rather die a thousand deaths" than give up.

He too was up before dawn and its coming brought disheartening news. The attempt by Gen. John B. Gordon to cut through Union defenses to the Lynchburg road — and escape — had been repulsed.

"I have fought my corps to a frazzle, and can do nothing unless I am heavily supported by Longstreet's corps," Gordon told Lee by courier.

But Lee knew Lt. Gen. James Longstreet could not go to his aid. Lee's last prop had fallen and he prepared to meet Grant.

Sent Secretary

Lee sent his military secretary, Col. Charles Marshall, into Appomattox to find a place suitable for the meeting. The first man Marshall met was Wilmer McLean.

Four years earlier the Civil War's first major battle had raged across McLean's farm at Manassas Soon afterward, McLean had fled to Appomattox to escape the war. But this afternoon that war was to end in his parlor.

The courthouse lay between the poised armies. The courthouse was at a junction of the roads, and to its left, enclosed by a white fence, was the home of McLean

The village is set where the rolling plains of the Piedmont begin climbing to meet the Blue Ridge Mountains 20 miles to the west

Sat in Parlor

"Gen Lee, Col. Orville Babcock and myself sat in the parlor for about half an hour, when a large party of mounted men arrived, and in a few minutes Gen Grant came into the room," Marshall recalled later.

"Gen Grant greeted Gen Lee civilly, and they engaged for a short time in conversation about their former acquaintance during the Mexican War."

Grant's secretary, Col. Ely Parker, wrote out the terms of surrender on a marble-topped table set in the middle of the parlor. Grant allowed the Southern officers to keep their sidearms and horses, but Lee pointed out the soldiers also owned their own horses and would need them for spring planting.

Grant quickly agreed to this, and later wrote that "Lee remarked again that this would have a happy effect."

Lee wrote out a brief acceptance of the terms and the two secretaries made copies.

Feed 28,000

Arrangements also were made to feed the 28,000 men Lee surrendered that day. They had not received rations since abandoning Petersburg a week earlier.

After the two commanders left, the Union officers fell upon McLean's furniture for souvenirs. When McLean refused the money they offered it was tossed on the floor and tables and chairs were carried out the door. A sofa was torn to shreds.

Gen. Joseph Johnston carried on for a few weeks more in North Carolina. Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, was captured a month later in Georgia.

So ended the Civil War, the formalities of the surrender settled in an hour. Peace was longer in coming.

Dr. Bradner Coursen, Lawrence Professor, Named to State Board

Dr. Bradner W. Coursen, assistant biology professor at Lawrence University, has been appointed a member of the State Board of Examiners in the Basic Sciences by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

A three-man board of lay educators, unaffiliated with a medical or nursing school conducts four examinations each year in the basic sciences — anatomy, physiology, pathology and physical diagnosis No person may treat or attempt to treat the sick in Wisconsin unless he has a certificate of registration in the basic sciences, and has complied wih all other requirements of law.

The board is empowered to appoint experts to assist in the examination, from lists furnished by the State Civil Service Commission.

Coursen has been appointed to a six-year term, succeeding William H. Barber who has retired.

Lawrence Gets $8,090 On Elementary Science Institute From NSF

An $8,090 grant has been made to Lawrence University by the National Science Foundation for an in-service institute in general science for elementary school personnel during the 1965-66 school year. Dr. Robert Rosenberg, associate professor chemistry, will direct the institute to be held in Youngchild Hall of Science.

This is the third such in-service study program supported by the NSF and directed by Dr. Rosenberg at Lawrence. During 1961-62 he conducted an institute in chemistry and physics for secondary school teachers, and during the current school year has been teaching general science to elementary teachers.

An eight-week institute for 35 secondary school teachers of botany will be underwritten by the National Science Foundation at Lawrence this summer. Director is Dr. Bradner Coursen, assistant professor of biology.

Mekong River Development Project of United Nations

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The development of the 2,600-mile Mekong River — urged Wednesday night by President Johnson — is one of the few projects in Southeast Asia on which rival nations are cooperating.

Working under U.N. sponsorship, 21 nations are teaming up to harness the great river's potential for the benefit of nearly 50 million people. The nations include South Viet Nam, Cambodia, Laos and Thailand. South Viet Nam and Thailand are Combodia's traditional enemies.

Rising in the mountians of Tibet, the river empties into the South China Sea southeast of Saigon. It drains a basin of 381,000 square miles — nearly as much as Texas and New Mexico — which includes most of Cambodia and Laos and about half of South Viet Nam.

Power Plants

The U.N. development project calls for construction of power plants, dams, experimental farms and irrigation programs.

Two irrigation and power dams on tributaries in northeast Thailand will be completed this year. One is at Nam Pong and the other at Nam Pung.

Canada spent $1.3 million for aerial mapping of the river. The United States spent $2.5 million for a survey for a huge dam across the Mekong at Pa Mong.

Dr. C. Hart Schaaf of Fort Wayne, Ind., executive agent of the International Mekong Committee, estimates that $2 billion will be spent by 1980 on dams, power installations and irrigation works.

Harnessing the Lower Mekong would make it possible to grow two or three rice crops a year instead of one.

People in the area would have cheap, plentiful electricity in place of the present costly power generated with imported fuel.

Take Reducing Pills Under Doctor's Care

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Doctor: Are diet pills harmful? My doctor prescribed them because I have to lose about 20 pounds. — M. S.

I oppose diet pills without medical supervision, but using them with your doctor's care is another matter.

Why only under medical direction?

First, nobody who is old enough to know the truth about Santa Claus should be so gullible as to think that there's a pill which can make fat people thin. Pills, judiciously used, can help, but that's all.

To reduce, we have to do one of two things, or preferably both: Eat less; use up, in activity, more of what we eat.

In the past some attempts were made to use a medication that speeded up the body's metabolism — that is, that "burned up" more of the food we ate. The drug had dangerous complications, so its use was discontinued.

Modern pills do not do this. Instead they suppress the appetite. This helps. But don't expect the pills to do it all. You must still make a steady curtailment in the amount you eat. At the same time, you must get ample exercise.

Used for a reasonable length of time and in proper amounts, the pills will not be harmful. Used too long or in too great quantity, there is the danger of the patient becoming nervous and jittery. The heart may have periods of palpitation or flip-flops. There is the possibility (depending on your eating habits) of not getting some of the necessary nutrients. Some people find themselves wanting to keep busy even though they know, at the same time, that they ought to stop and rest.

Your doctor knows the signs to watch for, and is prepared to stop the pills before any harm can come to you. Some people, left to themselves, are so gratified at losing weight that they keep on using the medication long after the appearance of signs which should tell them to stop — if only they recognized them.

That's why I refuse to recommend pills except under medical direction.

I have no doubt that your doctor also impressed upon you the need for doing your part, in learning (and avoiding) foods which are excessively fattening.

If you are in doubt about which foods are which, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my two leaflets, "Lost Secret of Reducing," and "The Calorie Chart." (Send requests to Dr Molner in care of the Post-Crescent

They'll help you do your part in losing that 20 pounds — and they'll help in something just as important: Knowing how to stay at your correct weight after you've shucked the excess poundage.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that hormones are given to chickens to make them grow bigger, but that it is dangerous to eat such fowl. Is this so? — Mrs. S. M

Hormones were formerly used to fatten chickens, but the practice was discontinued several years ago. The hormones weren't fed to the chickens: a small pellet of hormone material was inserted in the neck. The only way a person could have gotten any appreciable amount of the hormones would have been to eat the chicken's neck, and the pellet along with it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have polyps at the opening of the uterus. The doctor says they should be removed. Will they be likely to grow back? — P. N.

The polyps which are removed will not grow back again. Occasionally new ones can form in the same general area, but this is not common.

The Savage Cell — Chapter 5

Vaccine Hope Glimmers For Leukemia Victims

BY PAT McGRADY

Of all diagnoses, the most fateful is leukemia. It is destiny, signed and sealed, the setting for an early Christmas, the essence of the six-month-to-live story.

Leukemia, meaning "white blood," is cancer of the bone marrow and lymphatic organs which manufacture blood cells.

Leukemic cells—young, useless, predatory and constantly proliferating—invade the marrow, swell the spleen, liver, lymph nodes and other organs. A number of malignant diseases involving lymphatic and marrow tissues are closely related and kill even more people; they include lymphosarcoma and Hodgkin's disease.

Cured by Nature

Leukemia is called incurable. Still, youngsters dying of the disease have been beneficiaries of that rare miracle, "spontaneous regression." A few are completely cured by nature.

Considered a disease of children, leukemia is now five times as common in older people, and the incidence is increasing at an astounding rate.

It is considered a rare disease. Yet it is the leading killer of children; in 1963, an estimated 11,500 adults and 2,300 children died of it.

One gets the impression that leukemia always is rapidly fatal. Yet some patients live 10 or 20 or more years with chronic leukemia under reasonable control and die of diseases of old age.

Several scientists have reported finding viruslike particles in human leukemia.

Cells With Viruses

Dr. James T. Grace of Roswell Park Memorial Hospital in Buffalo announced in the fall of 1964 that he had succeeded in growing human leukemic cells containing what he considers to be viruses.

He is growing them in unlimited quantities. This is the first essential step toward a vaccine for the prevention of leukemia and anti-sera for its treatment.

If the viruses turn out to be the causative agent for this disease, measures for its prevention and treatment in humans could be started immediately.

Every now and then a dramatic situation yields a promise of penetrating the inscrutable exterior of leukemia. In most instances the evidence hints at a virus or other infection.

Scientists at the University of Minnesota discovered that within a short period children of four veterinarians developed actue lymphatic leukemia. The veterinarians had treated cows which had lymphosarcoma and chickens with contagious virus-caused leukemoid diseases.

Disease Carriers?

Were the veterinarians unwitting carriers of the disease?

Leukemias and lymphomas struck humans, chickens and cattle recently in a rural area of South Central Nebraska. Was there a connection?

In Niles, a Chicago suburb of 18,863 people, eight children came down with leukemia in two years. Seven either attended or had older brothers or sisters attending a parochial school with 1,416 students. All lived within a two-mile square area. Investigators concluded the outbreak was due to an unidentified infectious agent.

Meanwhile, a dozen other clusters of childhood leukemia were reported from widely separated communities—Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Cheyenne, Wyo., and a Seattle suburban area. Some, or perhaps all, may be a statistical mirage.

Several bits of evidence indicate there is at least a one-way transmission of leukemia—from man to animals. Dr. Ludwik Gross of New York cites experiments in which scientists induced cancers, including leukemia, in rabbits, rats, chicks, and mice with human tumors and extracts of them.

Seasonal Variation

The acute disease in humans and animals observes a seasonal variation: like infections, its peak is during the winter and early spring.

The onset of leukemia usually is insidious in both children and adults. Early leukemia is remarkably free of pain; the swollen tissues seldom are tender.

In children, it often follows a slow recovery from a cold or a contagious disease. The child is pale, apathetic, somewhat feverish, bearing bruises of unknown origin, and without appetite. Eventually bleeding tendencies—from the gums and under the skin most often—are found.

In the best medical centers, any single antileukemia treatment gives complete (and temporary) remissions to only 35 per cent of children. Expensive experimental treatment combinations will extend the average leukemic child's life to about one year.

Unexplainable Fatigue

Chronic leukemia, most often reserved for adults, may be preceded by a year or two of unexplainable fatigue, easy bruising, bleeding, itching, flatulence, dyspepsia and perhaps an enlarged spleen and lymph nodes.

A good deal of study has gone into the question as to when the doom of leukemia is sealed. There is a wide range of conclusions — anywhere from several generations before the victim's birth to a short time before the disease is diagnoses.

One study of 285 leukemic children by Dr. Daniel Stowens of the University of Southern California showed that in one-quarter of the cases, at least one member of the family, usually a grandparent, had diabetes. If these findings are born out, they may indicate that diabetes in some cases constitutes a genetic hormonal predisposition to leukemia.

Radiation causes leukemia both in animals and humans. It does so in one large dose or multiple small ones.

Radiation Dosage

There is considerable difference of opinion, however, as to the size of the radiation dose which is dangerous for humans, and this is a sensitive subject for physicians who feel that fear will restrain patients from having necessary X-ray examinations and treatments.

The lot of physicians themselves hardly instills confidence: as a class, radiologists, dentists, dermatologists, radiation-using general doctors have much higher than normal leukemia rates.

One of the most intriguing chains of evidence as to the nature of leukemia centers around the thymus, a gland located between the neck and the chest, behind the breastbone.

It is composed largely of lymph cells, or lymphocytes, and it reaches its growth peak during infancy, after which it gradually slows down until, at puberty, it atrophies.

Plays Key Role

It now appears that at least in mice, the thymus plays a key role in leukemia. Indirect damage to the gland brings on the disease. In some mice, radiation and viruses cannot induce leukemia in the absence of the gland.

University of Minnesota scientists have found that a substantial number of cancer patients, and particularly leukemics, lacked gamma globulin, the stuff that antibodies are made of, and consequently are defenseless against infections. Lymph cells, like those in the thymus, manufacture gamma globulin.

The thymus seems to seed the system with lymphoid cells which become lifetime lymphocyte and antibody factories.

Honor Students Work On Hortonville Drive

HORTONVILLE — The local chapter of the National Honor Society conducted the Easter Seal Campaign here Sunday and took in almost $250.

Chairman of the campaign was Judy Van Handel. The money will go to help the handicapped. The campaign was one of two projects undertaken by the newly formed society this year. They are also publishing a student handbook for incoming freshmen and transfers.

Districts Have Great Burden

Racine Man Asks School Aids be Made Current

MADISON (AP)— Rapidly growing school districts are carrying a proportionately larger education burden because all schools are not given state aid based on their current operations, according to George Hnilicka of Racine.

Hnilicka made the statement Wednesday at a public hearing before the Senate Education Committee. Speaking for the Racine board of education, he supported a bill that would base all state aids on a district's current operations.

Present law bases aids on a school district's previous year's operation unless it is reorganizing.

"Placing all districts on current aids will bring to bear the resources of the state more equitably to those districts where growth is most rapid and where need is greatest," Hnilicka said.

William Kahl of the State Department of Public Instruction said this is a "very opportune time" to make the change because 62 per cent of the districts in the state already are receiving aids based on current operations.

Paul Nelson of Horicon, co-chairman of the Special Taxpayers Committee on the State Budget, opposed the bill. He said his group was not "overly concerned" about basing aids on current operations, but "we are concerned about increasing costs at a time when the legislature is facing its third consecutive session of increasing taxes."

The additional cost to the state would be $2.2 million for each of the next two years.

3 Photographers From Appleton Win Awards at Exhibit

Three Appleton photographers from two studios won awards at the Wisconsin Professional Photographers Association convention held recently in Milwaukee.

Kenneth Kunstman, Ken-Mar Studio, had one of his prints accepted for a traveling loan exhibition of the association and received one award for par excellence and four for excellence.

Eldor Sommer, also of Ken-Mar Studio, received one par excellence award.

Milton O. Rueckl, Rueckl Studio, had three prints accepted for the traveling loan exhibition and received ribbons on all seven prints entered at the convention.

for April 11:

It's almost "Play Ball!"-time and the sports pages will provide previews and predictions on the Major League teams prior to Monday's openers.

Madison is the site of the State Forensics contest finals and the session of the Youth Government including an Appleton girl as Lt. Governor and another young lady as Speaker of the Assembly . . . all reported exclusively this Sunday.

A third Teen Beer Bar is at least one too many according to Seymour teachers.

Sena Gray's New Fashions column will talk about the travelable-packable-wearable clothes for your journeys.

"View" has some exceedingly interesting things to say and show on this 100-year anniversary of the shots that ended the Civil War and Abraham Lincoln's life.

"Family Weekly" takes you past the dressing room for an outside-the-park look at baseball's hottest right-hander . . . Dean Chance.

BE SCIENTIFICALLY SURE, USE ARMOUR UNIFORM BLEND FERTILIZERS

Custom Formulated to Meet The Exact Needs Of Your Crops and Soil

Choosing the exact fertilizer analysis to meet your crop and soil needs can be a puzzling problem. Solve this problem and take the guesswork out of your fertilization with Armour Uniform Blend Fertilizers.

Scientific testing and careful formulation of Armour Uniform Blend Fertilizers provide your crops with the exact amounts of plant nutrients they need. Before your fertilizer is blended, a soil test is taken of your land to get an accurate picture of your needs. Modern laboratory methods are used to test and analyze your soil. Then on the basis of your soil test, a high-analysis fertilizer is custom blended for you with top-quality, dependable Armour materials.

The greater uniformity of Armour Blend Fertilizers gives your crop an even, balanced feeding of essential plant nutrients. And, the easier application saves you valuable time, too.

Fertilize the scientific way, with Armour Uniform Blend Fertilizers, and be sure that your crop is getting all the proper amounts of plant nutrients for a top-dollar yield.

Lawrence Symphony Concert Sunday Night

Soprano Mari Taniguchi of Conservatory Faculty to Appear as Featured Soloist

Soprano Mari Taniguchi, member of the conservatory faculty, Lawrence University, will be featured soloist with the Lawrence Symphony Orchestra at its second concert of the season at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

Miss Taniguchi Byler

Kenneth Byler, associate professor of music, is conductor of the 65-member ensemble of university and community musicians

Miss Taniguchi, also an associate professor, will be heard in the Samuel Barber composition "Knoxville. Summer of 1915" for voice and orchestra, Op. 24

Other works on the program are the "Prelude" to the opera "Die Meistersinger von Nurnberg," by Wagner, and the "Symphony No. 3 in A minor," Op. 56 ("Scotch"), by Mendelssohn

Studied in Italy

The soloist joined the Lawrence faculty in 1961 Her Mus B and Mus M degrees were earned at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y. She attended Giuseppe Verdi Conservatory, Milan, Italy, under a Fulbright scholarhip, and continued private study with leading Italian maestros during several years residency in that country

Her professional operatic debut was made in the title role of "Madame Butterfly" with the Turin, Italy, opera company She later took the same role in a number of other Italian and Swiss opera houses

She returned to the United States to become a soloist member of the original Robert Shaw Chorale. Later, while teaching at New York State University, Potsdam, she made numerous solo and oratio appearances in the state's major cities

Appleton Appearances

Since coming here she has made three solo appearances with the Lawrence Choral Society in its annual "Messiah" performances, and sung an equal number of recitals She was heard in October and February in performances of "Four Songs of Departure" by student composer Fred Lerdahl The work was also performed in February on a Milwaukee concert honoring award-winning Wisconsin composers

Byler has led the orchestra since coming to Lawrence in 1948, and is also conductor of the Lawrence Chamber Orchestra He received a Mus B degree from the American Conservatory, Chicago, and a Mus M from the University of Michigan He also studied at the Julliard School of Music, New York He was a compsoition student of Thor Johnson and Edgar Schenkman.

His professional memberships include the Wisconsin Music Teachers Association, Music Teachers National Association and American String Teachers Association. He has served the state group as its secretary, vice president and president, and is former publications chairman for the string association.

Public School Program

Early this season he undertook a string-advisory program with the Appleton public schools which was culminated in a performance by the local students and the Chamber Orchestra in February.

The Lawrence Orchestra performs three major concerts annually, and this year added the "Messiah" performance with the Choral Society

It's program focuses on the Barber score, set to texts from James Agee's autobiographical novel, "A Death in the Family" The score is a reflective, poetic representation of the sounds and signts of Knoxville, Tenn., observed during the author's childhood.

Custer Makes Last Stand Again on TV

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11)—"Custer to the Little Big Horn," the second documentary on the Saga of Western Man series, traces factors that led to the last significant battle between the Indians and the white man. The hero—or is he a villian—is Gen George Armstrong Custer, the ambitious Civil War hero, who dies with his boots on in the famous Sioux massacre of the Seventh Cavalry in 1876. (COLOR)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2)—Rawhide has an interesting chapter of Americana with "The Last Order," featuring Efrem Zimbalist Jr and Lawrence Dobkin as diehard Confederates who want to continue the Civil War after General Lee's surrender. In order to raise funds for their dubious aims, they shoot up the countryside.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5)—International Showtime displays some of Europe's top circus acts. The King Sea Lions climb ladders in Belgium, Mr. and Mrs. Balaz perform on a slack wire in Hungary; the Five Freddys tumble on a trampoline in Czechoslovakia and the Althoff Bears eat out of their trainer's ear in Belgium.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2)—"The President Vanishes" on The Great Adventure is a well-done piece of American history concerning the courage of President Grover Cleveland (Leif Erickson), cloak-and-dagger activity in the White House. Repeat

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5)—Bob Hope Presents the concluding chapter of "Memorandum for a Spy," the fun-and-games thriller in which Robert Stack plays a secret agent, feigning madness to catch a Soviet spy. (COLOR)

9-10 (Channel 2)—"Question—What Time Is the Next Bandwagon?" on Slattery's People is a sharp, often critical view of what goes on behind closed doors at political conventions Richard Crenna finds Dianne Foster his most formidable and prettiest obstacle in his efforts to get his man (Ford Rainey) as a candidate for governor.

9-10 (Channel 4-5)—Pearl Bailey, fully recovered from her recent illness, brightens The Jack Paar Program with jubilant good humor and song. (COLOR)

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M Duvall, Ph D and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph D.

Yes, and within a surprisingly short time The technique is simple Keep the individual away from all contact with the outside world of reality In experiments, students who had been kept in solitary isolation quickly develop fearful dreams We have now come to know why lonely and isolated people break down so quickly. Men can live by themselves successfully only if they have been carefully trained to do so

Encourage your child to help you with household chores!

Good—— Bad——

Good The mother who says, "Run along, I can do it faster myself," and who lets a child feel that his "help" is actually a hindrance may be discouraging him from trying to participate She may be able to do the job faster and better without Junior's assistance But when she is as interested in her child's development, she will encourage his assistance Some wives complain that their husbands never lend a hand around the house But how many stop to think of the times they have been annoyed with the efforts their men have made to be helpful? Watch it, girls, this is one way to lose your man

In the meantime, the subject of children and chores is explored more deeply in the booklet, "What Should Parents Expect From Children?" Send 25 cents and your name and address to this column, care of The Post-Crescent.

Man's Memory Is Great Foe to Boredom

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a foe of boredom.

That's why over a lifetime a man's memory is his best companion. It enables him to remember good times and bad times, but not dull times.

For some reason dull times don't stick in the memory. We forget them.

Your own life hasn't been so dull if you can look back and remember when—

John Barrymore became perhaps the first matinee idol in history to own his own yacht.

As a kid you hated to get a haircut because the tonic the barber sloshed on you left you smelling like a lilac bush for three days.

Away back in 1921 the State of Iowa made it legal for adults to buy cigarettes. Another historic decision that same year: Despite prohibition, the U. S. attorney general decided doctors still had the right to prescribe beer for medicinal use.

Barbecue Pit

Only the wealthy had barbecue pits in their backyards. Common folks usually ate in the kitchen, summer or winter.

Few parents bothered to call a physician if a child developed a runny nose. Normal children were expected to have runny noses for at least a third of the year.

Any man who wore a handkerchief in the coat pocket next to his lapel was regarded as a dude.

When you went to the grocery store you didn't need a checkbook or a billfold. You could easily buy a day's supply of food with the money in your change purse.

Ruth Roland — only real oldtimers now remember Pearl White — was the queen of the weekly movie cliffhanging serials. Kids were left worried every Saturday how she could possibly survive until the next episode.

Catch Turtle

It gave you a feeling of immortality to catch a turtle in the woods and scratch your initials and the date on the back of its shell before setting it free.

There were five times as many dope addicts in the nation as are known now, but reformers were so busy fighting John Barleycorn they didn't pay much attention to the narcotics problem.

Nobody bothered to put his dog on a leash. Dogfights were as common on the streets then as car accidents are now.

It was generally accepted in the community that most teachers would remain old maids — and act like them.

The worst thing about people who had dared to take a ride in an airplane was that they never quit bragging about it. Some nuts even predicted the time would come when you'd be able to fly across the country in a single day.

Butter was a kind of status symbol. If a family was so hard up it had to use a substitute, it hid the fact from the neighbors.

The poor section of a small town often was called "bedbug hill" or "the other side of the tracks."

Police Believe Woman Killed and Thrown From Moving Train

ALDERSHOT, England (AP) — Someone killed a woman and threw her body from a train during short rail journey, detectives said Thursday

The woman — Enid Wheeler, 31, a store assistant — worked at Aldershot but lived at Ash Vale. She traveled between the two stations daily Her body was found on the track Wednesday.

Police at first thought she had fallen from the train Then they found injuries which pointed to murder. They appealed for anyone traveling on the train to come forward with information.

Italian Actress Monica Vitti plays a tough secret agent in her new movie instead of her usual emotion laden roles. She says she enjoys the change which offers a totally new world of action and punch. (AP Wirephoto)

Lawrence Says

Boycott Plan In Alabama May be Illegal

Many Persons Know Little About Laws of America

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Unfamiliarity with the laws of the land is certainly widespread in America today. The mere fact that certain leaders of negro organizations have proclaimed an intention to call for a "boycott" by the public of all products manufactured in Alabama tells only part of the story. For what is not generally realized is that there are certain legal consequences which can flow from such an attempt to injure the businesses of private individuals. Not only are damage suits possible to recover any losses, but the Sherman Antitrust Act forbids all combinations or conspiracies "in restraint of trade" that may occur in interstate commerce.

Lawrence

Unquestionably, in the case of a boycott of products made in Alabama and sold outside the state, interstate commerce is affected, and it is apparent that a combination of persons would be involved. Also, if any companies act in concert not to purchase goods from that state, they could be held liable and suffer penalties under the Sherman Anti-trust Act.

The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that the making of an actual agreement between members of such a combination is not always necessary to bring about a violation of the anti-trust law. The agreement may be implied—just so long as the result is a concerted action to boycott particular companies or their products. The Supreme Court in 1910 declared:

Harmless Act

"An act harmless when done by one may become a public wrong when done by many, acting in concert, for it then takes on the form of a conspiracy, and may be prohibited or punished, if the result be hurtful to the public, or to the individual against whom the concerted action is directed."

The courts have also held that the word "boycott" itself could imply a threat to certain individuals or companies if they refused to comply with the demands made upon them. The Constitution provides for the protection of individual rights. A person's business is entitled to protection from all unlawful interference, and damages can be imposed by courts if injury to a business can be proved.

Indeed, the framers of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 relied on the "interstate commerce" clause of the Constitution in outlawing racial discrimination, and yet a burden on commerce could also result from the proposed boycott. The boycott, too, could penalize innocent as well as guilty persons in Alabama, including Negroes.

Freedom of Speech

It has been said that the proposed boycott would be protected by the right of freedom of speech as guaranteed in the first amendment to the Constitution. But the Supreme Court has ruled that there is no such thing as absolute freedom of speech. Thus, for instance, if somone cries "fire!" in a crowded theater and panic results, the damage inflicted by that individual cannot be disregarded just because it was a spoken word. Likewise, obscenity and libel are not protected by the free speech clause of the Constitution.

The device of the "boycott" has, of course, been used by labor unions, and in certain respects it is lawful. This, however, concerns a dispute between an employer and his own employes. Picketing, moreover, is limited, and, while pickets may carry signs claiming a business is unfair to its employes and urging others not to patronize it, this does not mean that

All sanctioned bowlers in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan are invited to participate in the 1965 Post-Crescent BOWL-O-RAMA—the third successive year for this bowling spectacular. Approximately 2,000 bowlers are expected to compete each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday over a 15-day period starting April 20. They will roll for hundreds of cash prizes topped by $100 awards in the men's division and $50 in the women's. There will also be four beautiful, engraved watches awarded and a number of "surprise" awards.
Rules
LANES: 41 Bowl, 3916 W. College Ave., Appleton, Wis.
CLASSES: Men's Class A (161-average and higher); Men's Class B (160-average and under); Women's Class A (141-average and higher); Women's Class B (140-average and under).
HANDICAPS: Men, 200 scratch and women 180 scratch. Handicaps will be two-thirds of the difference between highest ABC sanctioned average as of Feb. 1, 1965 and scratch. To use league average, bowler must have rolled 18 or more games in regular 1964-65 league schedule; otherwise, 1963-64 season average will apply. All others must bowl scratch. Averages must be certified by secretary of the league.
EVENTS: Singles only, four games over eight lanes, three contestants to a lane. Only one entry will be allowed.
SHIFTS: Two shifts each tournament night and two shifts Sunday afternoons unless additional shifts have to be added. No Saturday afternoon shifts. Afternoon shifts scheduled for 2 and 4 p.m., and evening shifts at 7 and 9 p.m.
CHARGES: Prize fee of $2 must accompany entry blank. Other charges include $1.75 (four games); expense fee, 75 cents: Total: $4.50. Bowling and expense fees may be paid at time of bowling.
Sanctioned by ABC and WIBC
"300" WINS!
Once again this year, your Rambler Dealer, Sam J. Malofsky will award a brand new 1965 Rambler American to the first bowler to roll a perfect "300" game from scratch in the Post-Crescent Bowl-O-Rama.
Special!
An all-expenses paid weekend for two at the luxurious DOME resort in Marinette will be awarded by the Post-Crescent in recognition of a particular feat of bowling skill.
Starting Date: APRIL 20
Closing Date for Entries: Midnight Thursday, May 6

the same pickets can actually prevent sales of goods.

Pickets also may not interfere with the entrance to or exit from a factory or business by any person. Interference of this kind is subject to action by local police and also to injunctive relief in the courts.

Secondary Boycotts

There has been in recent years a trend toward the outlawing of "secondary boycotts." This involves boycotts of the business of third parties—companies, for example, which buy goods from employers who are engaged in disputes with their workers. Interference of this kind with the business of third parties is punishable.

Broadly speaking, the law does not protect general boycotts which can injure innocent persons. The Constitution stipulates that no one shall be deprived of property "without due process of law." A nation-wide boycott instituted against products manufactured in a particular state and sold outside that state would, therefore, certainly come into conflict with the federal laws. Innumerable damage suits probably could be filed against organizations and individuals instigating or participating in such boycotts.

These legal obstacles may be one of the reasons why there has been a tendency in the last few days to soft-pedal the boycott idea President Johnson himself has let it be known that he thinks it would be unwise for the negro organizations to attempt to apply that kind of pressure For, obviously, if businesses in Alabama begin to be hurt and unemployment results. Negroes as well as whites would suffer the loss of jobs or incomes The federal government itself then would have to supply funds for the relief of those who are forced out of their jobs.

Greenville Club Asks Board for Park Restrooms

GREENVILLE—The Greenville Athletic and Civic Club has endorsed the plan for park restrooms and submitted them to Rudy Apreeman, town chairman, for the annual town meeting

The club also asked to have the annual town meeting held in the evening instead of afternoon

Orville Steinbach reported on the two midway rides hired for the Greenville homecoming June 27

A scholarship or savings bond to be given to a boy or girl with a winning essay was discussed by James Wunderlich to promote more civic activity

Orders for shirts carrying the Civic Club name are being taken

Two baseball trophies have been purchased one for the most valuable player and one for the top hitter The club will paint the "Welcome to Greenville sign

Pope Creates New Nonbelievers Section

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has created a new Secretariat for Nonbelievers and appointed as its president Franziskus Cardinal Koenig archbishop of Vienna, the Vatican announced today

The new office will be concerned with all matters regarding nonbelievers — atheists and agnostics — but its specific aims were not disclosed by the Vatican.

Elks Ladies, Daughters at Luncheon

It was time for spring, whether the weather coincided or not, and the Elks Ladies mothers and daughters who gathered for their annual luncheon Saturday noon were delighted with the Easter and flower decor set up for the event.

As a concession to the young ladies, a huge stuffed bunny watched the party from the stage. Table decorations were flowery and gay notices of spring.

Entertainment was provided with a poodle dog fashion show, narrated by Mrs. Harold Brautigan. The poodle, Tami, belongs to Mrs. Harold Hartzheim.

Mrs. Andrew Kangas was general chairman of the party.

They Never Saw Eggs that big before, commented three young party guests. They are Barb Jacklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jacklin; Franki Baumann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Baumann, and Katy Jacklin, Barb's young sister. The girls and their mothers attended a luncheon party Saturday noon. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Three Little Girls contemplated that important April date when they saw the egg-decorated tree at the Elks Club. They are Patty Luben, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Luben; Roberta Kangas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kangas, and Nicole Deprez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deprez. At right, Mrs. Ray Ebben and daughter Kate Erbach pay a call on a stuffed bunny, set up as part of the decorations for the annual event.

California Setting for Ceremony

Mrs. Donald Klika

Donald Klika claimed Miss Gail Minyard as his bride in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Lakewood Village Community Church, Lakewood, Calif. The Rev. Roger Lautzenhiser officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Minyard, Long Beach, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Klika, 1302 W. Brewster St., are the bridegroom's parents.

An aunt of the bride, Mrs. Morris Embler, Anderson, S.C., acted as matron of honor. Assisting as bridesmaid was Miss Becky Fuller, Anderson.

Charles Boller served as best man. Groomsman was William Sheets. Ushering duties were shared by Charles McIntyre and Charles Spencer.

The couple greeted guests at a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Minyard.

After a honeymoon in Palm Springs, Calif., the newlyweds will live in Westminster, Calif.

August Rite Planned by Engaged Pair

Miss Julie Ann Ott

NEW LONDON — An August wedding is planned by Miss Julie Ann Ott and Gary D. Herres. Their engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Ott, 716 N. Water St. Mr. Ott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Herres, 701 N. Water St.

Miss Ott and her fiance attend Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh. The bride-elect is a sophomore, affiliated with Kappa Gamma sorority. Her fiance will graduate in June.

Add Cranberries

Cranberries make a delicious addition to the filling for apple pie, but use more apples than cranberries so the dessert will not be too tart.

Mrs. Wittwer to Head Y's Menettes

Mrs. Roy Wittwer was elected president of the Appleton Y's Menettes at a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Sturtevant.

Serving as vice president is Mrs. Robert Barlament, recording secretary, Mrs. Robert Tucker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Rodney Vaughan, and treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Steinberg.

Tom Klenz presented a program on the new YMCA Camp near Lakewood. Movies and slides were shown of the camp.

Assisting as co-hostesses were Mrs. Donald Herrling, Mrs. Thomas Mann and Mrs. John Peckham.

Mrs. Robert Goell, chairman of the annual spring rummage sale, announced that it was set for 9 a.m. April 23 at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Sturtevant is co-chairman.

Officers will be installed and new members inducted when the Y's Menettes convene at 6:30 p.m. May 4 at the Country Club.

Pair Weds In Double Ring Rite

KAUKAUNA — Bethany Lutheran Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Shirley Ann Stygar and John J. Van Den Heuvel at 3 p.m. Thursday. The Rev. Ernest Bartels officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irvin Rader, 407 W. Sixth St., and John Stygar, Black Creek. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Van Den Heuvel, 1601 Crooks Ave., are the bridegroom's parents.

Honor attendants for the couple were Miss Sharon Stygar, the bride's sister, and Richard Swanningson. James Burr served as usher.

Guests attended a reception at the Hub Bar.

Mrs. Van Den Heuvel has been employed at Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton.

The couple will honeymoon enroute to Kansas, where Mr. Van Den Heuvel is stationed with the Army at Ft. Riley. They will live in Junction City.

Home Economists Set Meeting Theme

The Wisconsin Home Economics Association will 'Focus on the Disadvantaged Family' at the Spring Convention scheduled April 23 and 24 in Manitowoc.

The WHEA will hold a council meeting at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the Gallery Room of the Manitowoc Motor Hotel. General registration is set for 6 p.m. Friday with a kick-off buffet dinner in the Medallion Room planned for 7 p.m. Home Economic students of Holy Family College, directed by Sister M. Virginette, will present 'Fashion Flairs of the Century' in the Medallion room at 8 p.m. A reception and social hour will be held after the fashion show.

The sessions Saturday will be held in the Woodrow Wilson Junior High School. A late registration has been planned for 9 a.m. when the WHEA will convene for a business meeting and the College Club will also conduct its business affairs at that time. Mrs. Julius Meyer, president of the Manitowoc County Home Economics Association, will give the welcome.

Carl J. Olien, director of Economic Opportunity, Department of Resource Development, State of Wisconsin, will speak on 'New Opportunities for Youth.'

Other talks to be heard in the morning will be 'Report on AHEA Low Income Workshop', Professor Julia I. Dalrymple; 'Home Economics Does Count', Mrs. Barbara Rice; 'Home Economists and the Migrant Worker', Miss Karen Roth, and 'Home Economics Programs with Wage Earning Emphasis', Mrs. Mildred Johnson.

After a luncheon at Hoffman's at Fox Hills, Mishicot, the group will hear the Rev. T. Parry Jones, Sheboygan, pastor of the First Methodist Church, speak of 'The Great Society.'

A tour and reception at Holy Family College will complete the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Janke

Couple Marks 50th Wedding Anniversary

BRILLION — Mr. and Mrs. Emil Janke, 217 Jackson St., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday. They will entertain friends and relatives at their home. The observance will include an afternoon reception and supper.

The couple was married April 5, 1915, at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Mr. Janke was engaged in farming at Maple Grove for 30 years. Before his retirement ten years ago, he was employed at the Brillion Canning Factory for ten years.

The couple's children are Eldore, Earl, Mrs. Joseph Dvorachek and Mrs. Vernon Schroeder, Potter. They also have seven grandchildren.
